

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting 卓越人權報道獎

Honoring the work that demonstrates high standards of reporting on a human rights topic of significance.

Presenter:
Jorge Noguchi
The New York Times

Initium Media 端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

最新 地域 評論 系列 欄目 播客 活動 周邊

威權政治 大陸 宗教

不隱藏的禮拜：錫安教會大抓捕後，中國地下基督徒走向何方？

「無論怎樣的狂風暴雨，聚會繼續，傳講神的話語繼續。」

2018年6月4日，中國河南省，一間家庭教會被當局取締，裡面掛著《最後的晚餐》畫作和引用中國憲法有關宗教自由條款的海報。攝：Ng Han Guan/AP/端傳媒

Initium Media 端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

最新 地域 評論 系列 欄目 播客 活動 周邊

勞工 女性與女權 法律

保留工作，抑或乳房——在港患癌或重症外傭的生命抉擇

患癌後或因意外受傷而遭解僱的移工，面對身體和勞權兩個戰場；她們需要的是公道和尊重。

快將60歲的阿Kae在港工作逾20多年，去年10月返泰國探親時遇上車禍，全身數處骨折，在泰國送院治療。阿紀每天都要背負一塊鐵架，牢固背骨位置。攝：林振東/端傳媒

The Reporter 報導者

報導者

揭開狼師長期性侵學童黑幕：權勢光環、冷漠體制和地方政治共犯結構

近期內再發生性騷擾及長問題引起大眾前所未有的關注，當代網路的普及讓那些長久以來的隱性性騷擾事件，漸漸浮上檯面。30年來，李孟威等狼師的性騷擾事件，早已發生在社會各地無處不有的中小校園，且難以脫離其黑幕、體制共犯：幾乎是多數案件的共同點，在個別教師的權力結構之下，無助弱勢受害者的兒童長期被犧牲。

2023年6月，南投竹山地福國小校長劉國成長期騷擾性騷擾學生一案被揭開，罕見地引起民間團體或公部門主動介入，而這些事人在輿論的噴下，獲罪無辜結局，且被解職。導致許多學生受害，才促使地方府將轉瞬多年後加派人員調查，地方檢察處雖無法偵查定罪，竟從外人得知地福國小的黑幕，檢察力量，象徵時代的轉變。我們需要從根本之處，重新審視犯罪背後整個結構的加害結構，以及受害者的未來之志。

——曾有人說：人說，只有我們能替他們說話，當他們沉默，我們是替他們說話的。只有我們能替他們說話，當他們沉默，我們是替他們說話的。只有我們能替他們說話，當他們沉默，我們是替他們說話的。

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Chinese) 卓越人權報道獎

Honorable Mention

Initium Media
端傳媒

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

香港勞工的危脆生命

Initium Media 端傳媒

最新 地域 評論 系列 欄目 播客 活動 周邊

威權政治 大陸 宗教

不隱藏的禮拜：錫安教會大抓捕後，中國地下基督徒走向何方？

「無論怎樣的狂風暴雨，聚會繼續，傳講神的話語繼續。」

2018年6月4日，中國河南省，一間家庭教會被當局取締，裡面掛著《最後的晚餐》畫作和引用中國憲法有關宗教自由條款的海報。攝：Ng Han Guan/AP/端傳媒

Initium Media 端傳媒

最新 地域 評論 系列 欄目 播客 活動 周邊

勞工 女性與女權 法律

保留工作，抑或乳房——在港患癌或重症外傭的生命抉擇

患癌後或因意外受傷而遭解僱的移工，面對身體和勞權兩個戰場；她們需要的是公道和尊重。

快將60歲的何Kae在港工作逾20多年，去年10月返泰國探親時遇上車禍，全身數處骨折，在泰國送院治療。何紀每天都需要背負一塊圍架，牢固背骨位置。攝：林振東/端傳媒

The Reporter 報導者

最新 國際新聞 人權法治 政治社會 醫療健康 經濟金融 文化生活 教育科學

成年後的被寄人自營繁殖，許多數已遭遺棄

揭開狼師長期性侵學童黑幕：權勢光環、冷漠體制和地方政治共犯結構

2023年6月，南投竹山地福國小校長劉國成長期性侵性侵犯學生一案被揭開，罕見地引起民間團體及公部門主動介入，而這些事人在鎮長的護下，獲悉無辜免職，且無罪釋放。導致許多受害者在「不被地方當局轉瞬多年後加罪人揭發調查，地方檢察官難求司法公正。資深內人與地產商進者，甚至權利、權力力量，象徵時代的罪惡。我們需要從根本之處，重新審視犯罪背後整個結構的加害結構，以及受害者的未來之志。

「——曾有那個人說，因為我們那時候很窮，當時的氣氛，我們是覺得老師是一個很神聖的位置，老師針對我們什麼，我們都沒有辦法，因為我們家裡很窮，我們不敢不聽話，我們被打，但我們不敢反抗。」

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Chinese) 卓越人權報道獎

The Reporter 報導者

成年後的被害人自覺驚醒，卻多數已過境新國

揭開狼師長期性侵學童黑幕：權勢光環、冷漠體制和地方政治共犯結構

北京亦未報告的山西小學，2016年曾發生過類似的小學教師性侵案，在2021年的中國網絡風波中曾出現，發覺其隱性文
化地位與報導者，曾獲第44屆大獎。 (攝影/林亦記)

長期有與兒童性關係問題引起大眾所關注的關注，當代網
絡社會對兒童性關係的報導往往被視為「新聞上」
的「3、50年來，對未成年兒童的性侵犯問題，早已發生在全
各地，但這些安全事件往往被視為「個案」或「受害者自
覺」，而非多數事件的真面目。在加緊加強地方結構
下，加緊兒童保護的兒童長期被犧牲。

2023年6月，由投訴山陰縣國小校長劉育成長期性侵犯學
生一案被揭露，罕見地由公民團體或公部門主動介入，而是實
事在教師保護下，隨後經過舉報、自覺覺醒，導致多年後
受害者，才使地方政府時多後置個人輿論調查，地方團體
與司法訴訟，受害者人從地再站出來，主要權利、展現力
量，象徵時代的轉變。我們更期待有根本之慮，推動教育紀
律與體制變革的變革結構，以及受害者的未來之志。

「……我作為國家人說，因為我們國家管理嚴格，宣傳的輿論，我們
是覺得有一種精神性的力量，它讓我們知道什麼，國家有去有
來，因為我們國家管理嚴格，我們不會被動，我會覺得，我
們覺得我們是……」

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Chinese)

The Reporter 報導者

不向時間低頭—童年性侵倖存者揭開黑幕，挑戰追訴期高牆的漫漫長路

Himal Southasian

A Bangladeshi Hindu migrant woman in Jharkhali, in the Sundarban region of West Bengal, overlooks her agricultural fields. Pushed out of their home country due to national disaster and poverty, Bangladeshi migrants face an uncertain future in India, given anti-immigrant rhetoric amplified by the BJP government and Hindu right-wing groups. Kanika Gupta

Politics

Climate refugees from Bangladesh face a political storm in India

Undocumented Bangladeshi climate migrants in India lack legal protections and face rising anti-immigrant rhetoric and crackdowns, all amplified by the ruling BJP government and Hindu nationalists

Frontier Myanmar

'Nothing you can do': Spectre of starvation haunts Rakhine

Conflict and a transportation blockade by the junta have led to widespread hunger in Rakhine State, leading residents to take desperate measures, from selling their own blood to killing themselves.

By FRONTIER

A husband and his wife poisoned their three children and then hanged themselves in the Rakhine State capital of Sittoung in late June. They left no explanation, but their neighbours have little doubt it was due to desperate poverty and hunger.

Most of the Rakhine people in Mungun work, on the westernmost outskirts of Sittoung, are labourers, fishers and casual wage earners. The husband who hanged himself, Ko Mungun, was one of those labourers. He had been struggling for months with little if any work and no money for food for his family, neighbours said.

"They hadn't eaten a proper meal in a long time. On some days, they had to get by just drinking water from making rice," Mungun's neighbour Ko Win Mungun said.

Ko Mungun was used a pseudonym to protect his identity, she told of a Mungun woman who died by suicide in May, the month before the death of Mungun and his family, also because she was destitute and starving.

Another neighbour, Ko Lin Lin, said Mungun and his family just "couldn't bear it any more".

Frontier Myanmar

'Election under fear': Junta persecutes critics of its poll

Myanmar's regime is shutting down those who oppose its upcoming election by using a law criminalising any criticism of the poll, detaining and handing long jail sentences to a wide array of people, from film stars to ordinary citizens.

By FRONTIER

On October 27, Myanmar reporter Ko Yan Yan Chan wrote a Facebook post from his exile in the United States, denouncing the process overseen by his home country's military regime and asking its people to pressure the junta's upcoming election.

Two days later, the regime arrested film director Ko Hing Chan in his house in Yangon for "blatant" anti-state propaganda. Ko Hing Chan's post, "Scrutinise the election's 'liberal' had circulated on pro-junta Telegram groups, along with calls for his arrest.

"When he realised the danger, he deleted his Facebook post, but it was too late," a relative of Aung Chan Chan told Frontier on condition of anonymity. "The next day, the military arrested him at his house in 'dangerous' Bahay Township."

The chain of events leading to Aung Chan Chan's arrest started on October 25, when a short film generated the election was screened on junta-controlled television channels. Produced by the regime, the film showed various artists - who in recent years had won Myanmar Motion Picture Academy Awards, popularly known as Myanmar Oscars - supporting the poll.

Honorable Mention

Frontier Myanmar

'Election under fear': Junta persecutes critics of its poll

Myanmar's regime is limiting down those who oppose its upcoming elections by using a law criminalizing any criticism of the poll, detaining and handing long jail sentences to a wide array of people, from film stars to ordinary citizens.

By FRONTIER

On October 27, Myanmar rapper Ko Yan Yan Chan wrote a Facebook post from his exile in the United States, criticizing the government's military regime on actions and set to its policies the junta's upcoming election.

Two days later, the regime arrested film director Ko Aung Chan Lo at his house in Yangon for "blatant" criticism of the regime. "Members of the director's 'like' had circulated on pro-junta Telegram groups, along with calls for his arrest."

"When he realized the danger, he deleted his Facebook reactions, but it was too late," a relative of Aung Chan Lo told Frontier on condition of anonymity. "The next day, the military arrested him at his home in Yangon's Bahan Township."

The chain of events leading to Aung Chan Lo's arrest started on October 25, when a short film promoting the election was screened on just a general television channel. Produced by the regime, the film showed famous actors—who in years gone by had won Myanmar Motion Picture Academy Awards, popularly known as Myanmar Oscars—supporting the poll.

The film triggered calls to boycott the participating actors. Presumably, the junta responded by cracking down on those who criticized the film. On October 25, junta-controlled tanks surrounded that Aung Chan

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Regional)

Frontier Myanmar

Myanmar's election under fear: the ending is already known

Himal Southasian

A Bangladeshi Hindu migrant woman in Jharkhali, in the Sundarban region of West Bengal, overlooks her agricultural fields. Pushed out of their home country due to national disaster and poverty, Bangladeshi migrants face an uncertain future in India, given anti-immigrant rhetoric amplified by the BJP government and Hindu right-wing groups. Kanika Gupta

Politics

Climate refugees from Bangladesh face a political storm in India

Undocumented Bangladeshi climate migrants in India lack legal protections and face rising anti-immigrant rhetoric and crackdowns, all amplified by the ruling BJP government and Hindu nationalists

Frontier Myanmar

'Nothing you can do': Spectre of starvation haunts Rakhine

Conflict and a transportation blockade by the junta have led to widespread hunger in Rakhine State, leading residents to take desperate measures, from selling their own blood to killing themselves.

By FRONTIER

A husband and his wife poisoned their three children and then hanged themselves in the Rakhine State capital of Sittoung in late June. They left no explanation, but their neighbours have little doubt it was due to desperate poverty and hunger.

Most of the Rakhine people in Mungun work, on the westernmost outskirts of Sittoung, are labourers, fishers and casual wage earners. The husband who hanged himself, Ko Mungun, was one of those labourers. He had been struggling for months with little if any work and no money for food for his family, neighbours said.

"They hadn't eaten a proper meal in a long time. On some days, they had to get by just drinking water from making rice," Mungun's neighbour Ko Win Mungun said.

Ko Mungun was used a pseudonym to protect his identity, she told of a Mungun woman who died by suicide in May, the month before the death of Mungun and his family, also because she was destitute and starving.

Another neighbour, Ko Lin Lin, said Mungun and his family just "couldn't bear it any more".

Frontier Myanmar

'Election under fear': Junta persecutes critics of its poll

Myanmar's regime is shutting down those who oppose its upcoming election by using a law criminalising any criticism of the poll, detaining and handing long jail sentences to a wide array of people, from film stars to ordinary citizens.

By FRONTIER

On October 27, Myanmar reporter Ko Yan Yan Chan wrote a Facebook post from his exile in the United States, denouncing the process overseen by his home country's military regime and asking its people to pressure the junta's upcoming election.

Two days later, the regime arrested film director Ko Hing Chan in his home in Yangon for "blatant" anti-state propaganda. Ko Hing Chan's post, "Scrutinise the election's 'liberal' had circulated on pro-junta Telegram groups, along with calls for his arrest.

"When he realised the danger, he deleted his Facebook post, but it was too late," a relative of Aung Chan Chan told Frontier on condition of anonymity. "The next day, the military arrested him at his house in Yangon's Balaikay Township."

The chain of events leading to Aung Chan Chan's arrest started on October 25, when a short film denouncing the election was screened on junta-controlled television channels. Produced by the regime, the film showed footage of a man who is seen giving his name Myanmar Motion Picture Academy Awards, popularly known as Myanmar Oscars, supporting the poll.

Award for Excellence

Frontier Myanmar

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Regional)

Frontier Myanmar

Rakhine in crisis: Begging to survive amid starvation

Financial Times

Tuna is one of the most consumed fish in the world, but most people know little about how it reaches their plates.

Large quantities are caught by fishermen experiencing human rights abuses, with many spending years at sea for little reward.

International Consortium of Investigative Journalists (US), Stuff (New Zealand)

Inside China's machinery of repression — and how it crushes dissent around the world

Interviews with more than 100 victims in 23 countries, along with internal government documents, reveal the sinister tactics China uses to silence critics beyond its borders.

Amid fluttering Chinese and French flags, President Xi Jinping and his wife Peng Liyuan, stopped off their state plane under a rainy Paris sky last May. Arriving for the first leg of a five-day tour to strengthen European ties, China's first couple was warmly greeted by throngs of Chinese bystanders waving their country's red flag and groups performing traditional dragon and lion dances to the sound of drums and gongs.

Across town, Bing Shengta's phone pinged. The leader of Le Front de la Liberté en Chine, a small group of Chinese activists and artists, the 39-year-old Jiang was preparing to address hundreds of demonstrators at the Place de la République, a celebrated venue for freedom of expression, protest and dissent.

The Beijing-born artist and activist had become accustomed to speaking to large crowds, often joining Uyghurs, Tibetans and Hong Kongers overseas to denounce Xi's oppression of human rights and civil liberties, in China and abroad. But this day, he faced an agonizing dilemma.

Jiang's mother was calling — from 5,300 miles away in Beijing. Jiang thought he knew why: Chinese police were forcing her to place the calls, he told the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists in a recent interview.

He didn't pick up.

"She was definitely going to convey the [authoritarian] message that I shouldn't be involved in any public activities during Xi Jinping's visit," Jiang told ICIJ, his face hidden behind dark sunglasses and framed by long hair and a scruffy goatee. "And then my thought was, 'I think it's something that I have to do.'"

Jiang is one of hundreds of Chinese people living overseas that Chinese authorities have targeted directly through lack of and surveillance — and indirectly through interrogation of relatives, friends and even former teachers.

The Wall Street Journal

The Daring Caper of a Faithful Tibetan Who Outfoxed China

He escaped from police and crossed thousands of miles of wilderness on a decades-long odyssey toward freedom.

Chinese Communist Party officials stepped up a recruitment drive in the Tibetan village of Larima in the fall of 2012, tempting residents with offers of new homes and free pantry staples.

There was a catch. To collect, villagers had to renounce Buddhism, give up their prayer beads, and swear to oppose the Dalai Lama. For Tibetans, the religious leader is the embodiment of their faith. To Beijing, he is a dangerous separatist, an enemy of the state.

Some took the handouts, feigning party loyalty—but not Phurba Tsering. He rejected the offer, settling instead for more modest gifts that went to all families. The gifts came with a poster depicting Mao Zedong and other past Chinese leaders. Families were told to hang the posters in their home as a sign of gratitude.

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Global)

Honorable Mention

The Wall Street Journal

The Daring Caper of a Faithful Tibetan Who Outfoxed China
He escaped from police and crossed thousands of miles of wilderness on a harrowing odyssey toward freedom.

Chinese Communist Party officials stepped up a recruitment drive in the Tibetan village of Larima in the fall of 2012, tempting residents with offers of new homes and free pantry staples.

There was a catch. To collect, villagers had to renounce Buddhism, give up their prayer beads, and swear to oppose the Dalai Lama. For Tibetans, the religious leader is the embodiment of their faith. To Beijing, he is a dangerous separatist, an enemy of the state.

Some took the handouts, feigning party loyalty—but not Phurba Tsering. He rejected the offer, settling instead for more modest gifts that went to all families. The gifts came with a poster depicting Mao Zedong and other past Chinese leaders. Families were told to hang the posters in their home as a sign of gratitude.

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Global)

The Wall Street Journal

Tibet's Forgotten Resistance

Financial Times

Tuna is one of the most consumed fish in the world, but most people know little about how it reaches their plates.

Large quantities are caught by fishermen experiencing human rights abuses, with many spending years at sea for little reward.

International Consortium of Investigative Journalists (US), Stuff (New Zealand)

Inside China's machinery of repression — and how it crushes dissent around the world

Interviews with more than 100 victims in 23 countries, along with internal government documents, reveal the sinister tactics China uses to silence critics beyond its borders.

Amid fluttering Chinese and French flags, President Xi Jinping and his wife, Peng Liyuan, stepped off their state plane under a rainy Paris sky last May. Arriving for the first leg of a five-day tour to strengthen European ties, China's first couple was warmly greeted by throngs of Chinese bystanders waving their country's red flag and groups performing traditional dragon and lion dances to the sound of drums and gongs.

Across town, Jiang Shengtao's phone pinged. The leader of Le Front de la Liberté en Chine, a small group of Chinese activists and artists, the 39-year-old Jiang was preparing to address hundreds of demonstrators at the Place de la République, a celebrated venue for freedom of expression, protest and dissent.

The Beijing-born artist and activist had become accustomed to speaking to large crowds, often joining Uyghurs, Tibetans and Hong Kongers overseas to denounce Xi's oppression of human rights and civil liberties, in China and abroad. But this day, he faced an agonizing dilemma.

Jiang's mother was calling — from 5,300 miles away in Beijing. Jiang thought he knew why: Chinese police were forcing her to place the calls, he told the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists in a recent interview.

He didn't pick up.

"She was definitely going to convey the [authoritarian] message that I shouldn't be involved in any public activities during Xi Jinping's visit," Jiang told ICIJ, his face hidden behind dark sunglasses and framed by long hair and a scruffy goatee. "And then my thought was, 'I think it's something that I have to do.'"

Jiang is one of hundreds of Chinese people living overseas that Chinese authorities have targeted directly through lack of and surveillance — and indirectly through interrogation of relatives, friends and even former teachers.

The Wall Street Journal

The Daring Caper of a Faithful Tibetan Who Outfoxed China

He escaped from police and crossed thousands of miles of wilderness on a decades-long odyssey toward freedom.

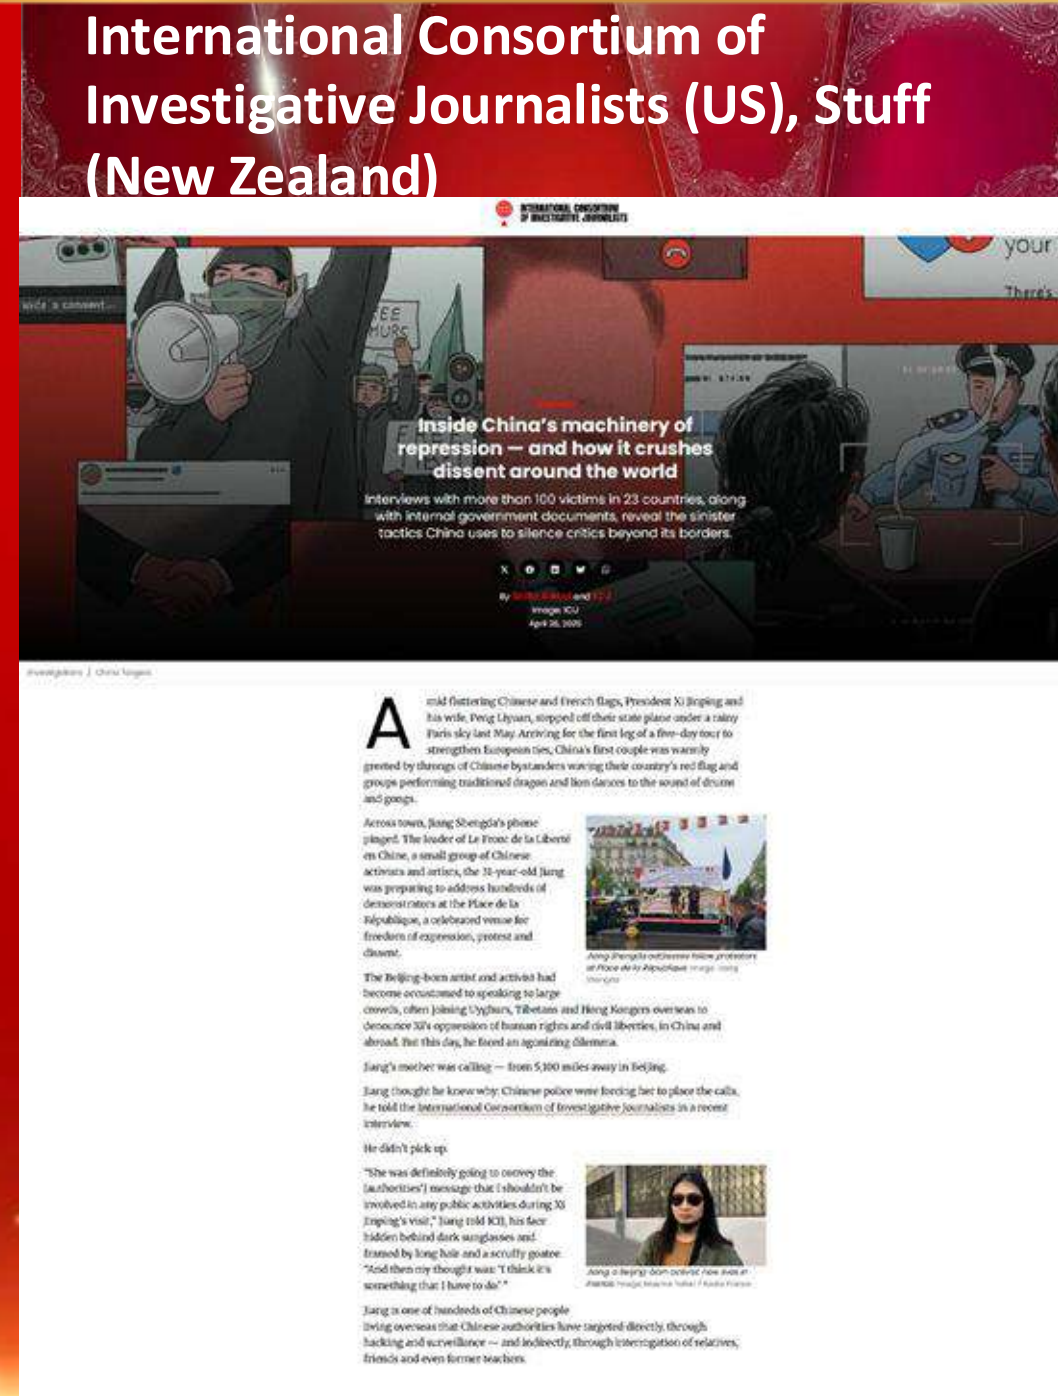

Chinese Communist Party officials stepped up a recruitment drive in the Tibetan village of Larima in the fall of 2012, tempting residents with offers of new homes and free pantry staples.

There was a catch. To collect, villagers had to renounce Buddhism, give up their prayer beads, and swear to oppose the Dalai Lama. For Tibetans, the religious leader is the embodiment of their faith. To Beijing, he is a dangerous separatist, an enemy of the state.

Some took the handouts, feigning party loyalty—but not Phurba Tsering. He rejected the offer, settling instead for more modest gifts that went to all families. The gifts came with a poster depicting Mao Zedong and other past Chinese leaders. Families were told to hang the posters in their home as a sign of gratitude.

Award for Excellence

International Consortium of Investigative Journalists (US), Stuff
(New Zealand)

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Human Rights Reporting (Global)

International Consortium of Investigative Journalists (US), Stuff (New Zealand)

China Targets

Excellence in Feature Writing

卓越專題特寫獎

Honoring the work that demonstrates high standards of reporting and writing to describe an idea, event, trend or personality, or explain a topic of significance.

Presenter:
Karl Malakunas
Agence France-Presse

Initium Media 端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

最新 地域 評論 系列 欄目 播客 活動 周邊

全球代孕產業 國際 女性與文學

【春節免費讀】長篇現場：跨國代孕的代價，在她們身上

是「明買明賣」，還是人口販賣？當一切崩解，第一個被拋棄的，就是為中國人生子女的「天使媽媽」們。

圖：Tseng.Y

Mirror Media 鏡傳媒

鏡 MIRROR MEDIA 投資理財學堂

焦點 娛樂 政治 財經理財 社會 專欄 生活 人物 汽車雜誌 環法達

快訊 | 徐蔭老師環球唱唱應援曲 一疊音聽見嗶嘰「倒彈」

台北書刊 • 訪評輯區 • 房訊雲錦標 • 房市熱話頭 • 魅力基隆 • 2026話誌 • 更多 Podcasts

2025.09.28 05:28 臺北時間

深度報導／熱血是怎麼冷卻的 急診體制病危下的醫師出走潮

人物

文 | 李致晉 蘇竹壽
攝影 | 板大熊

贊助本文 加入訂閱會員

寄稿部 編輯 護理師 急診室 離職 深拉報導

急診的門，出走的醫師仍有急診魂，留下的還在等體制恢復健康。右為出走回鄉執業的陳昇任，左為仍堅守急診的洪子典。(圖為合成照)

The Reporter 報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER

新聞 國際報導 人權法治 政治社會 報導專題 報導人語 報導現場 文化生活 報導特輯

【獨家專訪】

回到9歲那年的河灘——一位童年性侵倖存者，29年後獨立蒐證追尋真相

黎光 (化名) 在5歲時遭逢童年性侵，多年後在加國展開追尋真相之旅，與當地警方合作蒐證，與加拿大警方合作，以完成她的追尋真相之旅。(攝影/吳忠澤)

今年(2025)年初偶然的契機，黎光(化名)想起9歲那年遭逢性侵、重傷昏迷重慶河灘的痛苦記憶。她費盡心力調閱出法院釋稱已被調換的判決書，並上法條網地自行蒐證，尋找被遺落的犯罪證據，重新向地檢署為近30年前的案件提告。

驚人的毅力與執著背後，是倖存者的罪疚感。從其獨立挖掘、重新出土的資料中，赫然發現她的案件後，同一位加害人林國政竟又將無辜的未成年少女姦殺身亡。《報導者》跟隨她的調查足跡與行動，一同尋找真相。

Excellence in Feature Writing (Chinese) 卓越專題特寫獎

Honorable Mention

Mirror Media
鏡傳媒

2025.09.28 09:28 臺北報導

深度報導／熱血是怎麼冷卻的 急診體制病危下的醫師出走潮

文 | 李玟蓉 顏竹書
攝影 | 杭大勝

贊助本文 加入訂閱會員

急診的門，出走的醫師仍有急診魂，留下的還在等體制恢復健康。右為出走回鄉執業的陳昇任，左為仍堅守急診的洪子典。(圖為合成照)

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Feature Writing (Chinese)

Mirror Media 鏡傳媒

熱血是怎麼冷卻的-急診體制病危下的醫師出走潮

Initium Media 端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

最新 地域 評論 系列 欄目 播客 活動 周邊

全球代孕產業 國際 女性與文學

【春節免費讀】長篇現場：跨國代孕的代價，在她們身上

是「明買明賣」，還是人口販賣？當一切崩解，第一個被拋棄的，就是為中國人生子女的「天使媽媽」們。

圖：Tseng.Y

Mirror Media 鏡傳媒

鏡 MIRROR MEDIA 投資理財學堂

焦點 娛樂 政治 財經理財 社會 專欄 生活 人物 汽車雜誌 環法達

快訊 | 徐蔭老師環球唱唱應援曲 一疊音聽見嗶嘰「倒彈」

台北書刊 • 訪評輯區 • 房訊雲錦標 • 房市熱話頭 • 魅力基隆 • 2026話誌 • 更多 Podcasts

2025.09.28 05:28 臺北時間

深度報導／熱血是怎麼冷卻的 急診體制病危下的醫師出走潮

人物

文 | 李致菁 蘇竹書
攝影 | 板大熊

贊助本文 加入訂閱會員

寄稿區 編輯 護理師 急診室 離職 深拉報導

急診的門，出走的醫師仍有急診魂，留下的還在等體制恢復健康。右為出走回鄉執業的陳昇任，左為仍堅守急診的洪子典。(圖為合成照)

The Reporter 報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER

新聞 國際報導 人權法治 政治社會 報導專題 報導人語 報導現場 文化生活 報導特輯

【獨家揭開】

回到9歲那年的河灘——一位童年性侵倖存者，29年後獨立蒐證追尋真相

黎光 (化名) 在5歲時遭逢童年性侵，多年後在加國展開調查，與當地人內代孕產業揭開自己的力量與勇氣，以紀錄的方式追尋真相，與社會共同面對。(攝影/吳忠澤)

今年 (2025) 年初偶然的契機，黎光 (化名) 想起9歲那年遭逢性侵、重傷昏迷重慶河灘的痛苦記憶。她費盡心力調閱出法院釋稱已被調換的判決書，並上法條網地自行蒐證，尋找被遺落的犯罪證據，重新向地檢署為近30年前的案件提告。

驚人的毅力與執著背後，是倖存者的罪疚感。從其獨立挖掘、重新出土的資料中，赫然發現她的案件後，同一位加害人林國政竟又將無辜的未成年少女姦殺身亡。《報導者》跟隨她的調查足跡與行動，一同尋找真相。

Excellence in Feature Writing (Chinese) 卓越專題特寫獎

Award for Excellence

Initium Media
端傳媒

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Feature Writing (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

長篇現場：跨國代孕的代價，在她們身上

Australian Broadcasting Corporation

How a Thai worker was taken hostage in a foreign war

Bannawat Saethao was one of dozens of Thai workers kidnapped by Myanmar.

For the first time, he shares the story of his terrifying capture — and the emotional moment he first met his baby daughter.

Influenced by superior Myanmar troops in Myanmar village, Thailand and other nearby.

Andrew Corbett
Tue 1 Nov 2022

Bannawat Saethao points to the fine white line on the palm of his right hand.

The scar is so faint it's barely visible, but it's a constant reminder of the recent horrors he's endured.

The 28-year-old was one of 31 Thai nationals taken hostage by Myanmar on October 1.

After 10 long months of captivity, he was finally released alongside four of his companions and arrived home in early February.

Hong Kong Free Press

'Place of heartbreak': One month since fatal fire, Wang Fuk Court residents reel from trauma, pondering their future

Greenmarket after the deadly fire broke out at Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po on November 28, survivors are still reeling from the psychological trauma of losing their homes and loved ones while struggling to adapt to life amidst displacement and bereavement.

By Mane Toa & Kelly Ho

My tip has been being with her cousin in and her district since a fire ravaged Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po, harming her and her husband for almost 13 years, a month ago.

HKFP
A man walks past Wang Fuk Court on December 1, 2022. Photo by LAURENCE.

Become an HKFP member as a monthly/yearly donor
Unlock 3 benefits inc. ad-free browsing, a gift, and exclusive content.

Whenever the 77-year-old returned to Tai Po Market for grocery shopping, seeing the near-shattered Wang Fuk Court would at times make her break down in tears.

The Japan Times

The making of Shinzo Abe's assassin

How barely trauma and resentment drove Teruya Yamagami to a fatal decision

BY TOMPOD STANE
8:57 AM JST

In late November, as Nara Park was teeming with tourists enjoying the autumn foliage and famed deer hunt, the courthouse across the street was engaged in a different kind of buzz.

The trial of Teruya Yamagami, charged with fatal shooting former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe in July 2022, had entered a crucial stage. For the first time since the trial began under tight security on Oct. 20, the defendant opened up about his troubled upbringing, his motivations for the attack and his thoughts on its aftermath.

He has pleaded guilty to murder as well as to lesser charges, including the possession of a gunpowder and property damage, testifying that a longtime grudge he held against the Unification Church led him to assassinate Abe, whom he regarded as an ally of the religious group.

In broad daylight on July 8, 2022, Yamagami approached Abe, who was stumpng for a Liberal Democratic Party candidate, and shot the former prime minister with an improvised shotgun at point-blank range. The pellets struck Abe in his right arm and neck, reaching the arteries under his collarbones. Abe died from blood loss.

Honorable Mention

Hong Kong Free Press

'Place of heartbreak': One month since fatal fire, Wang Fuk Court residents reel from trauma, pondering their future

One month after the deadly fire broke out at Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po on November 25, some residents still reeling from the psychological trauma of losing their homes and loved ones while struggling to adapt to life amidst displacement and bereavement.

HONG KONG FREE PRESS
WANG FUK COURT, TAI PO

By Hena Teo & Kelly Ho

Ms. Yip has been living with her cousin in another district since a disaster relief fund was set up for Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po, home to her and her husband for almost 15 years, a month ago.

A man walks past Wang Fuk Court on December 1, 2025. Photo: Apple Daily News

HKFP
Become an HKFP member as a monthly/yearly donor
Unblock 8 benefits for you, all free browsing, a gift, and exclusive content.

Whenever the 77-year-old returned to Tai Po Market for grocery shopping, seeing the now-charred Wang Fuk Court would at times make her break down in tears.

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Feature Writing (Regional)

Hong Kong Free Press

'Place of heartbreak': One month since fatal fire, Wang Fuk Court residents reel from trauma, pondering their future

Australian Broadcasting Corporation

How a Thai worker was taken hostage in a foreign war

Bannawat Saethao was one of dozens of Thai workers kidnapped by Myanmar.

For the first time, he shares the story of his terrifying capture — and the emotional moment he first met his baby daughter.

Influenced by superior Myanmar troops in Myanmar village, Thailand and other nearby.

Annexed

See 1 Nov 2023

Bannawat Saethao points to the fine white line on the palm of his right hand.

The scar is so faint it's barely visible, but it's a constant reminder of the recent horrors he's endured.

The 28-year-old was one of 31 Thai nationals taken hostage by Myanmar on October 1.

After 10 long months of captivity, he was finally released alongside four of his compatriots and arrived home in early February.

Hong Kong Free Press

'Place of heartbreak': One month since fatal fire, Wang Fuk Court residents reel from trauma, pondering their future

Greenmarket after the deadly fire broke out at Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po in November. 28 survivors are still reeling from the psychological trauma of losing their homes and loved ones while struggling to adapt to life amidst displacement and bereavement.

By Mona To & Kelly Ho

My tip has been being with her cousin in and her district since a fire ravaged Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po, harming her and her husband for almost 13 years, a month ago.

Whenever the 77-year-old returned to Tai Po Market for grocery shopping, seeing the near-shattered Wang Fuk Court would at times make her break down in tears.

Become an HKFP member as a monthly/yearly donor
Unlock 3 benefits inc. ad-free browsing, a gift, and exclusive content.

The Japan Times

The making of Shinzo Abe's assassin

How bereavement trauma and resentment drove Teruya Yamagami to a fatal decision

By THOMAS STANE
8/17/2022 12:25

In late November, as Nara Park was teeming with tourists enjoying the autumn foliage and famed deer hunt, the courthouse across the street was engaged in a different kind of buzz.

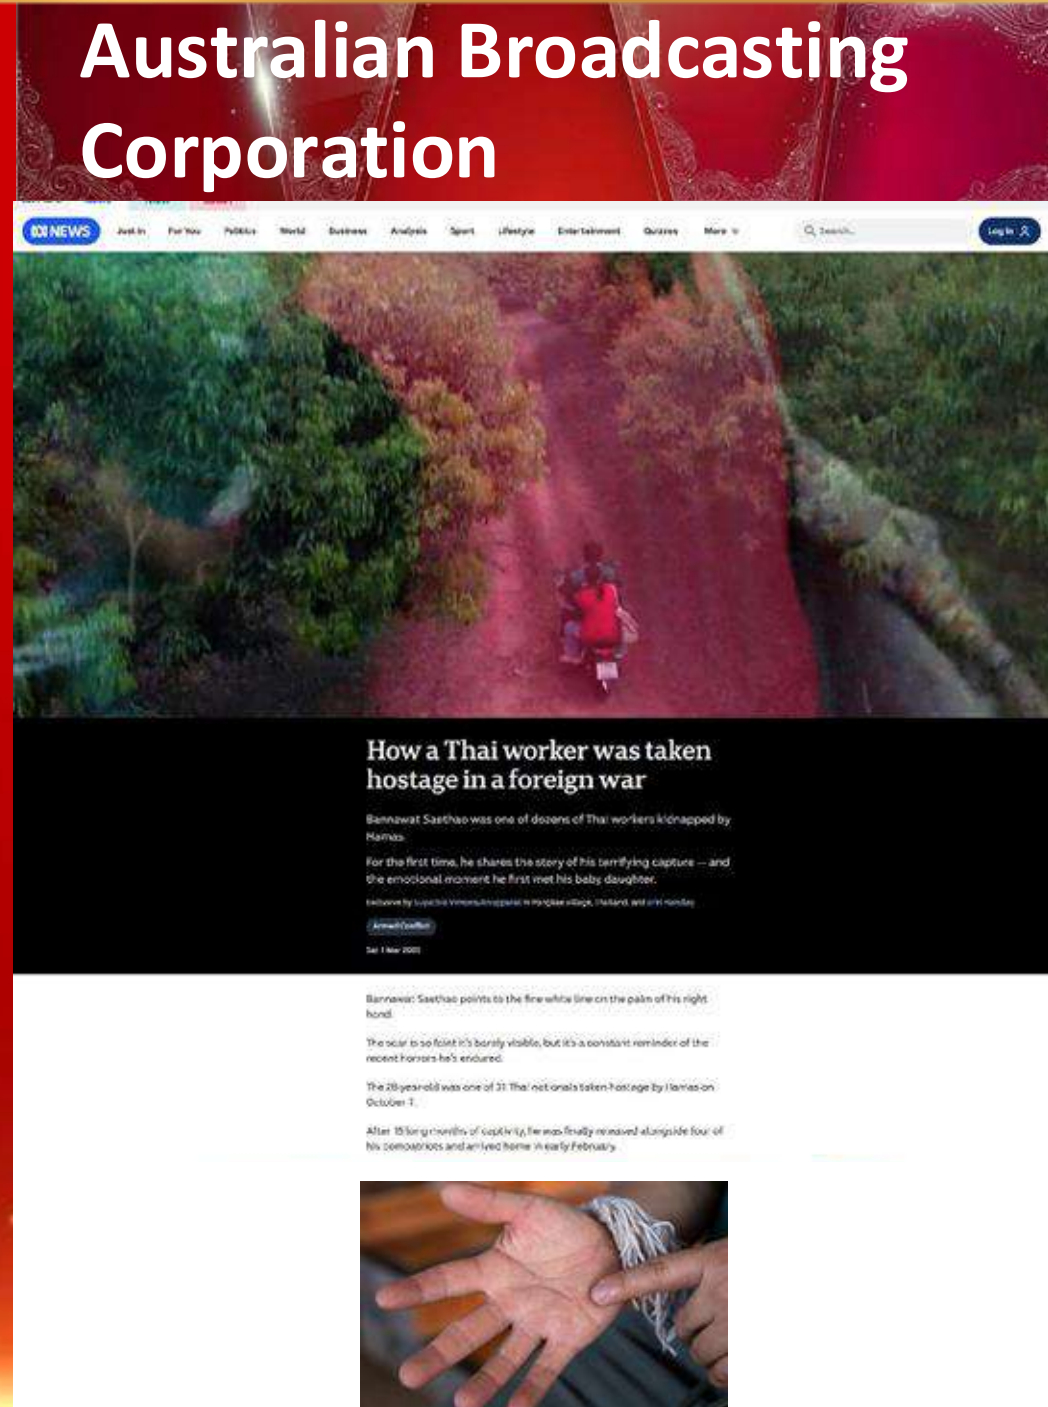

The trial of Teruya Yamagami, charged with fatal shooting former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe in July 2022, had entered a crucial stage. For the first time since the trial began under tight security on Oct. 20, the defendant opened up about his troubled upbringing, his motivations for the attack and his thoughts on its aftermath.

He has pleaded guilty to murder as well as to lesser charges, including the possession of a handgun and property damage, testifying that a longtime grudge he held against the Unification Church led him to assassinate Abe, whom he regarded as an ally of the religious group.

In broad daylight on July 8, 2022, Yamagami approached Abe, who was campaigning for a Liberal Democratic Party candidate, and shot the former prime minister with an improvised shotgun at point-blank range. The pellets struck Abe in his right arm and neck, reaching the arteries under his collarbones. Abe died from blood loss.

Award for Excellence

Australian Broadcasting Corporation

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Feature Writing (Regional)
Australian Broadcasting Corporation

How a Thai worker was taken hostage in a foreign war

Bloomberg

Businessweek

INDIA'S BOILING POINT

Millions in the country are confronting a terrifying reality: When sweat can't evaporate, heat kills.

By Rajesh Kumar Singh, Seetal Gupta and Clara Ferreira Marques
Photographs by Karishma Sonthalia/Bloomberg
2023/06/20 at 11:50 AM (GMT+5:30)

1843 The Economist

LONG READS

1843

How one man got off death row in a country with a 99% conviction rate

Hakamada Iwao spent almost 50 years in prison. It took decades for him to receive an astonishing exoneration

1843 The Economist

LONG READS

1843

Would you pass the world's toughest exam?

Thirty million Indians want a job on the railways, but a fiendish general-knowledge test stands in their way

In the summer of 2019, a 23-year-old student called Neeraj Kumar boarded a sleeper train from Delhi to the city of Patna in eastern India. A berth was beyond his means so he planned to sleep on the floor during the 16-hour journey. Discomfort didn't bother him – he was on his way to the middle classes.

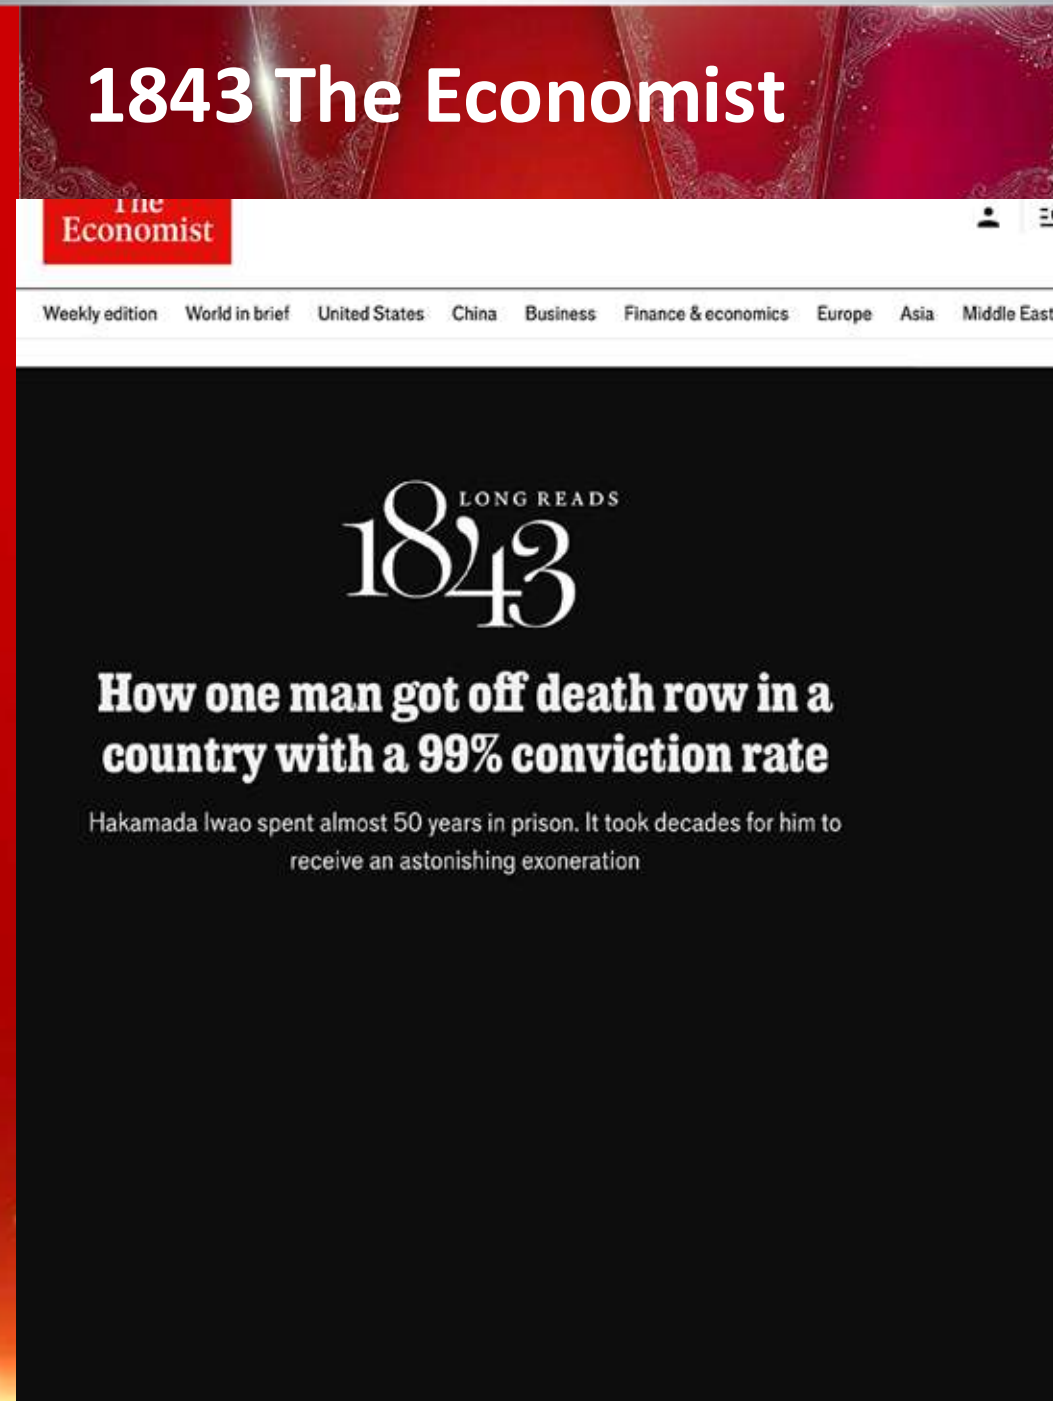

Kumar had grown up in a village a few hundred kilometres east of Patna. His family were poor, lower-caste farmers. The village school was so basic that children sat on fertiliser sacks instead of chairs. Kumar was a bright boy, and felt driven to make something better of his life. At first he dreamed of becoming a footballer, but then decided he wanted to be an engineer, like his older cousin.

Excellence in Feature Writing (Global)

Honorable Mention

1843 The Economist

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Feature Writing (Global)

1843 The Economist

How one man got off death row in a country with a 99% conviction rate

Bloomberg

Businessweek

INDIA'S BOILING POINT

Millions in the country are confronting a terrifying reality: When sweat can't evaporate, heat kills.

By Rajesh Kumar Singh, Seetal Gupta and Clara Ferreira Marques
Photographs by Karishma Sonthalia/Bloomberg
2025/06/25 at 11:50 AM (GMT+5:30)

1843 The Economist

1843 LONG READS

How one man got off death row in a country with a 99% conviction rate

Hakamada Iwao spent almost 50 years in prison. It took decades for him to receive an astonishing exoneration

1843 The Economist

1843 LONG READS

Would you pass the world's toughest exam?

Thirty million Indians want a job on the railways, but a fiendish general-knowledge test stands in their way

In the summer of 2019, a 23-year-old student called Neeraj Kumar boarded a sleeper train from Delhi to the city of Patna in eastern India. A berth was beyond his means so he planned to sleep on the floor during the 16-hour journey. Discomfort didn't bother him – he was on his way to the middle classes.

Kumar had grown up in a village a few hundred kilometres east of Patna. His family were poor, lower-caste farmers. The village school was so basic that children sat on fertiliser sacks instead of chairs. Kumar was a bright boy, and felt driven to make something better of his life. At first he dreamed of becoming a footballer, but then decided he wanted to be an engineer, like his older cousin.

Excellence in Feature Writing (Global)

Award for Excellence

1843 The Economist

The Economist

Weekly edition World in brief United States China Business Finance & economics Europe

LONG READS
1843

Would you pass the world's toughest exam?

Thirty million Indians want a job on the railways, but a fiendish general-knowledge test stands in their way

In the summer of 2019, a 23-year-old student called Neeraj Kumar boarded a sleeper train from Delhi to the city of Patna in eastern India. A berth was beyond his means so he planned to sleep on the floor during the 16-hour journey. Discomfort didn't bother him – he was on his way to the middle classes.

Kumar had grown up in a village a few hundred kilometres east of Patna. His family were poor, lower-caste farmers. The village school was so basic that children sat on fertiliser sacks instead of chairs. Kumar was a bright boy, and felt driven to make something better of his life. At first he dreamed of becoming a footballer, but then decided he wanted to be an engineer, like his older cousin.

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Feature Writing (Global)

1843 The Economist

Would you pass the world's toughest exam?

Excellence in Technology Reporting 卓越科技報道獎

Honoring outstanding reporting on technology that illustrates its impact on political, economic, business or social issues.

Presenter:
Gillian Wong
The New York Times

CommonWealth Magazine
天下雜誌

天下雜誌
CommonWealth Magazine

2025年10月1日 - 10月14日

16 3表看懂財劃法爭議
20 巨大強迫勞動地雷?
46 TGS個案精讀: 喬山
106 台大最熱門通識課
114 龍應台怎麼推和平?

星馬大賺中立財
新亞洲AI廊道

檳榔油棕小鎮 躡身世界版圖

中美算力圈過關片禁令 | 綠領、聯電「非中非台」新商標P72

Hong Kong Economic Journal
Monthly 信報財經月刊

中國尖端晶片技術短期難超美國
記憶體賽道有望領跑

近日，美國晶片龍頭輝達 (Nvidia) 行政總裁黃仁勳稱，中國在晶片製造方面只是落後美國數納秒 (Nanosecond, 十億分之一秒)，呼籲華府允許美國企業在中國大陸市場競爭。黃仁勳所言屬實嗎？中國跟美國在晶片技術上，果真差之毫釐，還是黃氏另有盤算？本文拆解中國技術短板，以及其在下將舉足輕重的賽道——記憶體晶片上之優勢。

當一國政府不惜動用冷戰時法律，你便知事態嚴重了。日前，荷蘭經濟事務與氣候政策部以「可能危害國家安全」為由，援引自1952年應封至今的《商品供應法》接管了總部在奈梅亨的半導體生產公司安世半導體 (Nexperia, 下稱「安世」)。當然，也撤換了其中國籍首席執行官張學政。安世專門生產汽車及消費電子產品所用基礎晶片，知名車廠如大眾汽車和寶馬都是其「大客戶」。最關鍵的是，安世由中國公司聞泰科技百分之百控股。

中國先是表示「強烈反對」，隨即禁止安世中國分公司及旗下分包商出口中國製造的特定組件，德國車業因而遭殃：有媒體報道，大眾汽車警告員工，由於零件短缺，公司面臨停產。

荷蘭政府奪權，背後疑美國推動，中國反擊，然後德國車業臨危……此起彼落的「晶片戰爭」，在劉紀美眼中，「好像幼稚園生打架」，她笑言。劉紀美是香港科技大學電子及計算機工程系系長兼教授兼新興跨學科領域學部研究教授，曾憑「III-V 半導體器件在矽器件上的應用，對光子學及電子學所作出的貢獻」當選美國

國家工程院士，為當屆唯一香港學者。雖說如小孩打架，為何偏偏要換晶片？當然有原因，先從晶片之起源說起。

人類需要運算

「Curiosity (好奇)！」劉紀美一字說明晶片為何出現。《晶片戰爭》一書中提到，從哲人最早學會數東西以來，人類便懷揣動手指來計算，然後算盤、機械計算器等工具應運而生，但隨着想算的與日俱增，機械計算都顯得太慢。

美國物理學家和發明家 William Shockley 團隊想到一種更佳技術，便是借助「半導體」。「半導體為什麼那麼把炮？因為可以控制導電與否」，劉紀美解釋，半導體是特別的材料，不同於只會導電的銅，或者只會阻電的塑膠，「我可以加些東西進去，控制電的流動」。

舉例最典型的半導體材料「矽」，本身其實並不導電，但加入磷或硼之後，就會產生負電流，後來逐漸開發出「積體電路」，或稱晶片。

《晶片戰爭》書中一句話指出晶片對今日世界的意義：「一般人很少想到晶片，但晶片創造了現代世界。國家的命運取決於它們駕馭運算力

32

Initium Media
端傳媒

算法也有性取向？中國酷兒短視頻創作者的隱秘生存術

他們解密碼破譯着算法的規則，但這個精心構建的數字城堡，隨時可能坍塌。

圖：Mantha Mok / 端傳媒

特別的個人而獲得
刊登於: 2025-03-20

柏納有着「三面人生」。

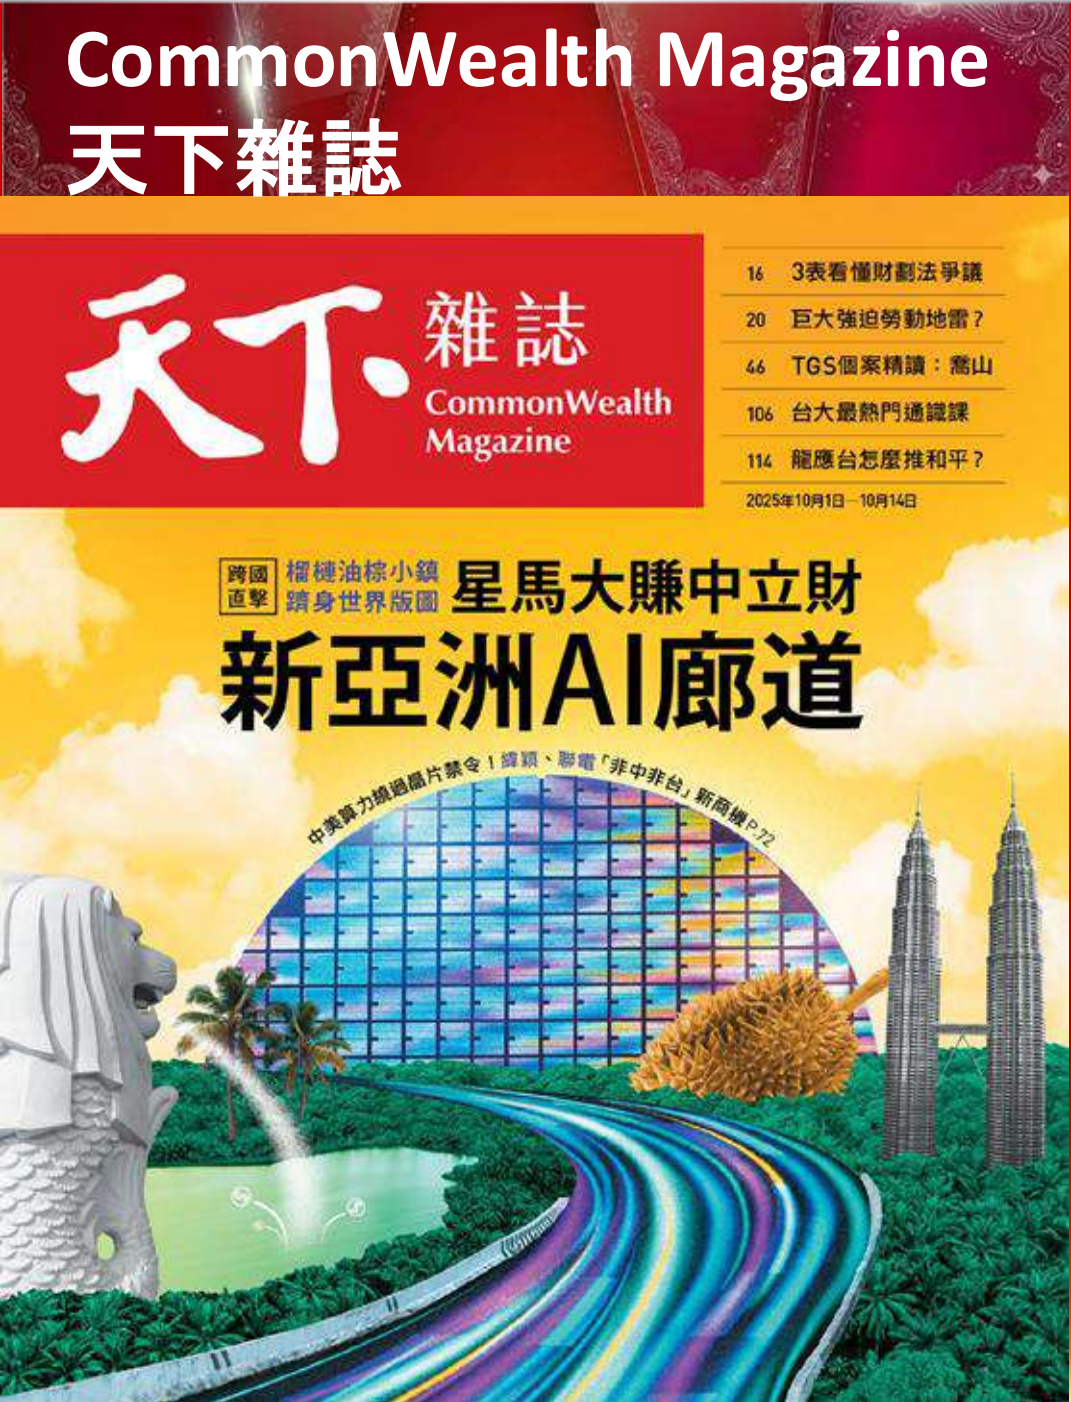

抖音视频中，28歲的柏納戴着黑框眼鏡、留着絡腮鬍，穿短褲白襪。他在鏡頭前熟練地分飾兩角，演繹男同性戀回家過年的種種啼笑皆非——「表哥，餐桌上這些雞或你怎麼全都叫得上稱呼？」「那當然，我在軟件上都見到了他們本人……」隨後，專屬於男同性戀約會軟件Blued的消息提示音在畫面外響起——

這是柏納精心設計的段子，表哥通過Blued意外發現網感也是同性戀。巧妙的細節在短視頻中層層疊加，左下角還附上了標籤「#熊貓」和「#彩虹男孩」。

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Chinese) 卓越科技報道獎

Honorable Mention

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Chinese)

CommonWealth Magazine 天下雜誌

《天下雜誌》833期 〈星馬大賺中立財 新亞洲AI廊道〉

CommonWealth Magazine
天下雜誌

天下雜誌
CommonWealth Magazine

2025年10月1日 - 10月14日

16 3表看懂財劃法爭議
20 巨大強迫勞動地雷?
46 TGS個案精讀: 喬山
106 台大最熱門通識課
114 龍應台怎麼推和平?

星馬大賺中立財
新亞洲AI廊道

檳榔油棕小鎮 躡身世界版圖

中美算力圈過關片禁令 | 綠領、影電「非中非台」新商機 P.72

Hong Kong Economic Journal
Monthly 信報財經月刊

中國尖端晶片技術短期難超美國
記憶體賽道有望領跑

近日，美國晶片龍頭輝達 (Nvidia) 行政總裁黃仁勳稱，中國在晶片製造方面只是落後美國數納秒 (Nanosecond, 十億分之一秒)，呼籲華府允許美國企業在中國大陸市場競爭。黃仁勳所言屬實嗎？中國跟美國在晶片技術上，果真差之毫釐，還是黃氏另有盤算？本文拆解中國技術短板，以及其在下未來將舉足輕重的賽道——記憶體晶片上之優勢。

當一國政府不惜動用冷戰時法律，你便知事態嚴重了。日前，荷蘭經濟事務與氣候政策部以「可能危害國家安全」為由，援引自 1952 年應封至今的《商品供應法》接管了總部在奈梅亨的半導體生產公司安世半導體 (Nexperia, 下稱「安世」)，當然，也撤換了其中國籍首席執行官張學政。安世專門生產汽車及消費電子產品所用基礎晶片，知名車廠如大眾汽車和寶馬都是其「大客戶」。最關鍵的是，安世由中國公司聞泰科技百分之百控股。

中國先是表示「強烈反對」，隨即禁止安世中國分公司及旗下分包商出口中國製造的特定組件，德國車業因而遭殃：有媒體報道，大眾汽車警告員工，由於零件短缺，公司面臨停產。

荷蘭政府奪權，背後疑美國推動，中國反擊，然後德國車業臨危……此起彼落的「晶片戰爭」，在劉紀美眼中，「好像幼稚園生打架」，她笑言。劉紀美是香港科技大學電子及計算機工程系系長兼教授兼新興跨學科領域學部研究教授，曾憑「III-V 半導體器件在矽器件上的應用，對光子學及電子學所作出的貢獻」當選美國

國家工程院院士，為當屆唯一香港學者。雖說如小孩打架，為何偏偏要搶晶片？當然有原因，先從晶片之起源說起。

人類需要運算

「Curiosity (好奇)！」劉紀美一字說明晶片為何出現。《晶片戰爭》一書中提到，從哲人最早學會數東西以來，人類便懷揣動手指來計算，然後算盤、機械計算器等工具應運而生，但隨着想算的與日俱增，機械計算都顯得太慢。

美國物理學家和發明家 William Shockley 團隊想到一種更佳技術，便是借助「半導體」。「半導體為什麼那麼把炮？因為可以控制導電與否」，劉紀美解釋，半導體是特別的材料，不同於只會導電的銅，或者只會阻電的塑膠，「我可以加些東西進去，控制電的流動」。

舉例最典型的半導體材料「矽」，本身其實並不導電，但加入磷或硼之後，就會產生負電流，後來逐漸開發出「積體電路」，或稱晶片。

《晶片戰爭》書中一句話指出晶片對今日世界的意義：「一般人很少想到晶片，但晶片創造了現代世界。國家的命運取決於它們駕馭運算力

32

Initium Media
端傳媒

算法也有性取向？中國酷兒短視頻創作者的隱秘生存術

他們解密碼破譯着算法的規則，但這個精心構建的數字城堡，隨時可能坍塌。

圖：Mantha Mok / 端傳媒

特別的個人而獲得
刊登於: 2025-03-20

柏納有着「三面人生」。

抖音视频中，28歲的柏納戴着黑框眼鏡、留着絡腮鬍，穿短褲白襪。他在鏡頭前熟練地分飾兩角，演繹男同性戀回家過年的種種啼笑皆非——「表哥，餐桌上這些醜你怎麼全都叫得上稱呼？」「那當然，我在軟件上都見到了他們本人……」隨後，專屬於男同性戀約會軟件Blued的消息提示音在畫面外響起——

這是柏納精心設計的段子，表哥通過Blued意外發現網感也是同性戀。巧妙的細節在短視頻中層層疊加，左下角還附上了標籤「#熊貓」和「#彩虹男孩」。

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Chinese) 卓越科技報道獎

Award for Excellence

Initium Media
端傳媒

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

情色的未來

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Regional)

Project Multatuli English

The screenshot shows the Project Multatuli website interface. The article 'The Paradox of AI's Promises' is the main focus, with a large image of a person's eyes. The text discusses the challenges of AI implementation, such as job displacement and the need for upskilling. The website layout includes a navigation bar with 'Stories', 'Opinion', and 'About' tabs, and a search bar.

The Australian Financial Review and The Sydney Morning Herald

The screenshot displays the front page of the Australian Financial Review and Sydney Morning Herald. The main article is 'Coalition extends poll lead', which reports on a recent opinion poll showing the Coalition government leading Labor by 52 percent. The article includes a photograph of Richard White and Zina Nasser. The website header features the masthead and the date 'Monday 24 February 2025'.

The Straits Times

The screenshot shows the Straits Times website with an article titled 'Punggol Digital District Singapore's blueprint for future smart districts'. The article features a 3D architectural rendering of a smart district. The text describes the district as a blueprint for future smart districts, highlighting its focus on digital infrastructure and sustainable development. The website layout includes a navigation bar and a search bar.

Honorable Mention

The Straits Times

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Regional)

The Straits Times

Punggol Digital District

Project Multatuli English

The screenshot shows the Project Multatuli website with a navigation bar (Stories, Opinion, About) and a search bar. The main article is titled "The Paradox of AI's Promises" by Mera Krone. The article discusses the challenges of AI implementation, such as job displacement and the digital divide, and highlights the need for a human-centric approach. It mentions that AI is not a silver bullet and that its benefits are unevenly distributed. The article also notes that AI is being used in various industries, from healthcare to education, but that it is still in its early stages. The website has a clean, modern design with a white background and blue accents.

The Australian Financial Review and The Sydney Morning Herald

The screenshot shows the front page of the Australian Financial Review newspaper. The main headline is "Coalition extends poll lead" with a sub-headline "Bidding war with crossbenchers looms". The article discusses the political situation in Australia, mentioning the Coalition's lead in the polls and the challenges it faces. It also mentions the resignation of Anthony Albanese and the potential for a coalition government. The newspaper has a traditional layout with a large masthead and multiple columns of text. The background is a dark, textured pattern.

The Straits Times

The screenshot shows the Straits Times website with an article titled "Punggol Digital District Singapore's blueprint for future smart districts". The article discusses the development of the Punggol Digital District, a smart district in Singapore. It highlights the use of digital technology and data to improve the quality of life and productivity in the district. The article also mentions the role of the government and private industry in the development. The website has a clean, modern design with a white background and blue accents. The background of the article preview is a blue-tinted image of a smart city.

Award for Excellence

Project Multatuli English

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Regional)

Project Multatuli English

#AutomationFever series

The Associated Press

AP

WORLD NEWS

Silicon Valley enabled brutal mass detention and surveillance in China, internal documents show

Image recognition software installed on a street in Beijing. (AP photo/Marciall B) [sic]

BY COREY KANG AND YUEL GRAUER
Updated 1:01 PM GMT+8, September 3, 2025

BEIJING (AP) — The body camera hung from the top of the TV drip, recording the slightest twitch made by Yang Guoliang as he lay bloody and paralyzed in a hospital bed after a police beating with bricks.

By then, surveillance was nothing new for the Yang family in rural China, snared in an intricate network based on U.S. technology that spies on them and predicts what they'll do.

Their train tickets, hotel bookings, purchases, text messages and phone calls are forwarded to the government. Their house is ringed with more than a dozen cameras. They've tried to go to Beijing 20 times in the past few years, but masked men show up and grab them, often before they depart. And last year, Yang's wife and younger daughter were detained and now face trial for disrupting the work of the Chinese state — a crime carrying a sentence of up to a decade in prison.

Yet the Yangs say they are not criminals. They are simply farmers trying to beg Beijing to stop local officials from seizing their 1 1/2 acres of land in China's eastern Jiangsu province.

"Every move in my own home is monitored," Yang said, sitting behind black curtains that block him from the glare of police lights trained straight at his house. "Their surveillance makes me feel unsafe all the time, everywhere."

ADD AP News on Google

Bloomberg

Bloomberg

DeepSeek: New AI Model | China's AI Power Grab | 'Tech Madman' Founder

Businessweek | The Big Take

DeepSeek's 'Tech Madman' Founder Is Threatening US Dominance in AI Race

The company's sudden emergence illustrates how China's industry is thriving despite Washington's efforts to slow it down.

DeepSeek founder Liang Weifeng meeting with President Xi Jinping in Beijing in February. Photographer: Florence Cofrancesco

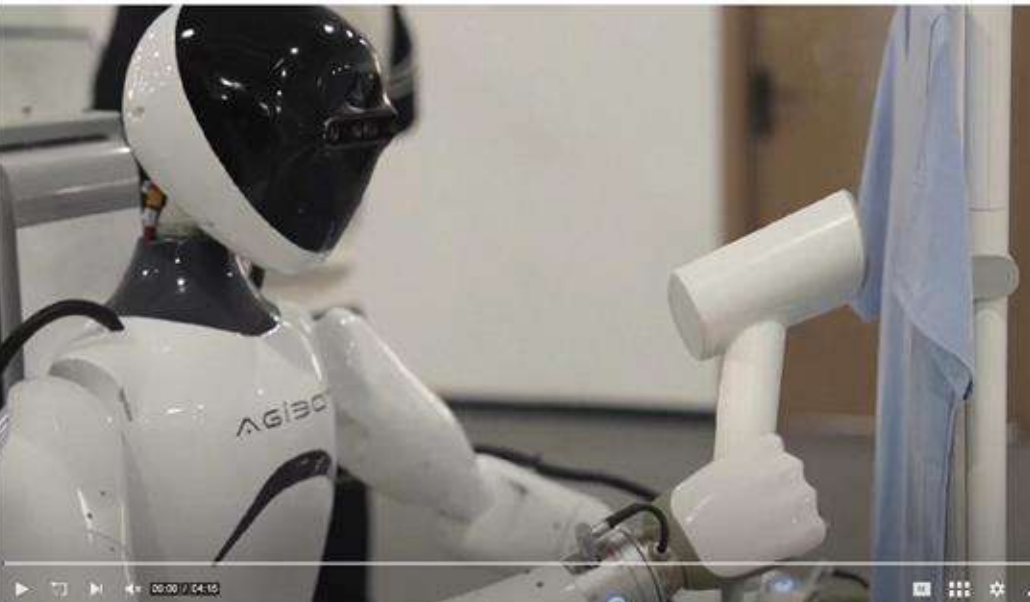

By Bloomberg News
May 14, 2025 at 5:00 AM GMT+8

With his wispy frame and reserved style, Liang Weifeng can come off as shy, nervous even, in meetings. The founder of DeepSeek—the Chinese startup that recently upended the world of artificial intelligence—is prone to faltering speech and prolonged silences. But new hires learn quickly not to mistake his quiet rumination for timidity. Once Liang processes the finer points of a discussion, he fires off precise, hard-to-answer questions about model

Reuters

China's AI-powered humanoid robots aim to transform manufacturing

By Brenda Goh, Eduardo Baptista and Qiaoyi Li
May 13, 2025 9:45 PM GMT+8 | Updated May 13, 2025

Summary Companies

- China's humanoid robots aim to boost economic growth, manufacturing edge
- Advances in AI help to make humanoid robots economically valuable
- Government subsidies, funds support humanoid robot development
- Robots' rise spurs talk of AI unemployment insurance

SHANGHAI/BEIJING, May 13 (Reuters) - In a sprawling warehouse in a Shanghai suburb, dozens of humanoid robots are manoeuvred by their operators to carry out tasks like folding a T-shirt, making a sandwich and opening doors, over and over again.

Operating 17 hours a day, the site's goal is to generate reams of data that its owner, Chinese humanoid startup Agibot, uses to train robots it hopes will become ubiquitous and change the way humans live, work and play.

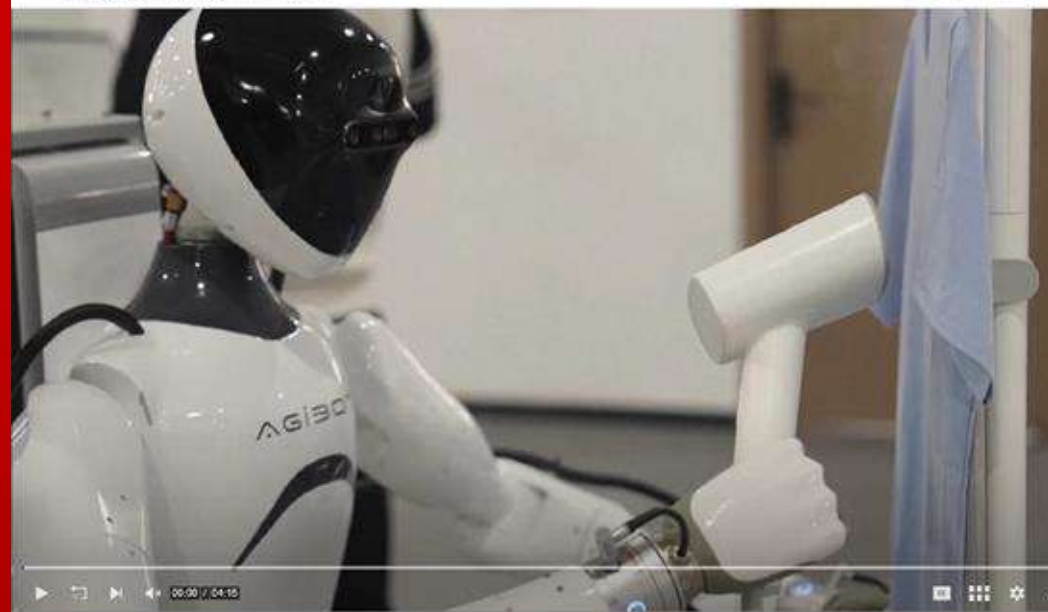

The Reuters Iran Briefing newsletter keeps you informed with the latest developments and analysis of the Iran war. Sign up here.

Honorable Mention

Reuters

China's AI-powered humanoid robots aim to transform manufacturing

By Brenda Goh, Eduardo Baptista and Qiaoyi Li
May 13, 2025 9:45 PM GMT+8 · Updated May 13, 2025

Summary

- China's humanoid robots aim to boost economic growth, manufacturing edge
- Advances in AI help to make humanoid robots economically valuable
- Government subsidies, funds support humanoid robot development
- Robots' rise spurs talk of AI unemployment insurance

SHANGHAI/BEIJING, May 13 (Reuters) - In a sprawling warehouse in a Shanghai suburb, dozens of humanoid robots are manoeuvred by their operators to carry out tasks like folding a T-shirt, making a sandwich and opening doors, over and over again.

Operating 17 hours a day, the site's goal is to generate reams of data that its owner, Chinese humanoid startup AgiBot, uses to train robots it hopes will become ubiquitous and change the way humans live, work and play.

The Reuters Iran Briefing newsletter keeps you informed with the latest developments and analysis of the Iran war. Sign up here.

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Global)

Reuters

China quest for tech self-sufficiency

The Associated Press

AP

WORLD NEWS

Silicon Valley enabled brutal mass detention and surveillance in China, internal documents show

Image recognition software installed on a street in Beijing. (AP photo/Marciall B.)

BY COREY KANG AND YUEL GRAUER
Updated 1:01 PM GMT+8, September 3, 2025

BEIJING (AP) — The body camera hung from the top of the TV drip, recording the slightest twitch made by Yang Guoliang as he lay bloody and paralyzed in a hospital bed after a police beating with bricks.

By then, surveillance was nothing new for the Yang family in rural China, snared in an intricate network based on U.S. technology that spies on them and predicts what they'll do.

Their train tickets, hotel bookings, purchases, text messages and phone calls are forwarded to the government. Their house is ringed with more than a dozen cameras. They've tried to go to Beijing 20 times in the past few years, but masked men show up and grab them, often before they depart. And last year, Yang's wife and younger daughter were detained and now face trial for disrupting the work of the Chinese state — a crime carrying a sentence of up to a decade in prison.

Yet the Yangs say they are not criminals. They are simply farmers trying to beg Beijing to stop local officials from seizing their 1 1/2 acres of land in China's eastern Jiangsu province.

"Every move in my own home is monitored," Yang said, sitting behind black curtains that block him from the glare of police lights trained straight at his house. "Their surveillance makes me feel unsafe all the time, everywhere."

ADD AP News on Google

Bloomberg

Bloomberg

DeepSeek: New AI Model | China's AI Power Grab | 'Tech Madman' Founder

Businessweek | The Big Take

DeepSeek's 'Tech Madman' Founder Is Threatening US Dominance in AI Race

The company's sudden emergence illustrates how China's industry is thriving despite Washington's efforts to slow it down.

DeepSeek founder Liang Weifeng meeting with President Xi Jinping in Beijing in February. Photographer: Florence Cofranceschi

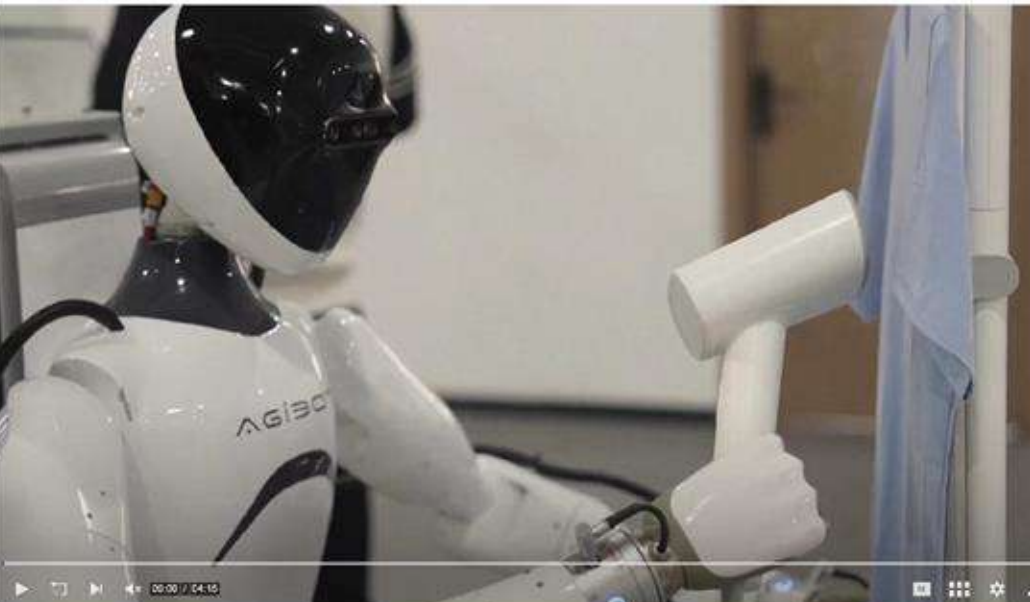

By Bloomberg News
May 14, 2025 at 5:00 AM GMT+8

With his wispy frame and reserved style, Liang Weifeng can come off as shy, nervous even, in meetings. The founder of DeepSeek—the Chinese startup that recently upended the world of artificial intelligence—is prone to faltering speech and prolonged silences. But new hires learn quickly not to mistake his quiet rumination for timidity. Once Liang processes the finer points of a discussion, he fires off precise, hard-to-answer questions about model

Reuters

China's AI-powered humanoid robots aim to transform manufacturing

By Brenda Goh, Eduardo Baptista and Qiaoyi Li
May 13, 2025 9:45 PM GMT+8 | Updated May 13, 2025

Summary Companies

- China's humanoid robots aim to boost economic growth, manufacturing edge
- Advances in AI help to make humanoid robots economically valuable
- Government subsidies, funds support humanoid robot development
- Robots' rise spurs talk of AI unemployment insurance

SHANGHAI/BEIJING, May 13 (Reuters) - In a sprawling warehouse in a Shanghai suburb, dozens of humanoid robots are manoeuvred by their operators to carry out tasks like folding a T-shirt, making a sandwich and opening doors, over and over again.

Operating 17 hours a day, the site's goal is to generate reams of data that its owner, Chinese humanoid startup AgiBot, uses to train robots it hopes will become ubiquitous and change the way humans live, work and play.

The Reuters Iran Briefing newsletter keeps you informed with the latest developments and analysis of the Iran war. Sign up here.

Award for Excellence

The Associated Press

AP

World News Silicon Valley enabled brutal mass detention and surveillance in China, internal documents show

Image recognition analysis overlaid on records in Beijing. (AP video Marshall Blum)

By DAKE KANG AND VIEL GANER

Updated 1:01 PM GMT+8, September 3, 2025

Add AP News on Google

BEIJING (AP) — The body camera hung from the top of the IV drip, recording the slightest twitch made by Yang Guoliang as he lay bloody and paralyzed in a hospital bed after a police beating with bricks.

By then, surveillance was nothing new for the Yang family in rural China, snared in an intricate network based on U.S. technology that spies on them and predicts what they'll do.

Their train tickets, hotel bookings, purchases, text messages and phone calls are forwarded to the government. Their house is ringed with more than a dozen cameras. They've tried to go to Beijing 20 times in the past few years, but masked men show up and grab them, often before they depart. And last year, Yang's wife and younger daughter were detained and now face trial for disrupting the work of the Chinese state — a crime carrying a sentence of up to a decade in prison.

Yet the Yangs say they are not criminals. They are simply farmers trying to beg Beijing to stop local officials from seizing their 1 1/2 acres of land in China's eastern Jiangsu province.

"Every move in my own home is monitored," Yang said, sitting behind black curtains that block him from the glare of police lights trained straight at his house. "Their surveillance makes me feel unsafe all the time, everywhere."

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Technology Reporting (Global)

The Associated Press

Made in America, Watched Worldwide

Excellence in Magazine Design

卓越雜誌設計獎

Honoring the magazine that demonstrates high standards in visual presentation. This category is open only to magazines.

Presenter:
Jocelyn Kang
CNN International

Excellence in Magazine Design (Global, Regional/Local and Chinese) 卓越雜誌設計獎

Excellence in Magazine Design
(Global, Regional/Local and Chinese)
卓越雜誌設計獎

Honorable Mention

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Magazine Design (Global, Regional/Local and Chinese)

LEAP 艺术界

下海游 / Across the Sea

Excellence in Magazine Design (Global, Regional/Local and Chinese) 卓越雜誌設計獎

Excellence in Magazine Design
(Global, Regional/Local and Chinese)
卓越雜誌設計獎

Award for Excellence

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Magazine Design (Global, Regional/Local and Chinese)

Tasting Kitchen

TK62 Cubanacán

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting 卓越藝術及文化報道獎

Honoring the work that demonstrates high standards of reporting and writing in fine arts and cultural topics, including food and travel.

Presenter:
Jocelyn Kang
CNN International

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Chinese) 卓越藝術及文化報道獎

Honorable Mention

Initium Media
端傳媒

中國學生拍短片：有人想要成名，有人想要成為藝術家

短片近年來備受重視，學生們為求學或為事業，均開始拍大量短片，他們會求得怎樣的將來？

2023年7月6日，法國坎城第74屆電影節開幕日前，工作人員在主席台前鋪設紅地毯。攝：Brunn Anderson/阿博達志影像

特約撰稿人李潔儀
刊載於：2025-02-15

2017年，中國導演邱陽憑《小城二月》奪得夏納/坎城影展短片金棕櫚獎，成為首個在世界「三大」影展（另兩個為柏林和威尼斯，被廣泛看作世界上最有影響力的三個國際電影節）新獲短片類最高獎的中國導演。其後，以「三大」為首的國際影展亦發常見中國導演攜短片作品參加競賽，獲獎者頻出。

大陸的一些影視資本在近年來開始關注電影短片的潛力，紛紛入局注資，發展出了創作者培養計劃。與此同時，多個專注於短片的節展與電影發行公司也生長出來，為短片的展示提供平台和後續發行服務。以電影院校畢業生為主的新電影作者們，或集資或自己出錢，拍攝並製作短片；發行公司提供服務將短片作品送到海內外節展和流媒體平台，幫助作者們得到更多關注。大部分作者，從短片起跳，求的是一個能拍長片的未來。

2026/27香港財政預算案：「轉動為政」、外匯基金轉撥建北都、強調新科AI | WhatsNew
新聞 / 3 小時前

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

中國影像新秩序

BBC Chinese BBC中文

NEWS 中文

主頁 觀看

國際 | 中國 | 香港 | 台灣 | 英國 | 財經

十公里外的自由：金門如何成為中國「敏感電影」的觀影天堂

中國導演盧瑋的創作《一部未完成的電影》涉及中國敏感的政治題材。

蔣宜婷
BBC中文記者

2024年1月27日
閱讀時間：2分鐘

聯江暨在全門電影節的熱鬧中此起彼落。大銀幕上，中國新近從傳聞中的畫面上閃動：封鎖的街道、吹哨者李文亮醫生的微博、一名女性在救護車後被著死去親人……

「多年之後我們用電影畫面這段歷史，有集體記憶也有創傷。」來自福建的大學生Joy說，他和三十多位同樣來自中國的觀眾，透過社交平台小紅書相約「到金門看電影」。

在這個距離中國海岸僅10公里的島嶼，越來越多的中國青年來著在他們國內無法上映的電影。這天他們看的導演盧瑋的創作《一部未完成的電影》，該片涉及武漢封城的敏感題材。

「現在中國電影審查嚴格，能在金門看到這些電影，我很珍惜這個機會。」Joy說。

這群年輕人在兩天內連續包場看四部來自中國、香港、台灣和日本的電影，內容涵蓋同志、性別等議題。他們在電影節與當地打卡拍照，有影迷形容，到金門看「禁片」就像合法的「異地翻牆」。

Initium Media 端傳媒

新聞 風物 大馬

中國學生拍短片：有人想要成名，有人想要成為藝術家

短片近年來備受重視，學生們為求學或為事業，均需拍攝大量短片，他們會求得怎樣的未來？

2021年7月6日，法國坎城第74屆電影節開幕日前，工作人員在主席台前鋪設紅地毯。攝：Brunn Anderson/AP的達志影像

特約撰稿人李潔儀
刊載於：2025-02-15

2017年，中國導演邱陽憑《小城二月》奪得戛納/坎城影展短片金棕櫚獎，成為首個在世界「三大」影展（另兩個為柏林和威尼斯，被廣泛看作世界上最有影響力的三個國際電影節）斬獲短片類最高獎的中國導演。其後，以「三大」為首的國際影展愈發常見中國導演短片作品參加競賽，獲獎者頻出。

大陸的一些影視資本在近年來開始關注電影短片的潛力，紛紛入局注資，發展出了創作者培養計劃。與此同時，多個專注於短片的節展與電影發行公司也生長出來，為短片的展示提供平台和後續發行服務。以電影院校畢業生為主的新電影作者們，或集資或自己出錢，拍攝並製作短片；發行公司提供服務將短片作品送到海內外節展和流媒體平台，幫助作者們得到更多關注。大部分作者，從短片起跳，求的是一個能拍長片的未來。

2026/27香港財政預算案：「轉動為政」，外匯基金轉撥北都、強調創科AI | What'snew 閱讀 / 9小時前

The Reporter 報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER

如何低調而不低頭？當「政治紅線」成為台灣樂團進軍中國的隱形成本

中國政府近年對藝文活動加強審查、監管趨嚴，讓西進中國市場的台灣音樂人正陷入進退兩難的處境。(攝：江哲臣)

在大眾眼中，搖滾樂團和創作歌手應是一種「更真誠」的演出形式。這些從地下走人主義的獨立音樂人曾經引領台灣社會變遷，他們的詞曲反映現實社會，讓「樂團」躍為跨下年輕人的熱門娛樂，也召喚一輩又一輩樂迷起身揮舞手與自然、與被勞工、爭取同志權利、守護言論自由。

獨立音樂不只影響當代台灣，也繼續行進在近年吹進中國，成為當地青年圈裡外的一股貨。然而從2022年中開始，台灣「關天月天、長年支持社運的歌手安溥《舊情名張德》，不論是「謝時書」或謝時書和中國政府「主旋律」，他們曾向中國政府「示好」而讓起台灣樂迷的失望、爭辯，甚至分裂。

《報導者》採訪十餘位出身獨立音樂界的產業人士，包含樂團主唱、創作歌手、經紀人、音調人、樂評人、媒體工程師，試圖描繪他們在中國面對的困境，以及在中國文化審查下，他們有沒有機會堅守人權、說自己的話、政治表達自由的「真誠」？而一旦讓真誠利他的結果，究竟帶給獨立樂團、歌星、台灣社會何種衝擊？

文化生活 音樂

刊載於：2025/02/27

文字 / 許詩雅
攝影 / 黃博暉
設計 / 江哲臣 黃博暉
採訪/ 李哲軒、謝時書、楊麗、李哲軒、黃博暉/報導

訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱 訂閱

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Chinese) 卓越藝術及文化報道獎

Award for Excellence

The Reporter 報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER

如何低調而不低頭？當「政治紅線」成為台灣樂團進軍中國的隱形成本

中國政府每年對藝文活動增加新禁令，監管趨嚴，讓西進中國市場的台灣音樂人正陷入與前兩屆的差別。(攝畫/江世民)

在大眾眼中，搖滾樂團和創作歌手應是一種「更真誠」的演出形式。這些從地下走入主流的獨立音樂人曾引領台灣社會變遷，他們的詞曲反映現實社會，讓「聽團」躍為時下年輕人的熱門娛樂，也召喚一批樂迷起身響應上與自然、愛護勞工、爭取同志婚姻、守護言論自由。

獨立音樂不只影響當代台灣，也繼續行樂後在近年吹進中國，成為當地青年圈探外的一扇窗。然而從2024年中開始，台灣天團五月天、長年支持社運的歌手安溥《佛蘭克與奧斯華》，不論是「讓時疫」或就唱和中國政府「主旋律」，他們曾向中國政府「示好」而激怒台灣樂迷的失望、爭辯，甚至分營。

《報導者》採訪十位出身獨立音樂界的產業人士，包含樂團主唱、創作歌手、經紀人、音評人、媒體工程師，試圖釐清他們在中國面對的困境，以及在中國文化審查下，他們有沒有機會守人權、說自己的話、政治表達自由的「底線」？而一旦讓經濟利益的結果，究竟帶給獨立樂團、華迷、台灣社會何種衝擊？

文化生活 音樂

刊出日期: 2025/12/19

文字 / 游靜嫻

攝影 / 黃世傑

採訪 / 江世民 黃世傑

刊例諮詢 / 李宜利、游靜嫻、林麗、李聖賢、黃世傑、游靜嫻

中國 中國 中國平權

中國 中國 經濟環境

中國 中國 政治自由

中國 中國

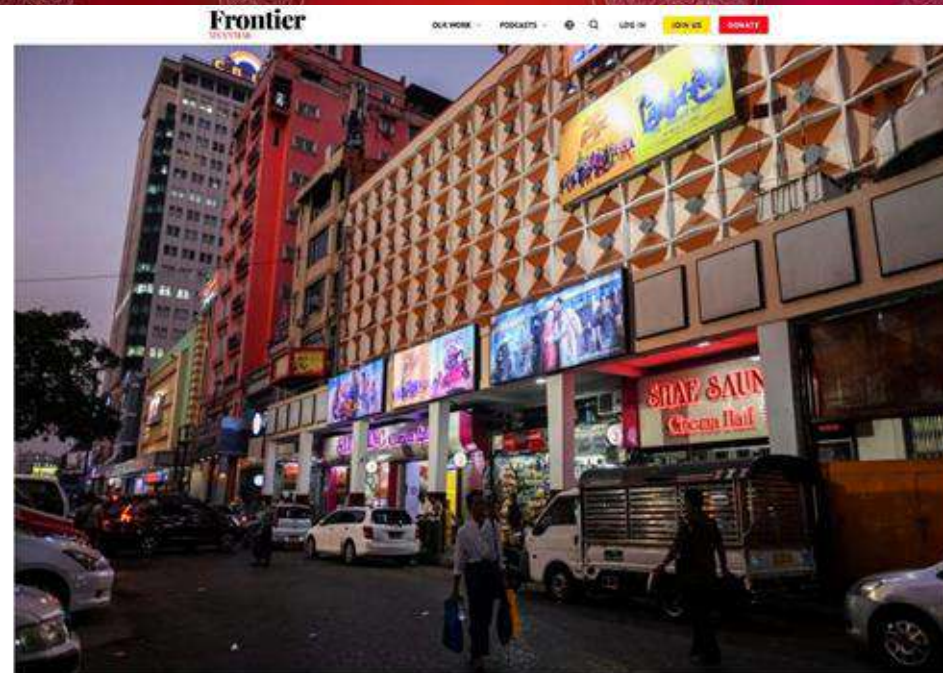

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Chinese)

The Reporter 報導者

跟唱紅色主旋律？台灣獨立樂團西進中國的靈魂拷問

Frontier Myanmar

Killing creativity: The junta's cultural crusade

While suppressing political dissent, the junta is also trying to cleanse the arts of anything it judges harmful to Myanmar's traditional Buddhist culture, with LGBT themes the most recent target.

By FRONTIER

At the awards ceremony known as Myanmar's "Oscar", junta leaders swapped criticism for traditional songs and requested 18 jokers to demonstrate they can still put on a propaganda show despite abolishing democracy across the country.

Following a public commission order in the capital Nay Pyi Taw on the evening of February 5, junta Chief Senior General Min Aung Hlaing ordered the Myanmar National Future Academy Awards with a 20-minute speech based on religious nationalism.

"I want to make a special request here that when you write films, make sure to prevent the fading and disappearance of Myanmar customs and traditions and protect the interests of foreign cultures. For the benefit of the country and the people, use your skills and talents with a national spirit," the senior general intoned.

The awards industry used to be a vibrant scene for young people of "social networks and marketing needs". In addition, it is a set of well-rehearsed references to select new writers and artists.

Myanmar film and theater awards were then bestowed, accompanied by production of award and art, traditional theatrical performances dating from the royal era before British colonization. The shows depicted a happy and prosperous Myanmar, despite the nationwide conflict and deep economic crisis triggered by the 2021 coup.

Min Aung Hlaing and his wife Daw Kyi Kyi attended the entire five-hour event, broadcast on national television, leaving only when it concluded at midnight.

In reality, the grand ceremony — suspended in 2021 after three award years due to COVID-19 lockdowns and post-coup instability — has only served to highlight Myanmar's stark political and cultural divisions. Many actors and directors now work and live abroad to evade and support the resistance, while the regime is said to reward to artists and entertainers to have some of those still in Myanmar to cheer and resolve the regime's crusades.

PostMag

The Chinese baristas keeping Italian cafe culture alive

Cafes run by Chinese migrants have become a common sight in Italy, but behind each cup of coffee is a bittersweet story of cultural identity.

At around 9:30 nearly every morning, 81-year-old Claudio Gatta passes the famous Accademia Bridge on the Grand Canal in Venice and steps into the Foscarini, ordering an espresso and a tuna sandwich for breakfast. He will have two more espresso there in the afternoon. True to his Italian roots, he has stuck to this coffee routine for as long as he can remember.

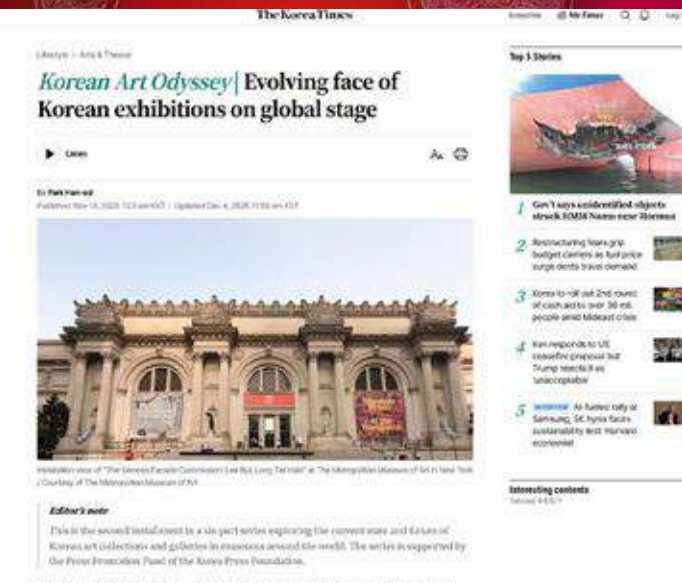

Equally unswerving, Bar Foscarini has been around for more than 70 years, a quintessential Italian coffee bar, with a long, dark marble counter upon which sits an espresso machine polished to a mirror shine. The items feature what you would expect: coffee and sandwiches for the morning, appetizers, pasta and pizza for later.

Gatta takes a sip of the espresso and meets Sophia, the young barista. "Hey, you were back to China last month to visit your family. How come you didn't bring back a husband?"

Barista Sophia serves coffee in the interior of Bar Foscarini, which sits inside the Grand Canal in Venice. Photo: Francesco Sestini

The Korea Times

Korean Art Odyssey | Evolving face of Korean exhibitions on global stage

DENVER, Colo./SALEM, Mass. — During the 1990s and 2000s, a new era for Korean art began to unfold. With the vigorous support of the government-affiliated Korea Foundation (KF), the first major wave of permanent Korean galleries opened across museums in the United States.

Among them was the Arts of Korea Gallery at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, inaugurated in 1998, where Soyoung Lee started her career as the museum's first curator of Korean art.

"During that period, a lot of the forward activities revolved around Korean collections that U.S. museums had already built, which were mostly pre-20th century," recalled Lee, who now helms the Asian Art Museum of San Francisco. This meant the KF and the National Museum of Korea helped drive the emphasis on the country's traditional art by acquiring loans, exhibitions, research and curatorial milestones.

Yet this momentum soon met its natural limits, Lee noted. The available body of pre-20th century Korean works was finite, even within Korea itself, and there were growing ethical concerns over what should — or should not — leave the country.

"It became clear quite quickly for U.S. museums that to expand their collections and programming, they couldn't keep acquiring traditional Korean art. There simply wasn't enough."

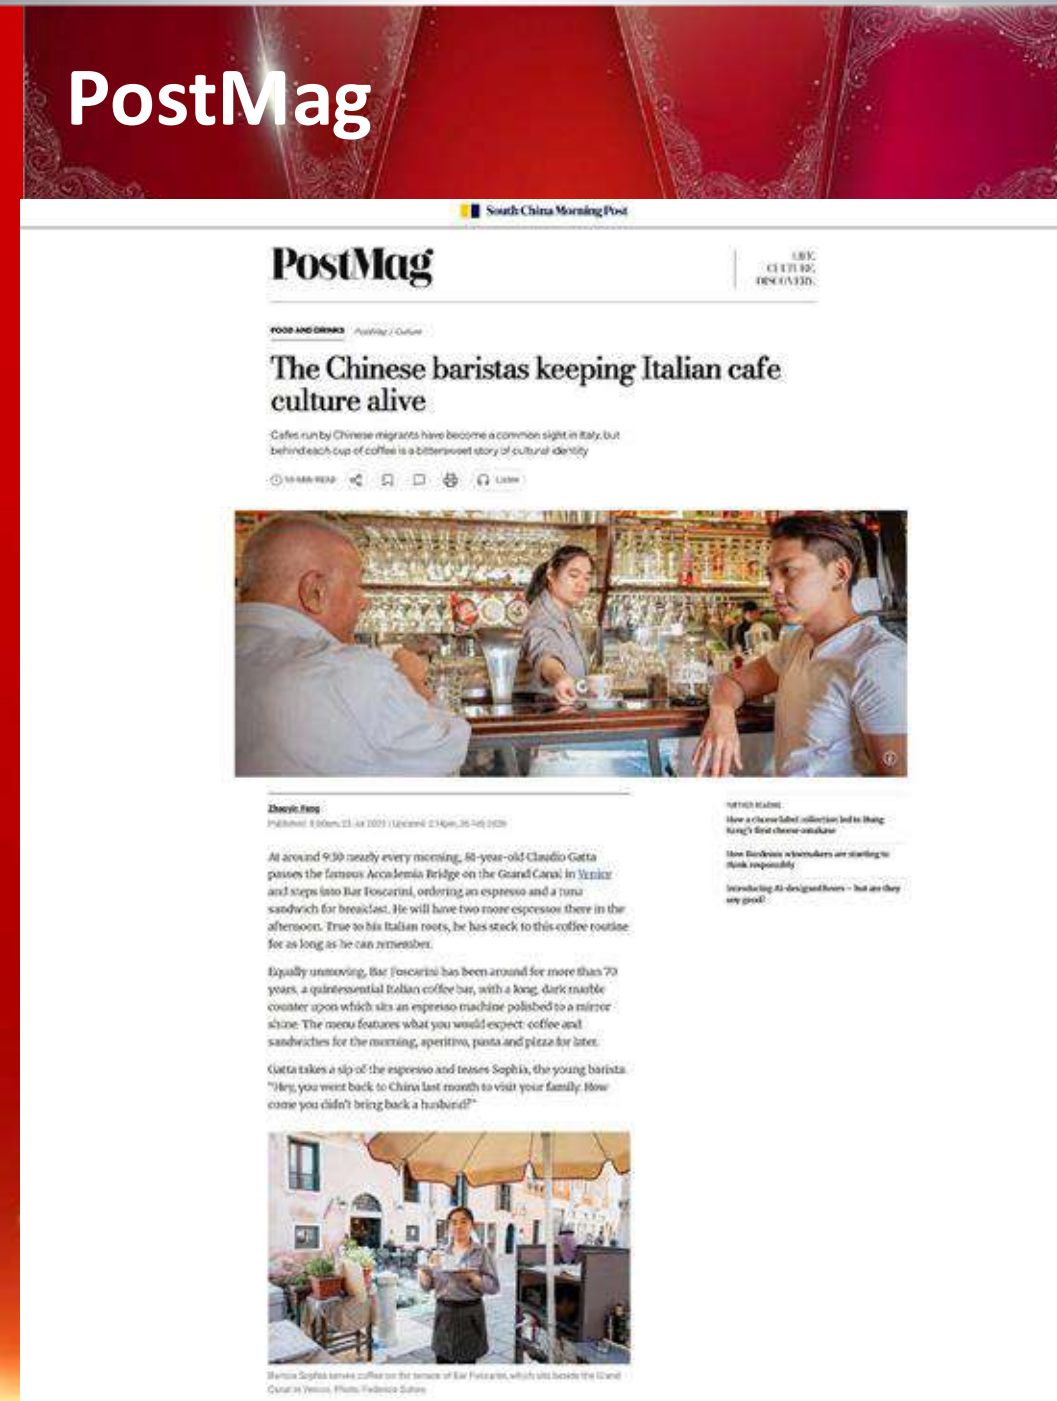

Many institutions gradually turned toward modern and contemporary artists whose work reflected a living Korea. It was a shift born of necessity, but soon coincided with a broader cultural tide: the global ascent of Korean popular culture, from K-pop to K-drama, which drew new attention to the country's creative landscape.

"International awareness of Korean contemporary art has been heightened by the explosion of pop culture over the last five to 10 years," Lee observed. "And the launch of Prince Seon in 2021 has brought an influx of people from the U.S., Europe and across Asia who've taken notice of the range of activities taking place in Korea."

Walking in tandem with this attention is the growing visibility of Koreans and members of the Korean diaspora across the global art world, from curators and collectors to board members shaping institutional decisions.

Honorable Mention

PostMag

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Regional)

PostMag

The Chinese baristas keeping Italian cafe culture alive

Frontier Myanmar

Killing creativity: The junta's cultural crusade

While suppressing political dissent, the junta is also trying to cleanse the arts of anything it judges harmful to Myanmar's traditional Buddhist culture, with LGBT themes the most recent target.

By BRUNNEN

At the awards ceremony known as Myanmar's "Oscar", junta leaders swapped criticism for traditional songs and requested 18 jokers to dismount as they sat on a propaganda show depicting shelling territory across the country.

Following a public commission order in the capital Nay Pyi Taw on the evening of February 5, junta Chief Senior General Min Aung Hlaing urged the Myanmar Shikha Future Academy Awards with a 20-minute speech laced with religious nationalism.

"I want to make a special request here that when you write films, make sure to present the fading and disappearance of Myanmar customs and traditions and protect the interests of foreign cultures. For the benefit of the country and the people, use your skills and talents with a national spirit," the senior general stressed.

The movie industry must work to eliminate the impact on young people of "social networks and unethical media", he added, in a set-to-speech reference to social media and artists.

Myanmar film and theater awards were then bestowed, accompanied by production of a new and old traditional theatrical performances dating from the royal era before British colonization. The show depicted a happy and prosperous Myanmar, despite the nationwide conflict and deep economic crisis triggered by the 2021 coup.

Min Aung Hlaing and his wife Daw Kyi Kyi Hla attended the entire five-hour event, broadcast on national television, leaving only when it concluded at midnight.

In reality, the yearly ceremony — suspended in 2021 after three missed years due to COVID-19 lockdowns and post-coup instability — has only served to highlight Myanmar's stark political and cultural divisions. Many actors and directors now work and live abroad to evade and support the resistance, while the regime is said to arrest to threats and threaten to lose some of those still in Myanmar to flee and evade the regime's crackdown.

PostMag

The Chinese baristas keeping Italian cafe culture alive

Cafes run by Chinese migrants have become a common sight in Italy, but behind each cup of coffee is a bittersweet story of cultural identity.

By ERIK REESE

Zoelei Fera
Published: 13 March 2023 | Updated: 2 March 2023 | 15 Feb 2023

At around 9:30 nearly every morning, 81-year-old Claudio Gatta passes the famous Accademia Bridge on the Grand Canal in Venice and steps into the Foscarini, ordering an espresso and a tuna sandwich for breakfast. He will have two more espresso there in the afternoon. True to his Italian roots, he has stuck to this coffee routine for as long as he can remember.

Equally unswerving, Bar Foscarini has been around for more than 70 years, a quintessential Italian coffee bar, with a long, dark marble counter upon which sits an espresso machine polished to a mirror shine. The items feature what you would expect: coffee and sandwiches for the morning, aperitivo, pasta and pizza for later.

Gatta takes a sip of the espresso and greets Sophia, the young barista. "Hey, you were back to China last month to visit your family. How come you didn't bring back a husband?"

HEAVENLY CREATIONS
How a Chinese label collection broke Wang Hong's first coffee machine

How Facebook whistleblowers are starting to think responsibly

Remember AI designed items - but are they any good?

Daria Sophia serves coffee in the interior of Bar Foscarini, which sits beside the Grand Canal in Venice. Photo: Francesco Sestini

The Korea Times

Korean Art Odyssey | Evolving face of Korean exhibitions on global stage

By Park Hyun-yeon
Published: March 14, 2023 12:00 AM KST | Updated: March 14, 2023 11:00 AM KST

Editor's note
This is the second installment in a six-part series exploring the current state and future of Korean art collections and galleries in museums around the world. The series is supported by the Press Foundation Fund of the Korea Press Foundation.

DENVER, Colo./SALEM, Mass. — During the 1990s and 2000s, a new era for Korean art began to unfold. With the vigorous support of the government-affiliated Korea Foundation (KF), the first major wave of permanent Korean galleries opened across museums in the United States.

Among them was the Arts of Korea Gallery at New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, inaugurated in 1998, where Soyoung Lee started her career as the museum's first curator of Korean art.

"During that period, a lot of the forward activities revolved around Korean collections that U.S. museums had already built, which were mostly pre-20th century," recalled Lee, who now helms the Asian Art Museum of San Francisco. This meant the KF and the National Museum of Korea helped drive the emphasis on the country's traditional art by acquiring loans, exhibitions, research and curatorial milestones.

Yet this momentum soon met its natural limits, Lee noted. The available body of pre-20th century Korean works was finite, even within Korea itself, and there were growing ethical concerns over what should — or should not — leave the country.

"It became clear quite quickly for U.S. museums that to expand their collections and programming, they couldn't keep acquiring traditional Korean art. There simply wasn't enough."

Many institutions gradually turned toward modern and contemporary artists whose work reflected a living Korea. It was a shift born of necessity, but soon coincided with a broader cultural tide: the global ascent of Korean popular culture, from K-pop to K-drama, which drew new attention to the country's creative landscape.

"International awareness of Korean contemporary art has been heightened by the explosion of pop culture over the last five to 10 years," Lee observed. "And the launch of Prince Seon in 2022 has brought an influx of people from the U.S., Europe and across Asia who've taken notice of the range of activities taking place in Korea."

Mixing in tandem with this attention is the growing visibility of Koreans and members of the Korean diaspora across the global art world, from curators and collectors to board members shaping institutional decisions.

Award for Excellence

Frontier Myanmar

Killing creativity: The junta's cultural crusade

While suppressing political dissent, the junta is also trying to cleanse the arts of anything it judges harmful to Myanmar's traditional Buddhist culture, with LGBT themes the most recent target.

By FRONTIER

At the awards ceremony known as Myanmar's "Oscar", junta leaders swapped satirical for traditional songs and employed 28 leaders to demonstrate their own will put on a propaganda show despite shocking territory across the country.

Following a public condemnation in the capital Nay Pyi Taw on the evening of February 5, junta chief Senior General Min Aung Hlaing approved the Myanmar Motion Picture Academy Awards with a 20-minute speech laud with religious nationalism.

"I want to make a special request here that when you make films, make sure to prevent the falling and disappearance of Myanmar customs and traditions and protect the interests of foreign investors. For the benefit of the country and the people, use your skills and talents with a national spirit," the senior general stated.

The music industry must work to eliminate the impact on young people of "social networks and unethical media", he added, in a not-so-subtle reference to social media influencers and artists.

Myanmar film and dubbing awards were then bestowed, accompanied by productions of ancient and folk traditional theatrical performances dating from the royal era before British colonization. The shows depicted religious and prewar Myanmar, despite the nationwide conflict and deep economic crisis triggered by the 2021 coup.

Min Aung Hlaing and his wife Dear Kye Yin also attended the entire five-hour event, broadcast on national television, leaving only when it concluded at midnight.

In reality the grand ceremony – suspended in 2021 after three years due to COVID-19 lockdowns and post-coup instability – has only served to highlight Myanmar's stark political and cultural divisions. While actors and directors now work and try to please to create and support the resistance, while the regime is said to insist on cinema and television to honor those of their still in Myanmar to create and receive the regime's accolades.

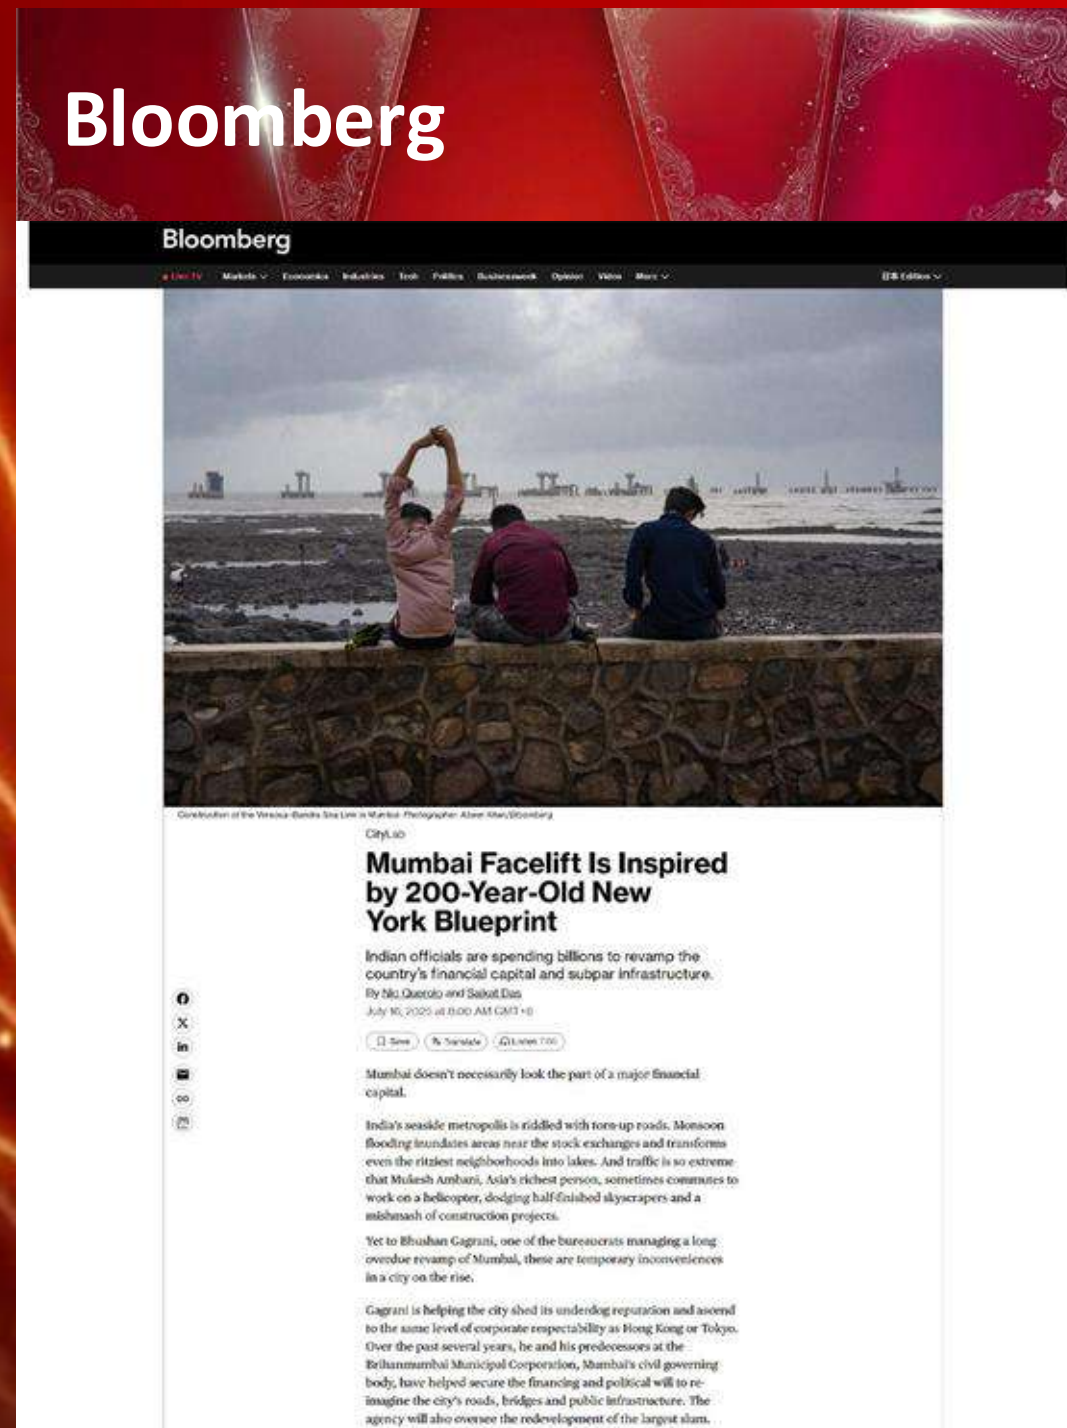

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Regional)

Frontier Myanmar

The junta's cultural crusade

Bloomberg

Mumbai Facelift Is Inspired by 200-Year-Old New York Blueprint

Indian officials are spending billions to revamp the country's financial capital and subpar infrastructure. By Niko Quezoto and Sakshi Das

July 10, 2025 at 8:00 AM GMT +8

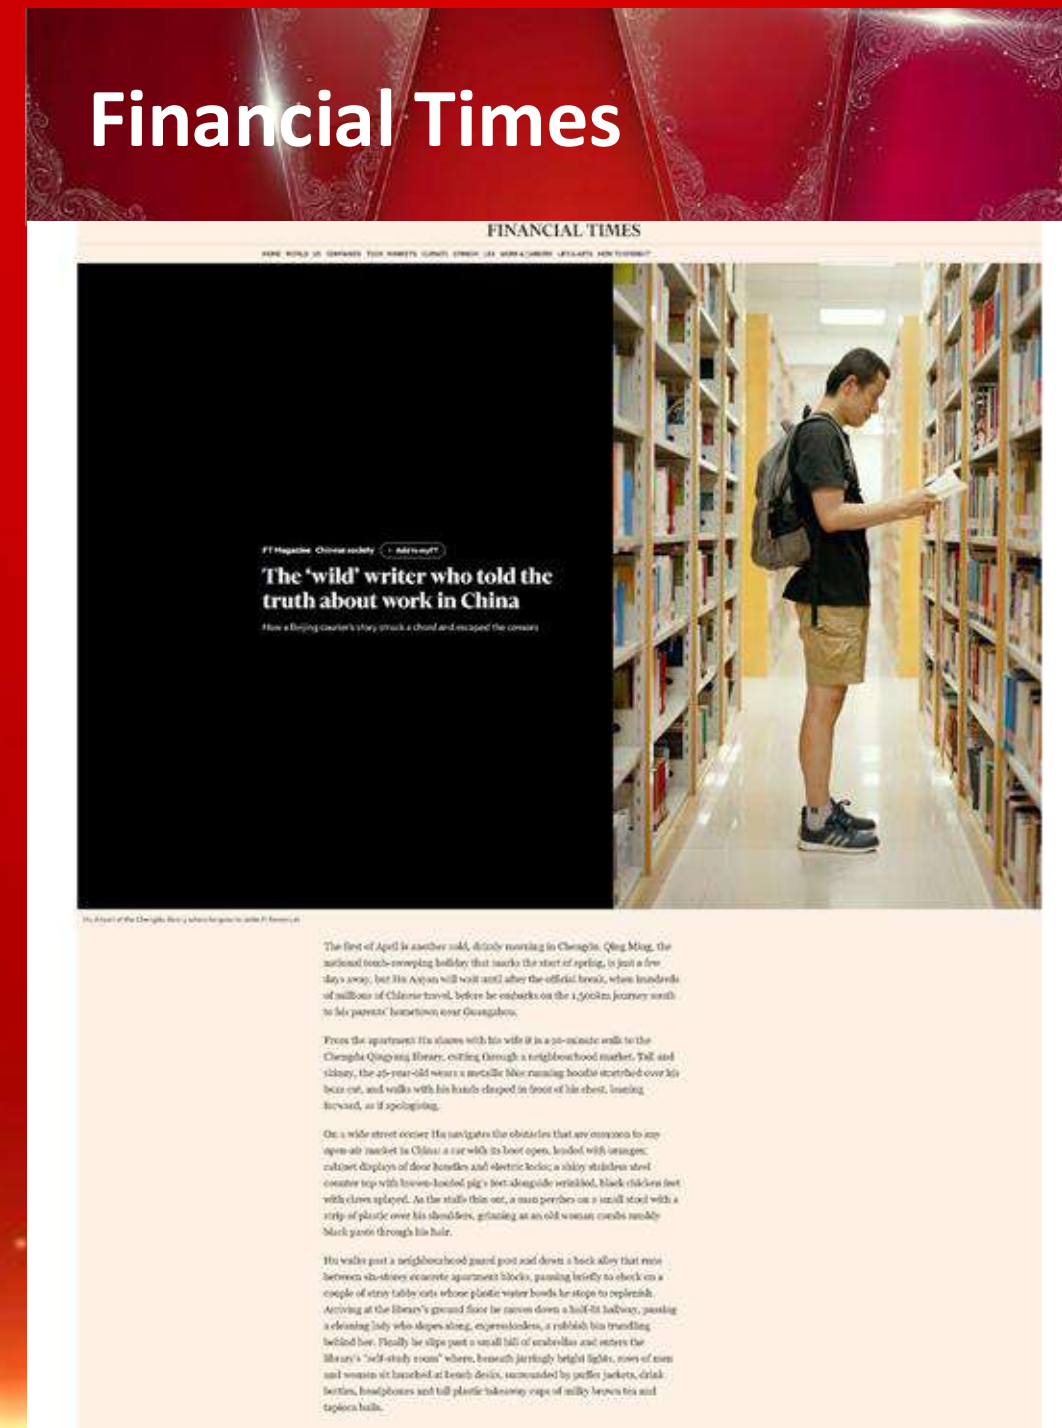

Mumbai doesn't necessarily look the part of a major financial capital.

India's seaside metropolis is riddled with torn-up roads. Monsoon flooding inundates areas near the stock exchanges and transforms even the ritziest neighborhoods into lakes. And traffic is so extreme that Mukesh Ambani, Asia's richest person, sometimes commutes to work on a helicopter, dodging half-finished skyscrapers and a mishmash of construction projects.

Yet to Bhushan Gagrani, one of the bureaucrats managing a long overdue revamp of Mumbai, these are temporary inconveniences in a city on the rise.

Gagrani is helping the city shed its underdog reputation and ascend to the same level of corporate respectability as Hong Kong or Tokyo. Over the past several years, he and his predecessors at the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation, Mumbai's civil governing body, have helped secure the financing and political will to re-imagine the city's roads, bridges and public infrastructure. The agency will also oversee the redevelopment of the largest slum.

Financial Times

The 'wild' writer who told the truth about work in China

How a Beijing novelist's gritty work shocked a crowd and escaped the censors

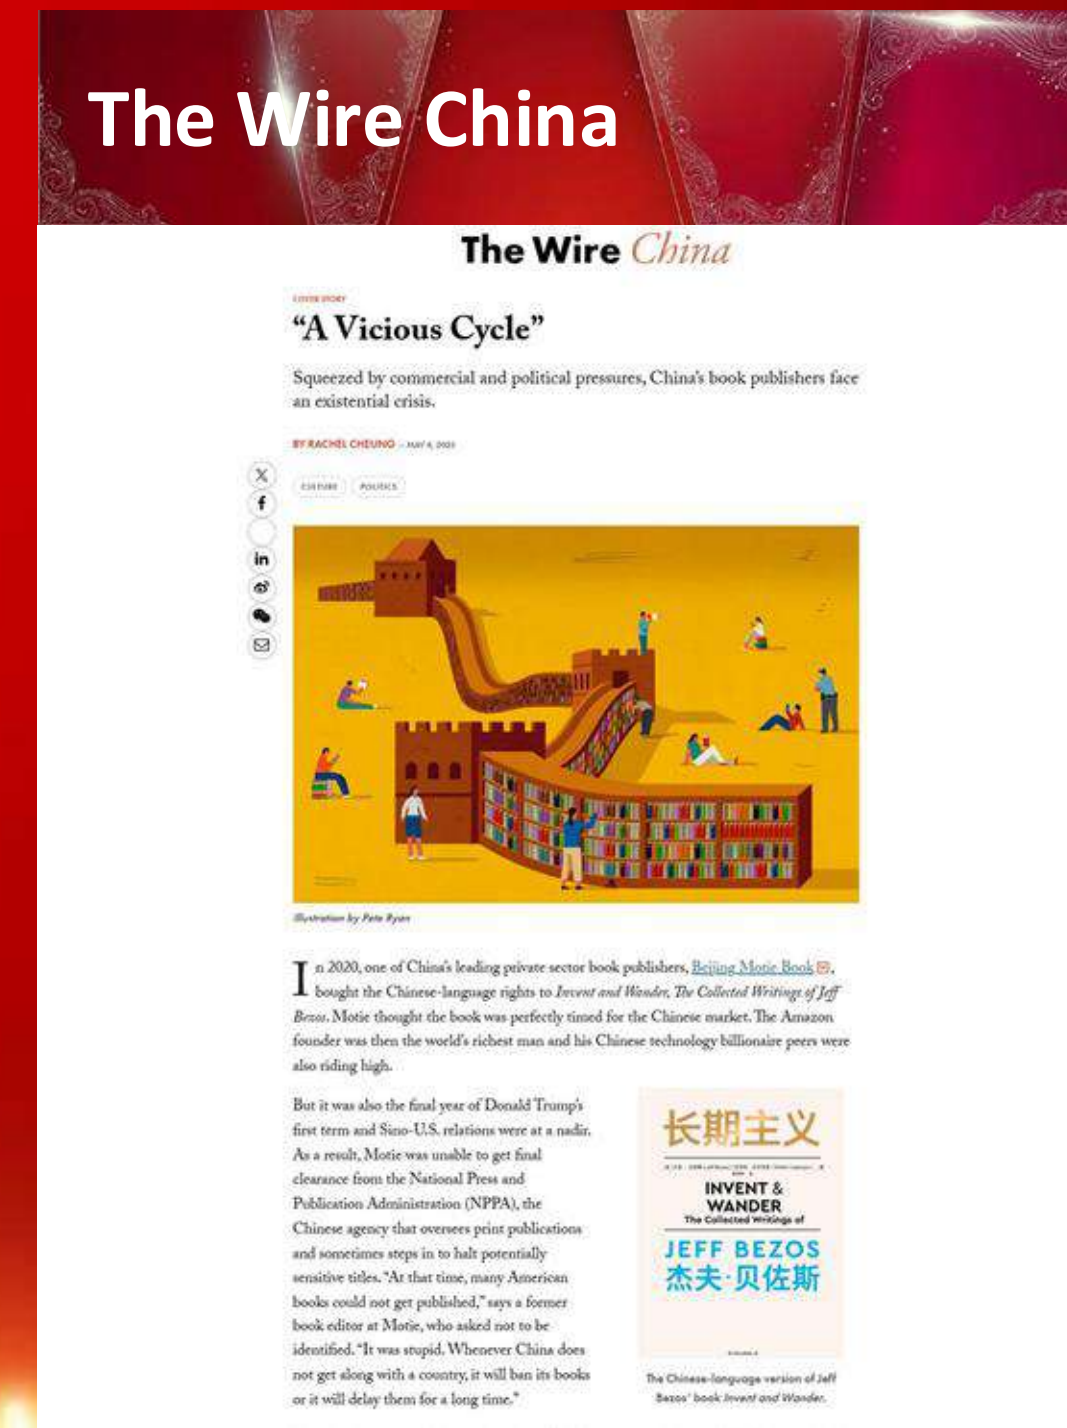

The first of April is another wild, drizzly morning in Chengde, Qing Ming, the national tomb-sweeping holiday that marks the start of spring, is just a few days away, but the April 1st will wait until after the official break, when hundreds of millions of Chinese travel, before he embarks on the 1,500km journey south to his parents' hometown near Guangzhou.

From the apartment He shares with his wife in a 20-storey walk to the Chengde Qingming Festival, cutting through a neighborhood market. Tall and lanky, the 25-year-old wears a metallic blue running hooded sweatshirt over his bare feet, and walks with his hands clasped in front of his chest, looking forward, as if apologizing.

On a wide street corner He navigates the obstacles that are common to any open-air market in China: a car with its boot open, loaded with oranges, colorful displays of fresh produce and electric bikes in a dizzy straddle and a counter top with brown-headed pig's feet alongside vegetable, black chicken feet with claws played. As the stalls thin out, a man perches on a small stool with a tray of plastic over his shoulders, grinning at an old woman who reaches inside Mark's pants through his hole.

He walks past a neighborhood parcel post and down a back alley that runs between six-storey concrete apartment blocks, pausing briefly to check on a couple of stray tabby cats whose plastic water bowls he stops to replenish. Arriving at the library's ground floor he crosses down a hallway, passing a cleaning lady who slopes along, expressionless, a rubbish bin trailing behind her. Finally he slips past a small hall of escalators and enters the library's "self-study room" where, beneath jerky high-bright lights, rows of rows and rows of bookshelves stretch to both levels, surrounded by paper jokers, dried-birds, hand-dresses and tall plastic tubs of ropes of woolly brown tea and plastic balls.

The Wire China

"A Vicious Cycle"

Squeezed by commercial and political pressures, China's book publishers face an existential crisis.

By RACHEL CHEUNG · July 6, 2025

CULTURE · POLITICS

Illustration by Peter Ryan

In 2020, one of China's leading private sector book publishers, Beijing Morie Books, bought the Chinese-language rights to Invent and Wander, The Collected Writings of Jeff Bezos. Morie thought the book was perfectly timed for the Chinese market. The Amazon founder was then the world's richest man and his Chinese technology billionaire peers were also riding high.

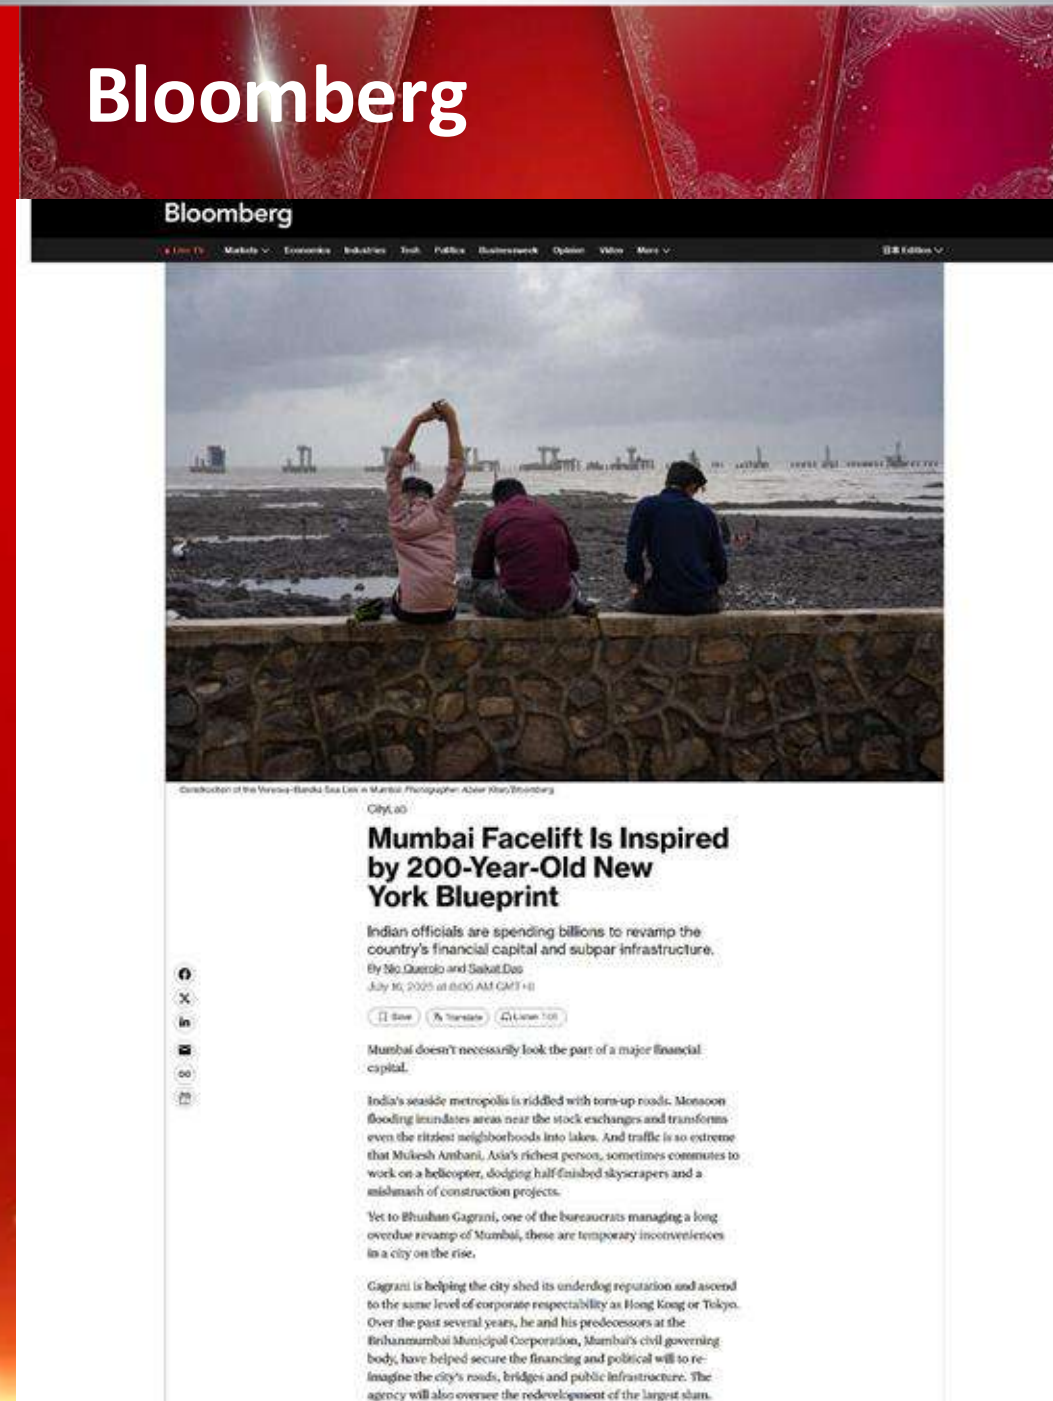

But it was also the final year of Donald Trump's first term and Sino-US relations were at a nadir. As a result, Morie was unable to get final clearance from the National Press and Publication Administration (NPPA), the Chinese agency that oversees print publications and sometimes steps in to halt potentially sensitive titles. "At that time, many American books could not get published," says a former book editor at Morie, who asked not to be identified. "It was stupid. Whenever China does not get along with a country, it will ban its books or it will delay them for a long time."

长期主义
INVENT & WANDER
The Collected Writings of
JEFF BEZOS
杰夫·贝佐斯

The Chinese-language version of Jeff Bezos' book Invent and Wander.

Honorable Mention

Bloomberg

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Global)

Bloomberg

Mumbai's Overhaul

Bloomberg

Mumbai Facelift Is Inspired by 200-Year-Old New York Blueprint

Indian officials are spending billions to revamp the country's financial capital and subpar infrastructure. By Niko Duroso and Sakshi Das

July 10, 2025 at 8:00 AM GMT +8

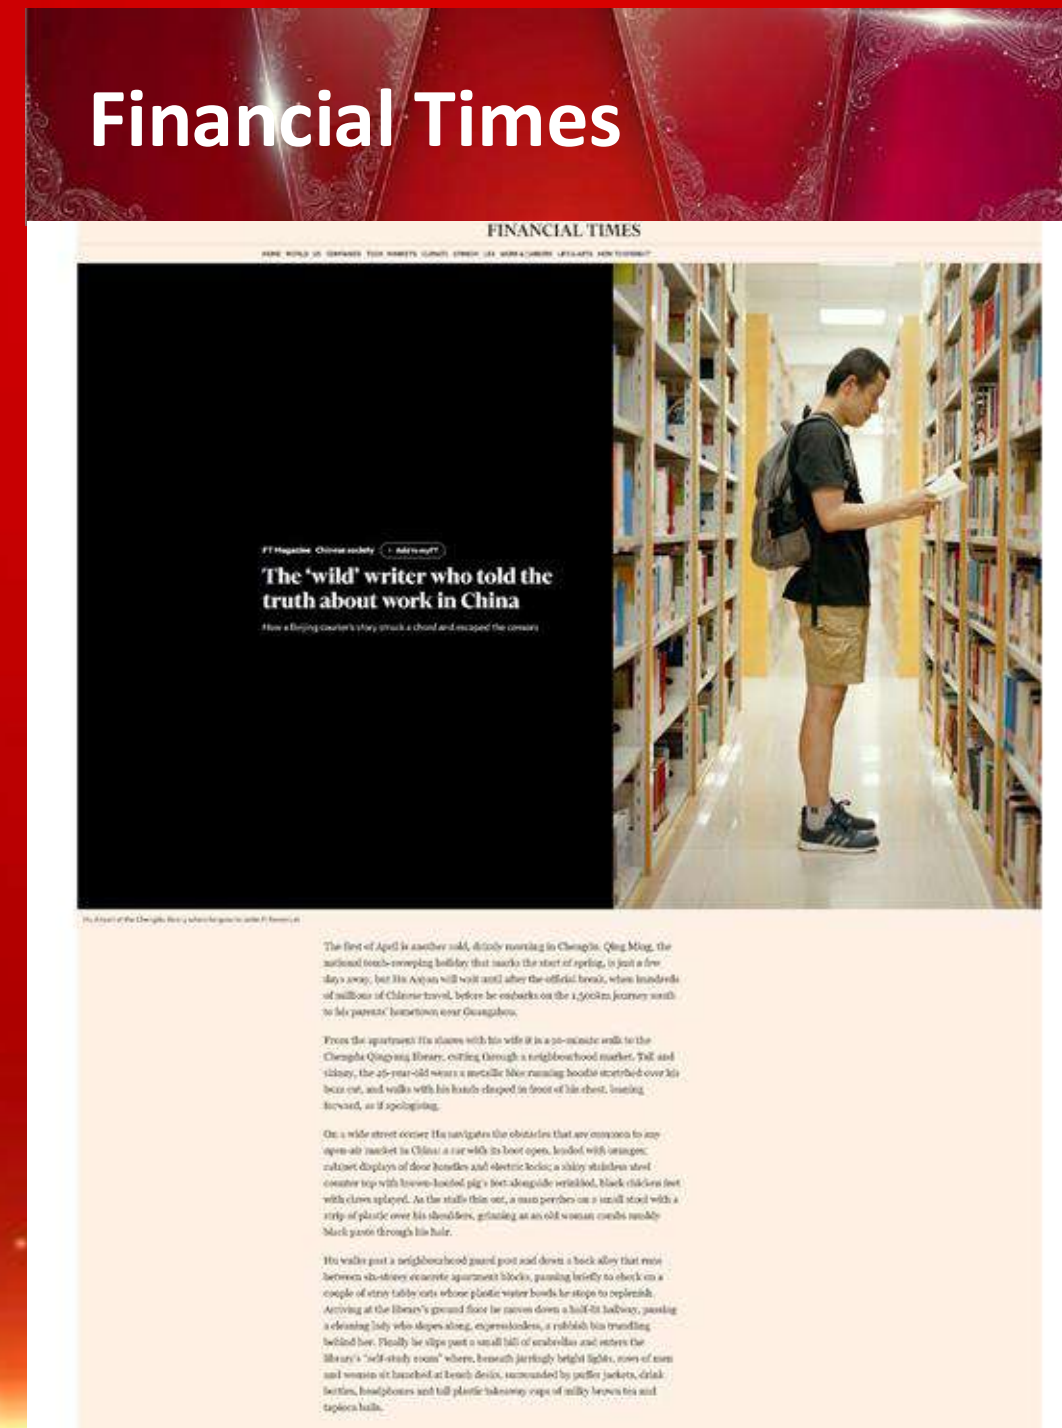

Mumbai doesn't necessarily look the part of a major financial capital.

India's seaside metropolis is riddled with torn-up roads. Monsoon flooding inundates areas near the stock exchanges and transforms even the ritziest neighborhoods into lakes. And traffic is so extreme that Mulesh Ambani, Asia's richest person, sometimes commutes to work on a helicopter, dodging half-finished skyscrapers and a mishmash of construction projects.

Yet to Bhushan Gagrani, one of the bureaucrats managing a long overdue revamp of Mumbai, these are temporary inconveniences in a city on the rise.

Gagrani is helping the city shed its underdog reputation and ascend to the same level of corporate respectability as Hong Kong or Tokyo. Over the past several years, he and his predecessors at the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation, Mumbai's civil governing body, have helped secure the financing and political will to re-imagine the city's roads, bridges and public infrastructure. The agency will also oversee the redevelopment of the largest slum.

Financial Times

The 'wild' writer who told the truth about work in China

How a Beijing novelist's gritty work shocked a crowd and escaped the censors

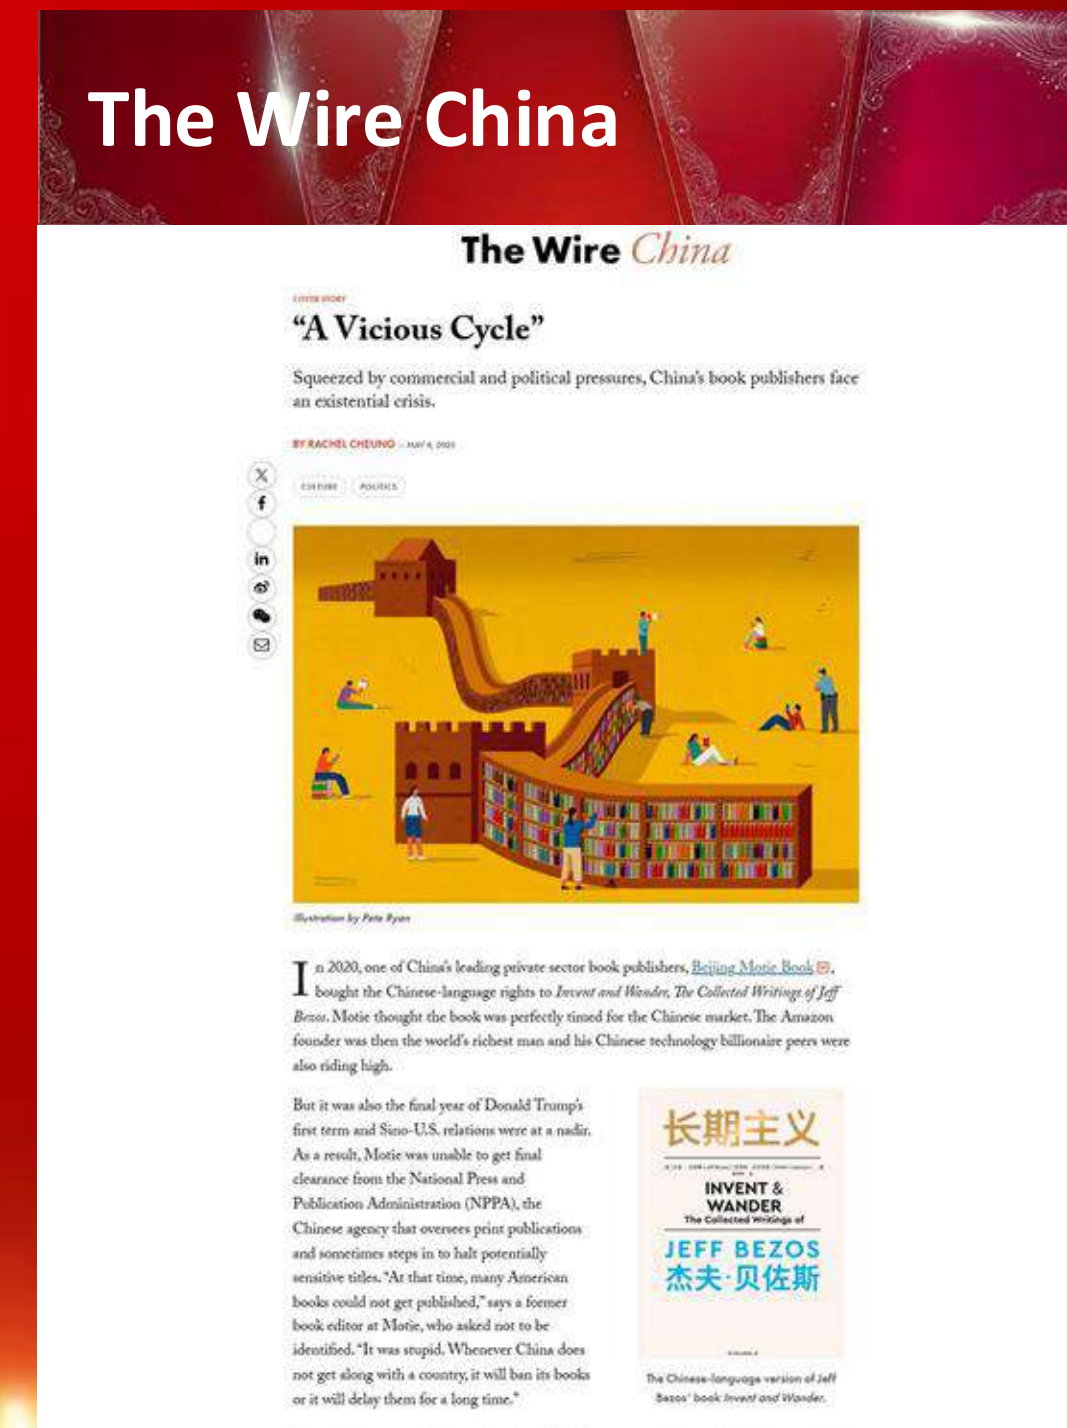

The first of April is another wild, drizzly morning in Chengde, Qing Ming, the national tomb-sweeping holiday that marks the start of spring, is just a few days away, but the April 1st will wait until after the official break, when hundreds of millions of Chinese travel, before he embarks on the 1,500km journey south to his parents' hometown near Guangzhou.

From the apartment He shares with his wife in a 20-storey walk to the Chengde Qingming Festival, cutting through a neighborhood market. Tall and lanky, the 25-year-old wears a metallic blue running hooded sweatshirt over his bare feet, and walks with his hands clasped in front of his chest, looking forward, as if apologizing.

On a wide street corner He navigates the obstacles that are common to any open-air market in China: a car with its boot open, loaded with oranges; colorful displays of fresh produce and electric bikes; a shiny stainless steel counter top with brown-handled pig's feet alongside vegetable, black chicken feet with claws attached. As the stalls thin out, a man perches on a small stool with a tray of plastic over his shoulders, grinning at an old woman who's ready to buy some through his hole.

He walks past a neighborhood parcel post and down a back alley that runs between six-storey concrete apartment blocks, pausing briefly to check on a couple of stray tabby cats whose plastic water bowls he stops to replenish. Arriving at the library's ground floor he crosses down a hallway, passing a cleaning lady who slopes along, expressionless, a rubbish bin trailing behind her. Finally he slips past a small hall of escalators and enters the library's "self-study room" where, beneath jerky high-bright lights, rows of rows and rows of bookshelves stretch to both levels, surrounded by paper jacks, desk-binders, headphones and tall plastic tubs of ropes of woolly brown tea and plastic balls.

The Wire China

"A Vicious Cycle"

Squeezed by commercial and political pressures, China's book publishers face an existential crisis.

By RACHEL CHEUNG · July 6, 2025

CULTURE · POLITICS

Illustration by Peter Ryan

In 2020, one of China's leading private sector book publishers, Beijing Morie Books, bought the Chinese-language rights to Invent and Wander, The Collected Writings of Jeff Bezos. Morie thought the book was perfectly timed for the Chinese market. The Amazon founder was then the world's richest man and his Chinese technology billionaire peers were also riding high.

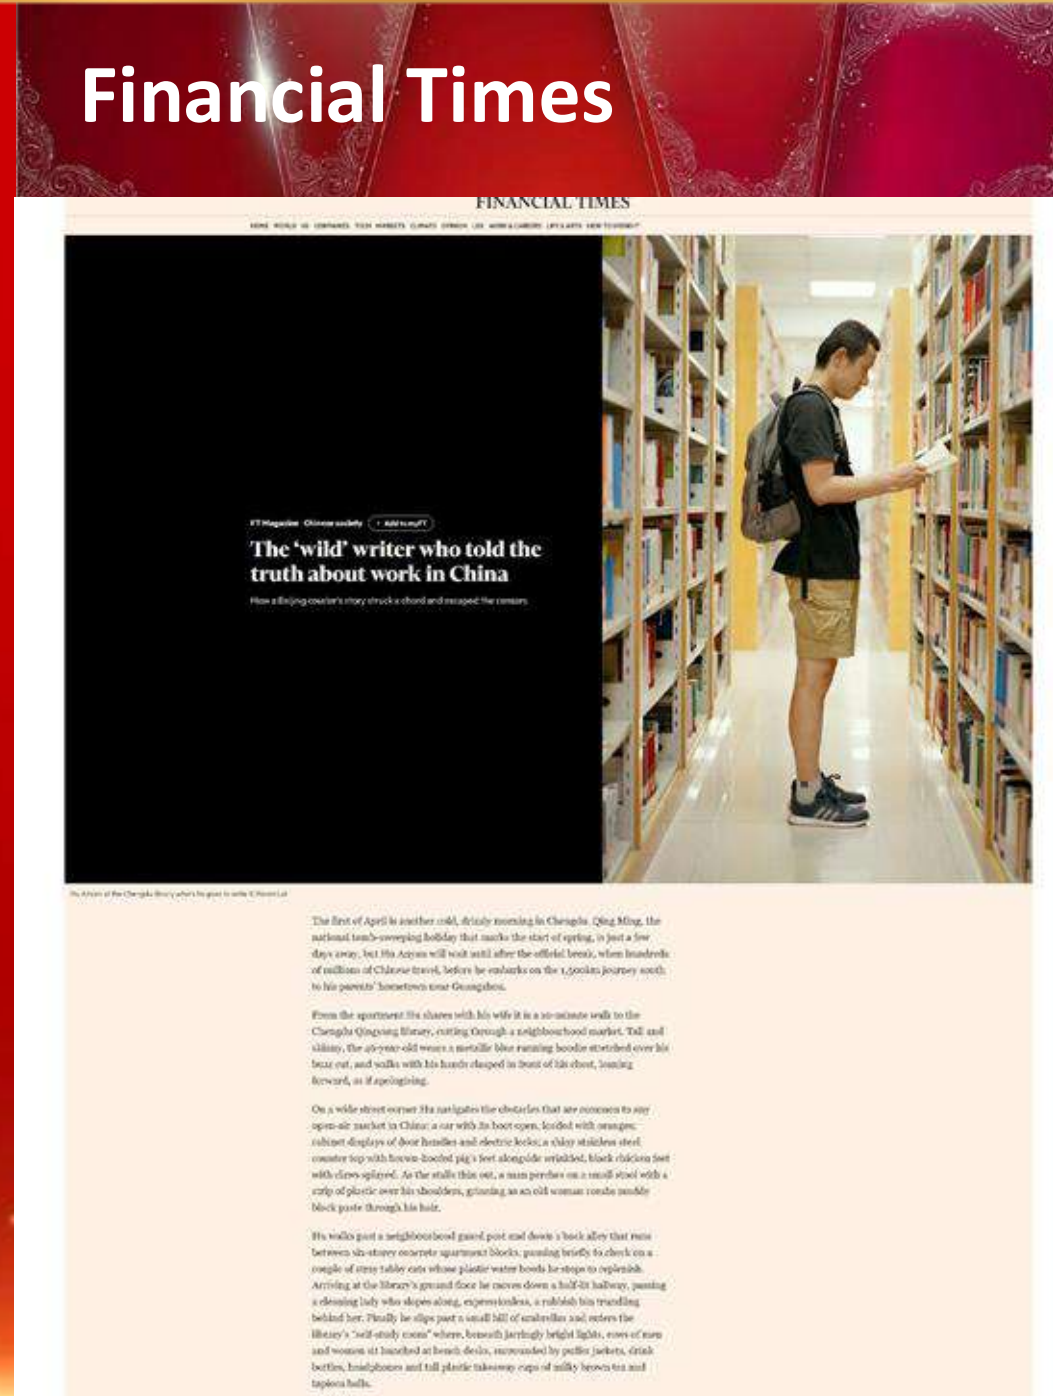

But it was also the final year of Donald Trump's first term and Sino-US relations were at a nadir. As a result, Morie was unable to get final clearance from the National Press and Publication Administration (NPPA), the Chinese agency that oversees print publications and sometimes steps in to halt potentially sensitive titles. "At that time, many American books could not get published," says a former book editor at Morie, who asked not to be identified. "It was stupid. Whenever China does not get along with a country, it will ban its books or it will delay them for a long time."

长期主义
INVENT & WANDER
The Collected Writings of
JEFF BEZOS
杰夫·贝佐斯

The Chinese-language version of Jeff Bezos' book Invent and Wander.

Award for Excellence

Financial Times

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Arts and Culture Reporting (Global)

Financial Times

The 'wild' writer who told the truth about work in China

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting (Penghargaan Karya Jurnalistik Kategori Bahasa Indonesia)

A single award for stories with demonstrable impact that set the domestic agenda in politics, business, or social/cultural affairs.

Presenter:
Harry Surjadi
Bahasa Head Judge

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting (Penghargaan Karya Jurnalistik Kategori Bahasa Indonesia)

Konde.co

WOMEN, HUMANITARIAN, & INTERSECTION

Home | Voices | Edisi Khusus | English Section

November 20, 2025 | AI, disinformasi, XBQC, kekerasan berbasis gender online, ksbe, misinformasi, Stop Misogini Teknologi

Stop Misogini Teknologi: Rantai Panjang Serangan Siber dan Disinformasi Berbasis Gender

Disinformasi menyasar tubuh perempuan. Para pelaku menggunakan isu tubuh dan moralitas perempuan sebagai pintu masuk. Informasi palsu ini menyatakan bagaimana perempuan "seharusnya" bersikap, berbicara dan berpakaian. Survei Konde.co pada 3–10 November 2025 mengungkap hal ini.

© Luthfi Maulana Adhbi

Mongabay Indonesia

Fitur | Video | Podcast | Spesial | Artikel | Donasi

Penjaga Hutan Halmahera Tersingkir Industri Nikel

Irfan Maulana | 19 Nov 2025 | Halmahera | Daerah Nelayan

- Masih menyediakan memasak Orang Tobei. Dalam adat O'Hongana Manyawa atau O'Hongana Manyawa, masyarakat adat yang mendiami hutan Halmahera di Maluku Utara. Hari demi hari, ruang hidup mereka terus terancam oleh industri nikel dan tambang yang kian meluas.
- Masyarakat Adat O'Hongana Manyawa yang dulu hidup dan berburu kini sudah alami kesulitan kala hutan-hutan mereka mulai mengilang. Bahan pangan pun berubah, dulu semua mereka dapatkan dari hutan, kini sebagian dari luar, seperti beras, pemberian perusahaan tambang.
- Dahlan, ada Masyarakat Adat O'Hongana Manyawa yang pemerintah bantukan pemukiman di desa. Rados, Simanguntak, Dosen Universitas Halmahera menilai, program pemukiman kembali sebagai bagian dari upaya mengentaskan Masyarakat O'Hongana Manyawa karena ada kekawatiran saat perusahaan mengakses hutan.
- Konflik Masyarakat O'Hongana Manyawa eskalasi ke tingkat ketika belum mendapat pengakuan dan perlindungan dari negara. Konflik ini berdampak hak-hak mereka terabaikan, antara lain, hak tanah adat. Masyarakat Caroline, Ketua Adhokas Perempuan Masyarakat Adat Nusantara (PRAWA) mengatakan, "MAMN sudah berupaya mendorong pengakuan dan perlindungan melalui dorongan pembentukan Peraturan Daerah (Perda) tentang Pengakuan dan Perlindungan Masyarakat Adat O'Hongana Manyawa. Sayangnya, upaya itu selalu mentah ketika berhadapan dengan pemerintah setempat."

Project Multatuli

Melayani yang Dipinggirkan

Pembunuhan Affan Kurniawan: Sebuah Kegilaan di Jalan Penjernihan

Sebuah helm ojol diletakkan di atas nisan sebuah makam di TPU Karet Bivak, Jakarta, saat pemakaman Affan Kurniawan yang dibunuh polisi. (Project M/Adrian Mulya)

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting (Penghargaan Karya Jurnalistik Kategori Bahasa Indonesia)

Honorable Mention

Mongabay Indonesia

MONGABAY

Filter Video Podcast Spesial Artikel Donasi

Penjaga Hutan Halmahera Tersingkir Industri Nikel

Irfan Maulana
11 Sep 2021 Halmahera Domestik News

Komentar Bagikan artikel

- Nisih menyedihkan melihat Orang Tobeo Dalam atau O'Kongana Manyara atau O'Kongana Manyara, masyarakat adat yang mendiami hutan Halmahera di Maluku Utara. Hari demi hari, ruang hidup mereka terus tergerus karena ada industri nikel dari tambang sampai kawasan industri.
- Masyarakat Adat O'Kongana Manyara yang dulu hidup dari meramu dan berburu kini sudah alami kesulitan kala hutan-hutan mereka mulai menghiang. Bahan pangan pun berubah, dulu semua mereka dapatkan dari hutan, kini sebagian dari luar, seperti beras, pemberian perusahaan tambang.
- Bahkan, ada Masyarakat Adat O'Kongana Manyara yang pemerintah bikin pemukiman di desa. Radio Sinanjatak, Dosen Universitas Halmahera menilai, program pemukiman-kembali sebagai bagian dari upaya mengentaskan Masyarakat O'Kongana Manyara karena ada inkonsistensi saat perusahaan mengkasus hutan.
- Kondisi Masyarakat O'Kongana Manyara makin buruk ketika belum mendapat pengakuan dan perlindungan dari negara. Kondisi ini berdampak baik baik mereka terakumulasi, antara lain, baik tanah adat, Halmahera Carolina. Ketua Adikasta Pembela Masyarakat Adat Halmahera (PPHMA) mengatakan, AMAN sudah berupaya mendorong pengakuan dan perlindungan melalui dorongan pembentakan Peraturan Daerah (Perda) tentang Pengakuan dan Perlindungan Masyarakat Adat O'Kongana Manyara. Sayangnya, upaya itu selalu mentah ketika berhadapan dengan pemerintah setempat.

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting

Mongabay Indonesia

Sisi Gelap Hilirisasi Nikel Indonesia: Krisis Lingkungan dan Ancaman bagi Masyarakat Adat di Halmahera/The Dark Side of Indonesia's Nickel Downstreaming: Environmental and Indigenous Crisis in Halmahera

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting (Penghargaan Karya Jurnalistik Kategori Bahasa Indonesia)

Konde.co

WOMEN, HUMANITARIAN, & INTERSECTION

Home | Voices | Edisi Khusus | English Section

November 20, 2025 | AI, disinformasi, XBQC, kekerasan berbasis gender online, ksbe, misinformasi, Stop Misogini Teknologi

Stop Misogini Teknologi: Rantai Panjang Serangan Siber dan Disinformasi Berbasis Gender

Disinformasi menyasar tubuh perempuan. Para pelaku menggunakan isu tubuh dan moralitas perempuan sebagai pintu masuk. Informasi palsu ini menyatakan bagaimana perempuan "seharusnya" bersikap, berbicara dan berpakaian. Survei Konde.co pada 3-10 November 2025 mengungkap hal ini.

© Luthfi Maulana Adhbi

Mongabay Indonesia

Fitur | Video | Podcast | Spesial | Artikel | Donasi

Penjaga Hutan Halmahera Tersingkir Industri Nikel

Irfan Maulana | 19 Nov 2025 | Halmahera | Daerah Nelayan

- Masih menyediakan memasak Orang Toba. Dalam adat O'Hongana Manyawa atau O'Hongana Manyawa, masyarakat adat yang mendiami hutan Halmahera di Maluku Utara. Hari demi hari, ruang hidup mereka terus terancam oleh industri nikel dan tambang yang kian meluas.
- Masyarakat Adat O'Hongana Manyawa yang dulu hidup dan berburu kini sudah alami kesulitan kala hutan-hutan mereka mulai mengilang. Elahan pangan pun berubah, dulu semua mereka dapatkan dari hutan, kini sebagian dari luar, seperti beras, pembenihan perusahaan tambang.
- Dahlan, ada Masyarakat Adat O'Hongana Manyawa yang pemerintah bantukan pemukiman di desa. Rados, Simanguntak, Dosen Universitas Halmahera menilai, program pemukiman kembali sebagai bagian dari upaya mengentaskan Masyarakat O'Hongana Manyawa karena ada kekawatiran saat perusahaan mengakses hutan.
- Konflik Masyarakat O'Hongana Manyawa eskalasi ke tingkat ketika belum mendapat pengakuan dan perlindungan dari negara. Konflik ini berdampak hak-hak mereka terabaikan, antara lain, hak tanah adat. Masyarakat Caroline, Ketua Adhokas Perempuan Masyarakat Adat Nusantara (PRAWA) mengatakan, "MAMH sudah berupaya mendorong pengakuan dan perlindungan melalui dorongan pembentukan Peraturan Daerah (Perda) tentang Pengakuan dan Perlindungan Masyarakat Adat O'Hongana Manyawa. Sayangnya, upaya itu selalu mentah ketika berhadapan dengan pemerintah setempat."

Project Multatuli

Melayani yang Dipinggirkan

Pembunuhan Affan Kurniawan: Sebuah Kegilaan di Jalan Penjernihan

Sebuah helm ojol diletakkan di atas nisan sebuah makam di TPU Karet Bivak, Jakarta, saat pemakaman Affan Kurniawan yang dibunuh polisi. (Project M/Adrian Mulya)

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting (Penghargaan Karya Jurnalistik Kategori Bahasa Indonesia)

Award for Excellence

Project Multatuli

Pembunuhan Affan Kurniawan: Sebuah Kegilaan di Jalan Penjernihan

Sebuah helm ojol diletakkan di atas nisan sebuah makam di TPU Karet Bivak, Jakarta, saat pemakaman Affan Kurniawan yang dibunuh polisi. (Project M/Adrian Mulya)

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Bahasa Indonesia News Reporting

Project Multatuli

Serial #DaruratKekerasanAparat/ #PoliceViolenceEmergency Series

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting 卓越解釋性報道獎

Honoring the work that demonstrates high standards of reporting, writing and in-depth analysis to explain a topic of significance.

Presenter:
Bill Ridgers
The Economist

Initium Media
端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media
香港世紀大火 香港 公共政策

解讀 | 香港世紀大火：大埔宏福苑五級火至少44死，為何大火？如何救火？
警方以「鎖匙」拘捕3名男子。

2025年11月26日晚上，香港大埔宏福苑嚴重的五級火勢仍未撲滅。攝：林振東/端傳媒

香港大埔宏福苑於11月26日下午發生近年罕見嚴重的五級火、波及7座大樓。根據香港時間27日凌晨5點48分的最新救援簡報：至7點發稿前，火災新增72位死傷者，包括1名殉職消防員在內的至少44人死亡，其中40人於現場發現時死亡，另有4人在送醫過程中死亡；有至少279人失蹤；傷者大多因火場熱空氣造成吸入性氣道創傷，在深切治療部靠呼吸機治療；另有人燒傷，或一氧化碳中毒；有找到生還者。

Initium Media
端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media
人權 公民社會 媒體

香港傳媒大亨黎智英的自辯：回應勾結與煽動，主問作供27天紀錄
庭上，黎回應國際聯繫、解釋與壹光團隊關係，討論報導是否煽動等，也講述自己的一生。

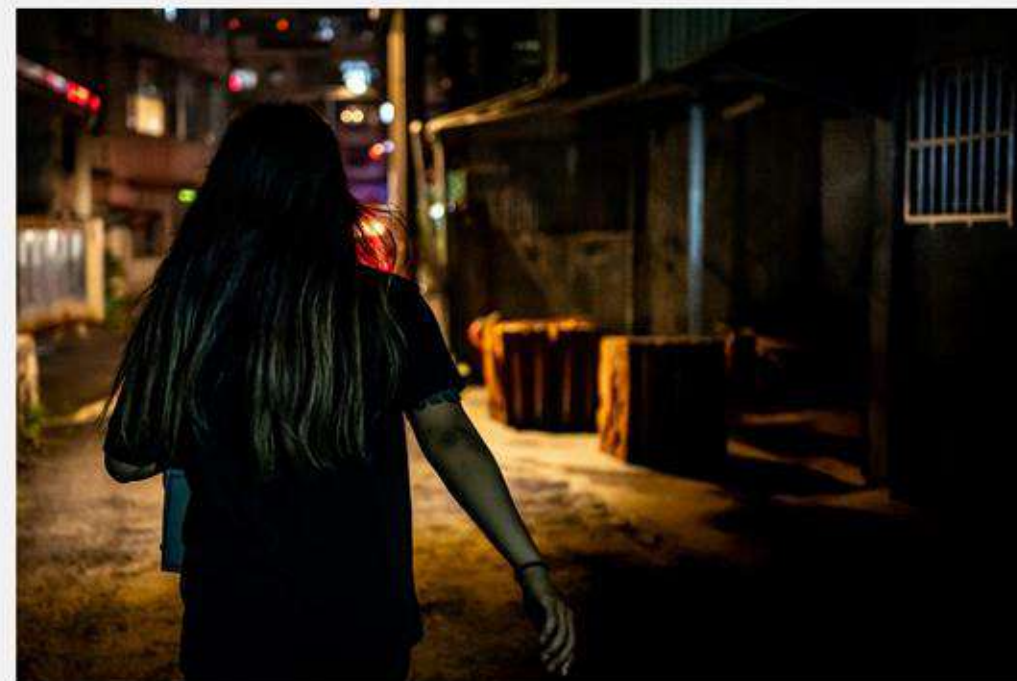

圖：Mantha Mok / 端傳媒

2024年12月6日星期五，早上近10點，香港西九龍法院大樓3號法庭，《壹傳媒》、《蘋果日報》（下稱《蘋果》）創辦人黎智英，在三名獄警的陪同下進入法庭。這是他及《蘋果》相關3間公司被控「串謀勾結外國勢力」等罪名案中，他作供的第12日。案件自2023年12月18日開審，已是近一年前。

The Reporter
報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER
廢墟少年二部曲
後疫情與網路時代的變化
重回「廢墟少年」現場：那些深淵邊緣的孩子，與接住他們的人

語欣（化名）因物質成癮的母親在她未滿16歲時用她的手機販賣毒品，讓語欣以幫助犯被起訴。近一年的法庭審理，就在上個月，法官認為語欣在破碎家庭長大，家庭管教功能無法發揮，目前有穩定工作下，判她刑罰2年6個月，緩刑4年，社工們直呼「把人救下來了」。（攝影／陳曉暉）

Honorable Mention

Initium Media
端傳媒

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

從自辯到判罪，黎智英案法庭全紀錄

Initium Media 端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media
香港世紀大火 香港 公共政策

解讀 | 香港世紀大火：大埔宏福苑五級火至少44死，為何大火？如何救火？

警方以「鎖匙」拘捕3名男子。

2025年11月26日晚上，香港大埔宏福苑嚴重的五級火勢仍未撲滅。攝：林振東/端傳媒

香港大埔宏福苑於11月26日下午發生近年罕見嚴重的五級火、波及7座大樓。根據香港時間27日凌晨5點48分的最新救援簡報：至7點發稿前，火災新增72位死傷者，包括1名殉職消防員在內的至少44人死亡，其中40人於現場發現時死亡，另有4人在送醫過程中死亡；有至少279人失蹤；傷者大多因火場熱空氣造成吸入性氣道創傷，在深切治療部靠呼吸機治療；另有人燒傷，或一氧化碳中毒；有找到生還者。

Initium Media 端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media
人權 公民社會 媒體

香港傳媒大亨黎智英的自辯：回應勾結與煽動，主問作供27天紀錄

庭上，黎回應國際聯繫、解釋與壹光團隊關係，討論報導是否煽動等，也講述自己的一生。

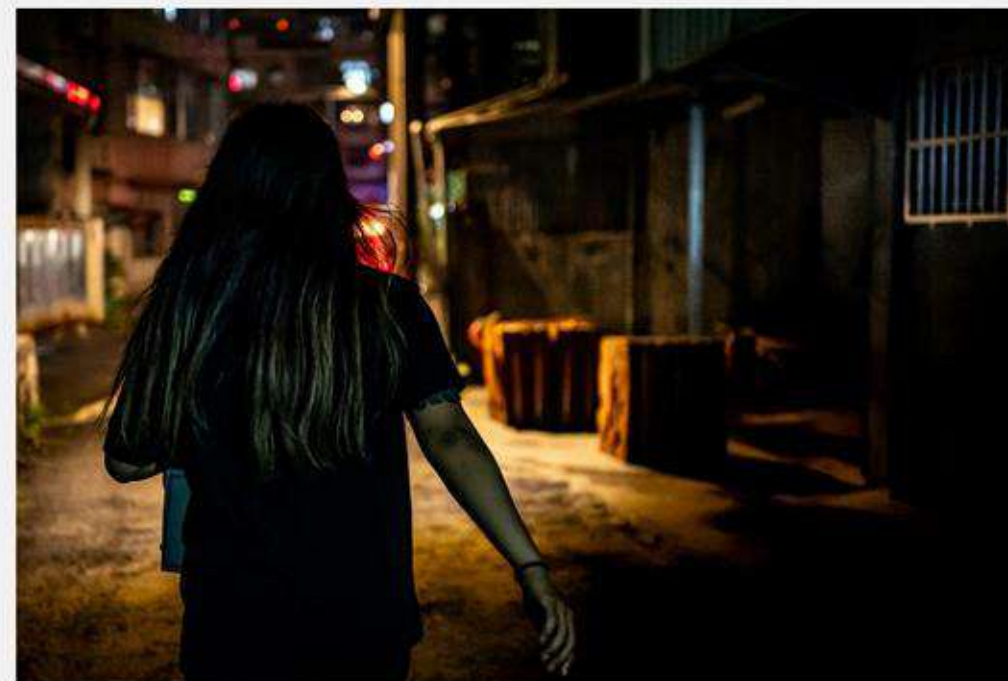

圖：Mantha Mok / 端傳媒

2024年12月6日星期五，早上近10點，香港西九龍法院大樓3號法庭，《壹傳媒》、《蘋果日報》（下稱《蘋果》）創辦人黎智英，在三名獄警的陪同下進入法庭。這是他及《蘋果》相關3間公司被控「串謀勾結外國勢力」等罪名案中，他作供的第12日。案件自2023年12月18日開審，已是近一年前。

The Reporter 報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER
廢城少年二部曲
後疫情與網路時代的變化

重回「廢城少年」現場：那些深淵邊緣的孩子，與接住他們的人

語欣（化名）因物質成癮的母親在她未滿16歲時用她的手機販賣毒品，讓語欣以幫助犯被起訴。近一年的法庭審理，就在上個月，法官認為語欣在破碎家庭長大，家庭管教功能無法發揮，目前有穩定工作下，判她刑罰2年6個月，緩刑4年，社工們直呼「把人救下來了」。（攝影／陳曉暉）

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Chinese) 卓越解釋性報道獎

Award for Excellence

Initium Media
端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

香港世紀大火 香港 公共政策

解讀 | 香港世紀大火：大埔宏福苑五級火至少44死，為何大火？如何救火？

警方以「誤殺」拘捕3名男子。

2025年11月26日晚上，香港大埔宏福苑嚴重的五級火火勢仍未撲滅。攝：林振興/端傳媒

香港大埔宏福苑於11月26日下午發生近年罕見嚴重的五級火、波及7座大樓。根據香港時間27日凌晨5點48分的最新救援簡報：至7點發稿前，火災新增72位死傷者，包括1名殉職消防員在內的至少44人死亡，其中40人於現場發現時死亡，另有4人在送醫過程中死亡；有至少279人失蹤；傷者大多因火場熱空氣造成吸入性氣道創傷，在深切治療部靠呼吸機治療；另有人燒傷，或一氧化碳中毒；有找到生還者。

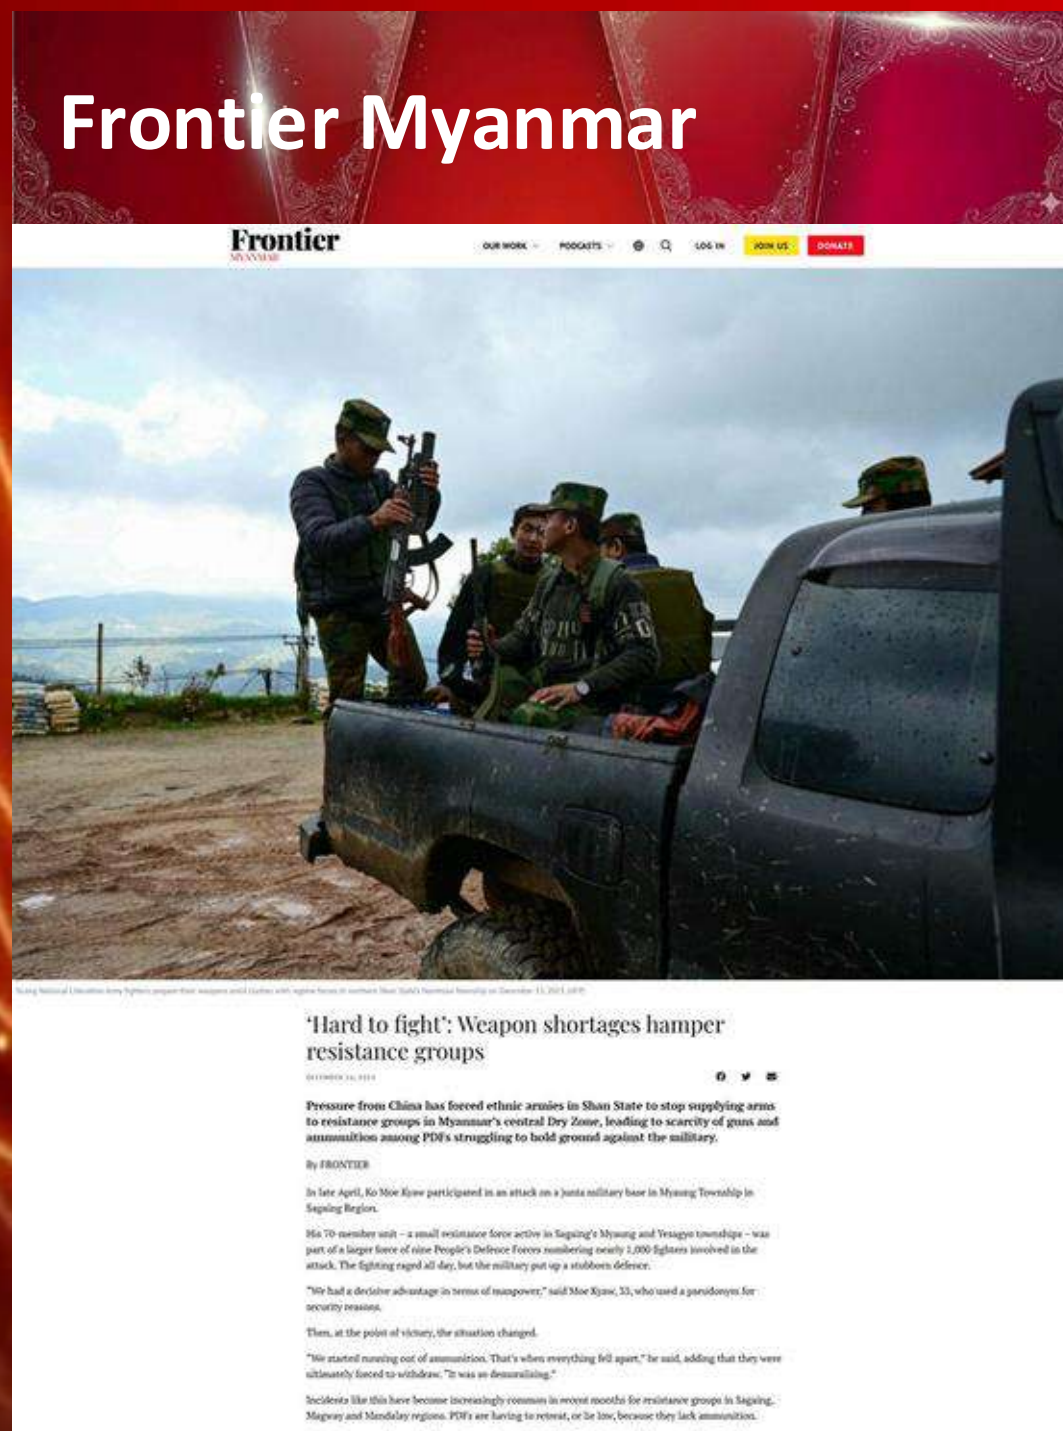

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

香港世紀大火：解讀報導系列

Frontier Myanmar

Frontier OUR WORK PODCASTS LOG IN JOIN US DONATE

'Hard to fight': Weapon shortages hamper resistance groups

Pressure from China has forced ethnic armies in Shan State to stop supplying arms to resistance groups in Myanmar's central Dry Zone, leading to scarcity of guns and ammunition among PDFs struggling to hold ground against the military.

By FRONTIER

In late April, Ko Nio Kyan participated in an attack on a junta military base in Mying Township in Sagaing Region.

The 70-member unit — a small resistance force active in Sagaing's Mying and Wazun townships — was part of a larger force of ethnic People's Defence Force members numbering nearly 2,000 fighters involved in the attack. The fighting raged all day, but the military put up a stubborn defence.

"We had a decisive advantage in terms of manpower," said Nio Kyan, 33, who used a pseudonym for security reasons.

Then, at the point of victory, the situation changed.

"We started running out of ammunition. That's when everything fell apart," he said, adding that they were ultimately forced to withdraw. "It was an demoralising."

Incidents like this have become increasingly common in recent months for resistance groups in Sagaing, Magway and Mandalay regions. PDFs are having to retreat, or lie low, because they lack ammunition.

Project Multatuli English

PROJECT MULTATULI
Majalah yang Berpikir

A Lopsided War: 83,000 Soldiers and Police Powering Indonesia's Violent Agenda in Papua

Made Supriatma & Fahri Salam
Friday, 5 December 2025
Editor: Viriya Singgh

The militarization of Papua amid a violence-based development agenda. (Project M/Mohammad Ikbai)

Soldiers and police have increasingly encroached on Papuans' daily lives, not only to maintain security but also to advance a development agenda built on violence.

For more than half a century, armed conflict has raged in Papua. Throughout this period, the Indonesian government has conducted military operations, deploying tens of thousands of soldiers and police to a lopsided war it still cannot win.

To understand the current situation, we must look back to 1969, when the western part of New Guinea officially became Indonesian territory following the Act of Free Choice, known locally as Pepera. Many Papuans, however, refer to it as "the act of no choice" because Indonesian military and intelligence forces marred the process with intimidation and manipulation.

The New Order military regime, which had recently come to power, persuaded the United Nations and Western governments that the Papua issue should be resolved through "deliberation toward consensus". The regime claimed that most Papuans were uneducated and therefore unfit to make such a decision.

The Straits Times

THE STRAITS TIMES

Cheap Chinese goods are flooding South-east Asia. Can the region turn the tide?

Be it cabinets or clothes, cut-throat rivalry from China is disrupting local businesses and livelihoods. Insight surveys the damage and asks what's next.

Sign up now: Get insights on the biggest stories in Malaysia

Malaysia's furniture producers such as Natural Signature founder Candice Lim (right) are being forced to contend with increasingly stiff competition from China.

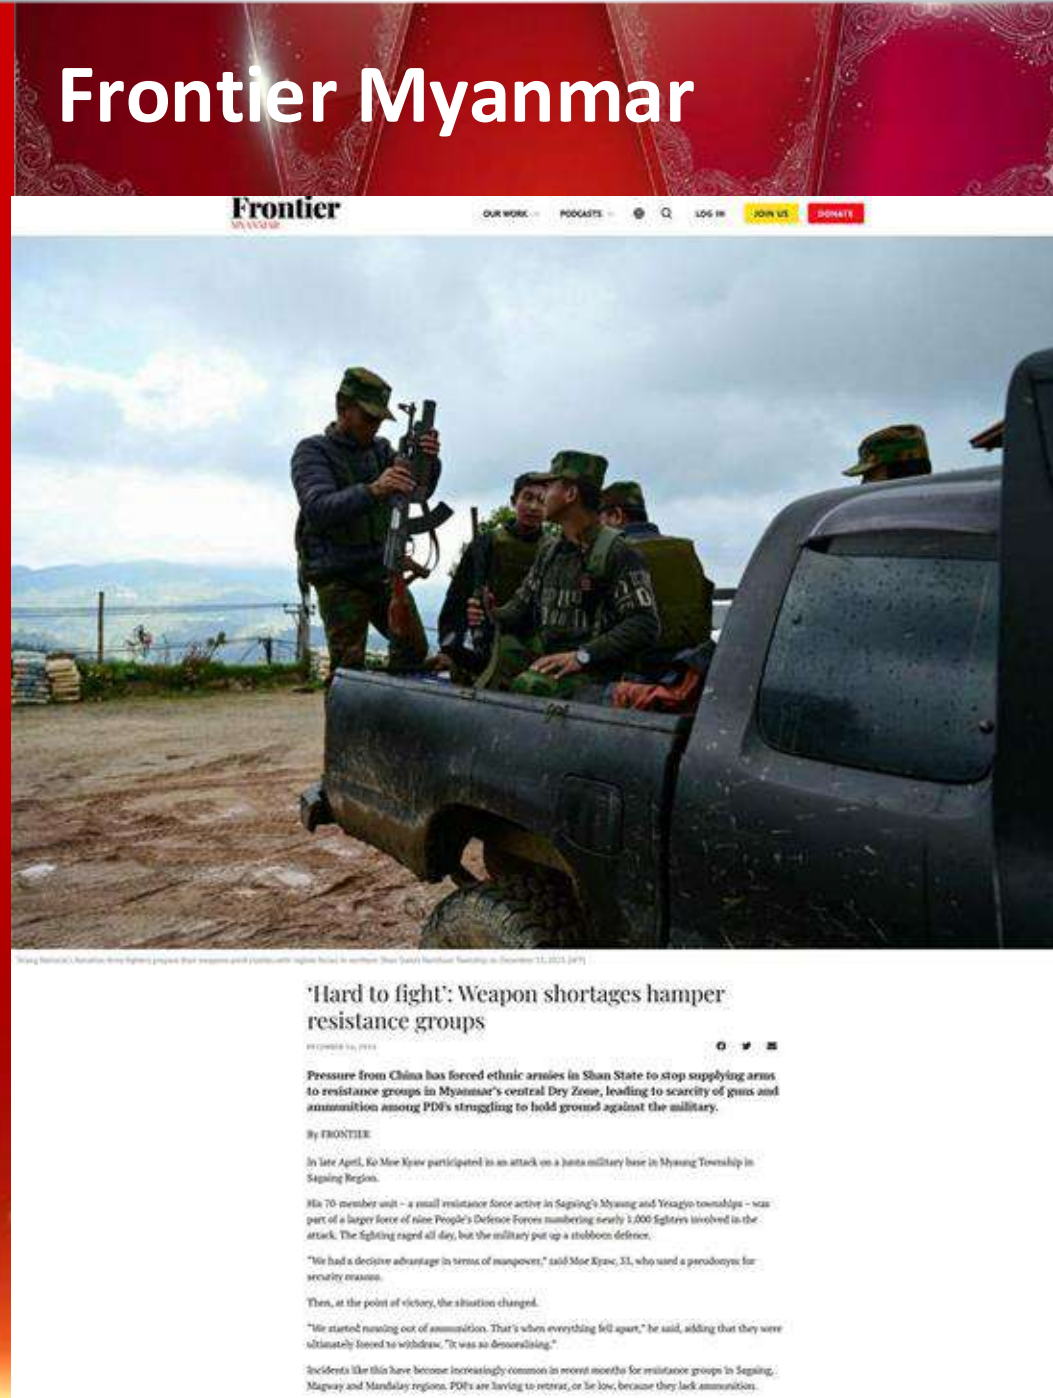

ST PHOTO: CHEO YEE JING

Philip Wen, Lu Wei Hoong, Stania Puspawardhani and Joyce ZK Lim

Add as a preferred source on Google

Honorable Mention

Frontier Myanmar

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Regional)

Frontier Myanmar

'Hard to fight': Weapon shortages hamper resistance groups

Frontier Myanmar

Frontier OUR WORK PODCASTS LOG IN JOIN US DONATE

'Hard to fight': Weapon shortages hamper resistance groups

Pressure from China has forced ethnic armies in Shan State to stop supplying arms to resistance groups in Myanmar's central Dry Zone, leading to scarcity of guns and ammunition among PDFs struggling to hold ground against the military.

By FRONTIER

In late April, Ko Nio Kyo participated in an attack on a junta military base in Mying Township in Sagaing Region.

The 70-member unit — a small resistance force active in Sagaing's Mying and Wazun townships — was part of a larger force of ethnic People's Defence Force members numbering nearly 2,000 fighters involved in the attack. The fighting raged all day, but the military put up a stubborn defence.

"We had a decisive advantage in terms of manpower," said Nio Kyo, 33, who used a pseudonym for security reasons.

Then, at the point of victory, the situation changed.

"We started running out of ammunition. That's when everything fell apart," he said, adding that they were ultimately forced to withdraw. "It was an demoralising."

Incidents like this have become increasingly common in recent months for resistance groups in Sagaing, Magway and Mandalay regions. PDFs are having to retreat, or lie low, because they lack ammunition.

Project Multatuli English

PROJECT MULTATULI
Meliputi yang Dilupakan

A Lopsided War: 83,000 Soldiers and Police Powering Indonesia's Violent Agenda in Papua

Made Supriatma & Fahri Salam
Friday, 5 December 2025
Editor: Viriya Singgh

The militarization of Papua amid a violence-based development agenda. (Project M/Mohammad Ikbal)

Soldiers and police have increasingly encroached on Papuans' daily lives, not only to maintain security but also to advance a development agenda built on violence.

For more than half a century, armed conflict has raged in Papua. Throughout this period, the Indonesian government has conducted military operations, deploying tens of thousands of soldiers and police to a lopsided war it still cannot win.

To understand the current situation, we must look back to 1969, when the western part of New Guinea officially became Indonesian territory following the Act of Free Choice, known locally as Pepera. Many Papuans, however, refer to it as "the act of no choice" because Indonesian military and intelligence forces marred the process with intimidation and manipulation.

The New Order military regime, which had recently come to power, persuaded the United Nations and Western governments that the Papua issue should be resolved through "deliberation toward consensus". The regime claimed that most Papuans were uneducated and therefore unfit to make such a decision.

The Straits Times

THE STRAITS TIMES

Cheap Chinese goods are flooding South-east Asia. Can the region turn the tide?

Be it cabinets or clothes, cut-throat rivalry from China is disrupting local businesses and livelihoods. Insight surveys the damage and asks what's next.

Sign up now: Get insights on the biggest stories in Malaysia

Malaysia's furniture producers such as Natural Signature founder Candice Lim (right) are being forced to contend with increasingly stiff competition from China.

ST PHOTO: CHEO YEE JING

Philip Wen, Lu Wei Hoong, Stania Puspawardhani and Joyce ZK Lim

Add as a preferred source on Google

Award for Excellence

The Straits Times

THE STRAITS TIMES

Cheap Chinese goods are flooding South-east Asia. Can the region turn the tide?

Be it cabinets or clothes, cut-throat rivalry from China is disrupting local businesses and livelihoods. Insight surveys the damage and asks what's next.

Sign up now: Get insights on the biggest stories in Malaysia

Malaysia's furniture producers such as Natural Signature founder Candice Lim (right) are being forced to contend with increasingly stiff competition from China.
ST PHOTO: CHEO YEE JING

Philip Wen, Lu Wei Hoong, Stania Puspawardhani and Joyce ZK Lim

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Regional)

The Straits Times

How South-east Asia navigates the minefields of big-power rivalry

Financial Times

Why Trump can't build iPhones in the US

The administration wants the iPhone to be manufactured in America. The components that power it show why that is highly impractical.

FT Reporter (FT) 26 JUL 2025

The last time a smartphone factory opened in the US, it closed within a year. In 2013, Motorola announced it wanted to challenge the conventional wisdom that manufacturing in the US was too expensive. But 12 months later, the facility in Fort Worth, Texas, was shut down because of skyrocketing sales and high costs.

If Donald Trump has his way, Apple will be the next tech company to test the theory. The Trump administration wants the smartphone giant to have its iPhones manufactured in America instead of China, where most of them are currently made.

"Remember the army of millions and millions of human beings working in little screens to make iPhones?" Commerce secretary Howard Lutnick said in early April. "That kind of thing is going to come to America."

Supply chain experts believe that the Trump project would face the same problems as Motorola. Indeed, some predict an iPhone could cost as much as $1,500 if fully assembled in the US.

The production process for just three parts reveals why shifting manufacturing to the US would be so hard.

The New York Times

The New York Times

The night of Dec. 3, President Yoon Suk Yeol stunned South Koreans when he declared martial law on television, reawakening dark memories of military rule.

Military helicopters landed inside the National Assembly compound and troops moved to take control of the opposition-controlled parliamentary body.

The Wall Street Journal

News & Analysis

The Fortress That China Built for Its Battle With America

Beijing is racing ahead in advanced technology, including in robots, satellites and AI—and in some cases is catching up with the U.S.

Gift unlocked article Listen (12 min)

Xi Jinping bowed to applause at the Great Hall of the People in Beijing in March. GREG BAKER/AGENCE FRANCE PRESSE/GETTY IMAGES

By Brian Stapp Follow
May 21, 2025 at 9:00 pm ET

The storm clouds for China were gathering when leader Xi Jinping convened the country's top scientists at the Great Hall of the People in Beijing in May 2018. The U.S. was beginning to clamp down on selling technology to China, with more restrictions on the way.

China must not be forced to beg others for technology, Xi said. Only through self-reliance "can we fundamentally safeguard national economic security," he said.

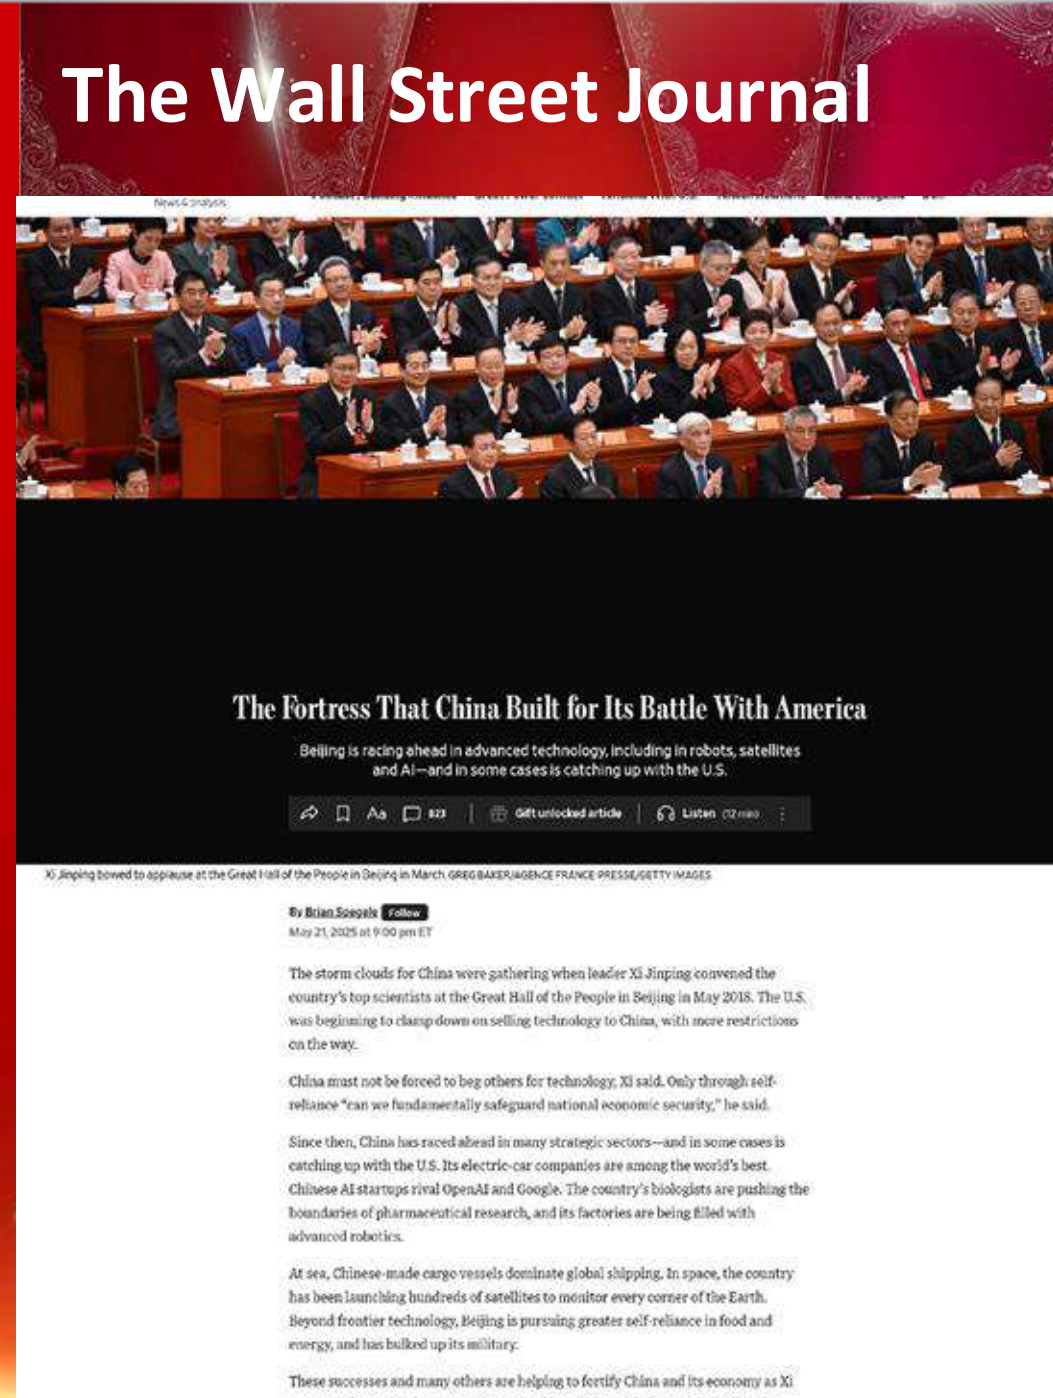

Since then, China has raced ahead in many strategic sectors—and in some cases is catching up with the U.S. Its electric-car companies are among the world's best. Chinese AI startups rival OpenAI and Google. The country's biologists are pushing the boundaries of pharmaceutical research, and its factories are being filled with advanced robotics.

At sea, Chinese-made cargo vessels dominate global shipping. In space, the country has been launching hundreds of satellites to monitor every corner of the Earth. Beyond frontier technology, Beijing is pursuing greater self-reliance in food and energy, and has bulked up its military.

These successes and many others are helping to fortify China and its economy as Xi

Honorable Mention

The Wall Street Journal

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Global)

The Wall Street Journal

Inside 'Fortress China'

Financial Times

FINANCIAL TIMES

Why Trump can't build iPhones in the US

The administration wants the iPhones to be manufactured in America. The components that power it show why that is highly impractical.

FT Reporter: [Name], 25.10.2025

The last time a smartphone factory opened in the US, it closed within a year. In 1993, Motorola announced it wanted to challenge the conventional wisdom that manufacturing in the US was too expensive. But 12 months later, the factory in Fort Worth, Texas, was shut down because of disappointing sales and high costs.

If Donald Trump has his way, Apple will be the next tech company to test the theory. The Trump administration wants the smartphone giant to have the iPhones manufactured in America instead of China, where most of them are currently made.

"Remember the acres of millions and millions of human beings screwing in little screws to make iPhones?" Commerce secretary Howard Lutnick said in early April. "That kind of thing is going to come to America."

Worry chain experts believe that the Trump project would face the same problems as Motorola. Indeed, some predict an iPhone could cost as much as $1,500 if fully assembled in the US.

The production process for just three parts reveals why shifting manufacturing to the US would be so hard.

The New York Times

The New York Times

The night of Dec. 3, President Yoon Suk Yeol stunned South Koreans when he declared martial law on television, reawakening dark memories of military rule.

Military helicopters landed inside the National Assembly compound and troops moved to take control of the opposition-controlled parliamentary body.

The Wall Street Journal

The Wall Street Journal

The Fortress That China Built for Its Battle With America

Beijing is racing ahead in advanced technology, including in robots, satellites and AI—and in some cases is catching up with the U.S.

By Brian Stappell, 21 May 2025 at 9:00 pm ET

The storm clouds for China were gathering when leader Xi Jinping convened the country's top scientists at the Great Hall of the People in Beijing in May 2018. The U.S. was beginning to clamp down on selling technology to China, with more restrictions on the way.

China must not be forced to beg others for technology, Xi said. Only through self-reliance "can we fundamentally safeguard national economic security," he said.

Since then, China has raced ahead in many strategic sectors—and in some cases is catching up with the U.S. Its electric-car companies are among the world's best. Chinese AI startups rival OpenAI and Google. The country's biologists are pushing the boundaries of pharmaceutical research, and its factories are being filled with advanced robotics.

At sea, Chinese-made cargo vessels dominate global shipping. In space, the country has been launching hundreds of satellites to monitor every corner of the Earth. Beyond frontier technology, Beijing is pursuing greater self-reliance in food and energy, and has bulked up its military.

These successes and many others are helping to fortify China and its economy as Xi

Award for Excellence

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Explanatory Reporting (Global)

Financial Times

Why Trump can't build iPhones in the US

Excellence in Business Reporting 卓越經濟報道獎

Honoring the work that demonstrates high standards of reporting on a business topic of significance.

Presenter:
Simon Chu
Financial Times

Honorable Mention

The Reporter
報導者

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Business Reporting (Chinese)

The Reporter 報導者

一通電話踏進債務流沙 - 揭開「融資租賃」的高利結構與剝削真相

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Business Reporting (Chinese)

Business Weekly 商業周刊

台灣世紀豪賭 到美國蓋竹科

IFR Asia

INTERNATIONAL FINANCING REVIEW

BONDS | LOANS

Missing seal thwarts lenders to Chinese property developer

23 Sep 2025 09:59 | IFR 2602 - 27 Sep 2025 - 3 Oct 2025 | Sandra Tsui

Four overseas lenders are facing an uphill battle to recover more than US$600m from a Chinese company that was once part of property developer Guangzhou R&F Properties, after the latter's chairman withheld the company's seal to prevent the lenders from removing him as legal representative.

Even though the debtor entered receivership a year ago, the lenders have been thwarted in their attempt to take control of pledged onshore assets because they need access to the seal, or chop as it is known in China and much of East Asia, and other documents in order to remove the chairman as legal representative of the onshore holding company.

The quarrel, which has not been reported before, highlights once again the challenges that offshore creditors face to assert their claims in mainland China. It could also prove a test case for company registration regulations introduced in December on a one-year trial basis by the Guangzhou municipality to simplify ownership transfers.

The dispute stems from a loan of originally US$540m that Hong Kong-listed Guangzhou R&F borrowed in 2023 to refinance private placement bonds that backed its Rmb18.96bn (US$2.67bn) acquisition of 73 hotels and a commercial building from Dalian Wanda Group in 2017.

The Australian Financial Review

Perspective

www.afre.com.au | 13th December 2025

THE INSIDE STORY OF SEVEN – AS TOLD BY THE BOARD

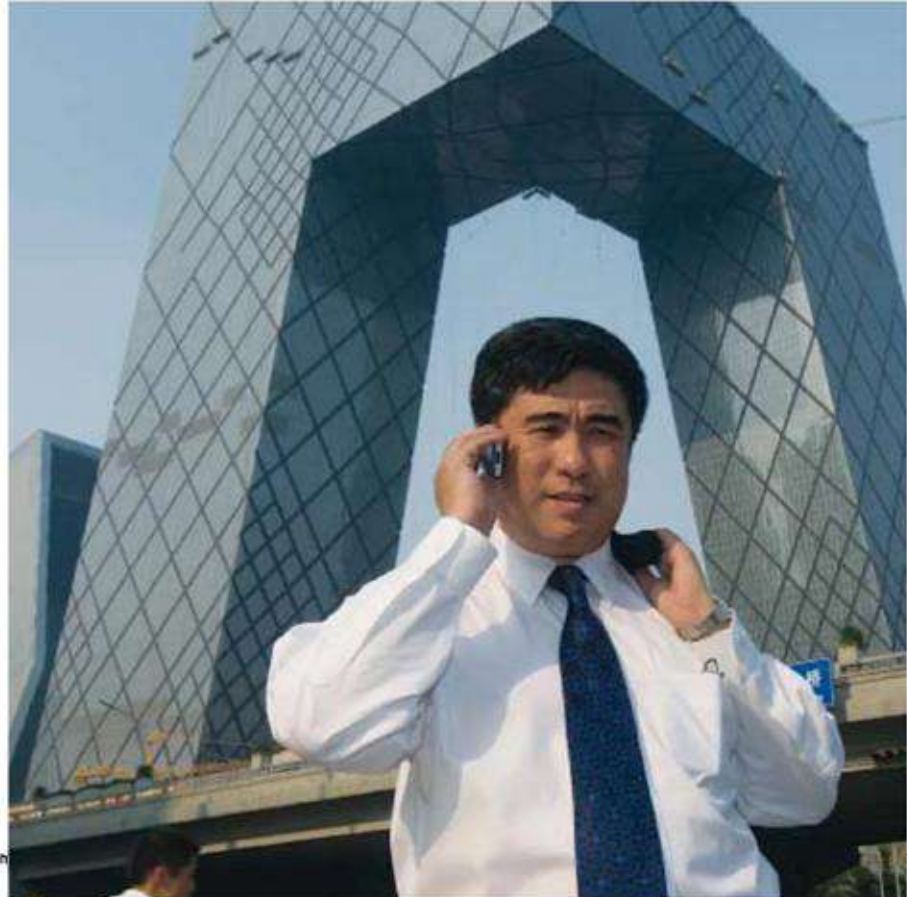

Empire: Leaked correspondence reveals what the members really thought about Ben Roberts-Smith, Tim Woner and Kerry Stokes, write Max Mason, Greg Bearup and Sarah Thompson.

The inside story of how Ben Roberts-Smith's fall from grace was a long time coming. The general manager of the Australian Financial Review (AFR) was not the only one who had a role to play in the story. The board of directors, the chief executive, and the chairman were all involved in the process. The board of directors, the chief executive, and the chairman were all involved in the process. The board of directors, the chief executive, and the chairman were all involved in the process.

The Australian Financial Review

'We didn't have a hope in hell': KWM's cautionary China tale

A corrupt wind farm deal in Montenegro, a controversial Russian legal conference and the financial problems of one of its most senior executives have thrown the spotlight on the Sino-Australian law firm.

Excellence in Business Reporting (Regional)

Honorable Mention

The Australian Financial Review

'We didn't have a hope in hell': KWM's cautionary China tale

A corrupt wind farm deal in Montenegro, a controversial Russian legal conference and the financial problems of one of its most senior executives have thrown the spotlight on the Sino-Australian law firm.

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Business Reporting (Regional)

The Australian Financial Review

'We didn't have a hope in hell': KWM's cautionary China tale

IFR Asia

INTERNATIONAL FINANCING REVIEW

BONDS | LOANS

Missing seal thwarts lenders to Chinese property developer

23 Sep 2025 09:59 | IFR 2602 - 27 Sep 2025 - 3 Oct 2025 | Sandra Tsui

Four overseas lenders are facing an uphill battle to recover more than US$600m from a Chinese company that was once part of property developer Guangzhou R&F Properties, after the latter's chairman withheld the company's seal to prevent the lenders from removing him as legal representative.

Even though the debtor entered receivership a year ago, the lenders have been thwarted in their attempt to take control of pledged onshore assets because they need access to the seal, or chop as it is known in China and much of East Asia, and other documents in order to remove the chairman as legal representative of the onshore holding company.

The quarrel, which has not been reported before, highlights once again the challenges that offshore creditors face to assert their claims in mainland China. It could also prove a test case for company registration regulations introduced in December on a one-year trial basis by the Guangzhou municipality to simplify ownership transfers.

The dispute stems from a loan of originally US$540m that Hong Kong-listed Guangzhou R&F borrowed in 2023 to refinance private placement bonds that backed its Rmb18.96bn (US$2.67bn) acquisition of 73 hotels and a commercial building from Dalian Wanda Group in 2017.

The Australian Financial Review

Perspective

THE INSIDE STORY OF SEVEN – AS TOLD BY THE BOARD

Empire: Leaked correspondence reveals what the members really thought about Ben Roberts-Smith, Tim Woner and Kerry Stokes, write Max Mason, Greg Bearup and Sarah Thompson.

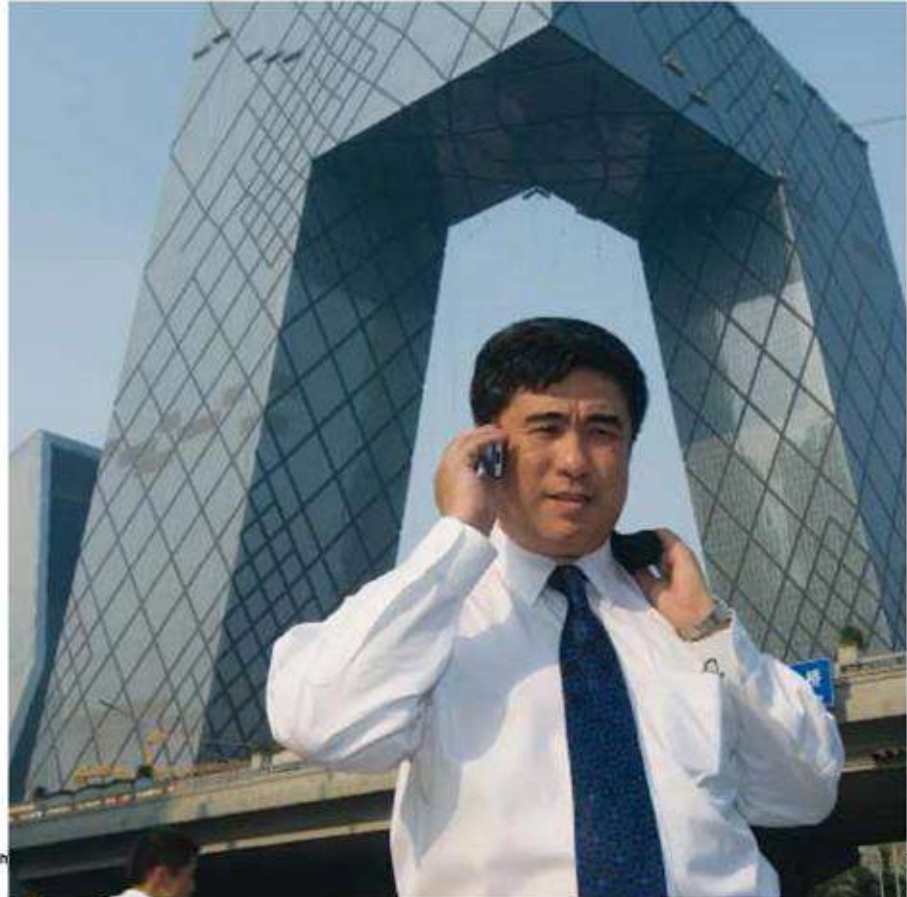

The inside story of the Seven network, the most powerful media company in Australia, is revealed in a series of leaked emails and documents. The documents show the board of directors of Seven Network Limited, including Ben Roberts-Smith, Tim Woner, and Kerry Stokes, discussing the company's future and the role of Ben Roberts-Smith as Chairman. The emails reveal a complex power struggle and a lack of transparency within the board.

The Australian Financial Review

'We didn't have a hope in hell': KWM's cautionary China tale

A corrupt wind farm deal in Montenegro, a controversial Russian legal conference and the financial problems of one of its most senior executives have thrown the spotlight on the Sino-Australian law firm.

Excellence in Business Reporting (Regional)

Award for Excellence

The Australian Financial Review

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Business Reporting (Regional)

The Australian Financial Review

Chairman Stokes: The inside story of Seven (as told by the board)

Bloomberg

Bloomberg

Ex-Trader Turned Market Cop Halts Jane Street's India Bonanza

Jane Street's Secrets Spill Into the Spotlight

By Chiranjivi Chakraborty and Ambereen Choudhury
July 28, 2025 at 7:30 AM GMT+8

Save Translate

Takeaways by Bloomberg AI

- Ananth Narayan, a former trader and current market regulator, led an investigation into Jane Street Group LLC, resulting in accusations of market manipulation against the firm.
- The investigation, which involved hundreds of pages of documents, alleged that Jane Street made "illegal gains" of 48.4 billion rupees between August 2023 and May 2025.
- Jane Street has disputed the allegations, calling them "erroneous or unsupported assertions," and has deposited the alleged ill-gotten gains into an escrow account, with plans to fight the charges.

Ananth Narayan paced his office in Mumbai as the clock ticked toward a revelation that would shock the global financial industry.

Reuters

A REUTERS SPECIAL REPORT

How China's new auto giants left GM, VW and Tesla in the dust

Workers inspect Zouli 500 electric cars at the automaker's factory in Ningbo, China. Zouli engineers in China pass work at the end of each day to colleagues at its design center in Sweden, enabling up to 20 uninterrupted hours of development. REUTERS/Nick Carey

China's emerging dominance owes largely to a singular manufacturing achievement: slashing vehicle-development time by more than half.

By Nick Carey and Norihiko Shirouzu
July 3, 2025 5:00 PM GMT+8 · updated July 25, 2025

SHENZHEN - In October 2023, Chinese automaker Chery ordered engineers and suppliers to travel on short notice to proving grounds in Zibo, Shandong Province.

Over a weekend, they planned an overhaul of the suspension and steering on the Chinese version of Chery's Omada 5 SUV for Europe, a key market in its global expansion. The problem: The car had been designed for China's smooth streets and slower speeds. Now, it had to withstand Europe's winding, bumpy roads.

Just six weeks later, Chery started shipping the European-spec Omada 5 to dealers, complete with new steering, traction control, brakes, vibration dampers and tires.

"You can forget doing something that fast with a European automaker," said Riccardo Tonelli, Chery's senior vehicle-dynamics expert, who led the overhaul. "It's impossible."

Tonelli, who previously worked at an Italian carmaker and a Korean tire maker, estimated Western manufacturers would take well over a year to push similar improvements through their comparatively bureaucratic organizations.

The New York Times

China Has Paid a High Price for Its Dominance in Rare Earths

Dust and ground-water contaminated with heavy metals and radioactive chemicals pose a health threat that the authorities have been trying to address for years.

An artificial lake of sludge, partly covered with water, was created in Baotou, China, from the waste from rare earths and iron ore processing. It has built without a barrier to contain toxic sewage into groundwater. The New York Times

By Keith Bradsher
Keith Bradsher, who has covered the rare earths industry in China since 2006, reported from Baotou and Langping in China.
Published Aug 3, 2025 · Updated July 21, 2025

Chinese mines and refineries produce most of the world's rare earth metals and practically all of a few crucial kinds of rare earths. This has given China's government near complete control over a critical choke point in global trade.

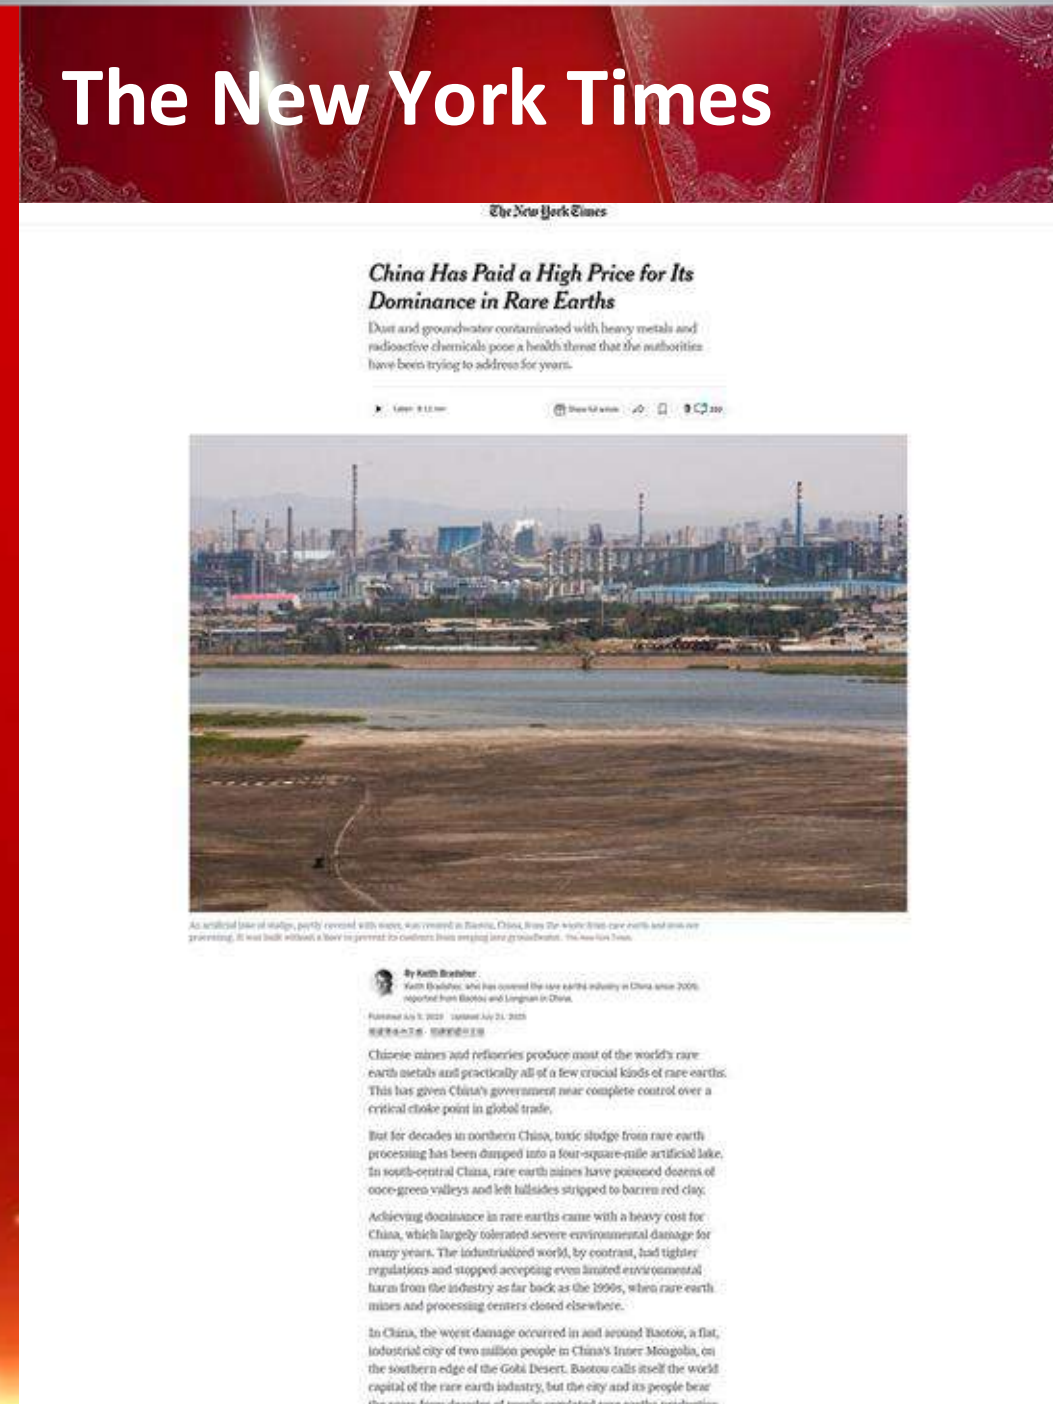

But for decades in northern China, toxic sludge from rare earth processing has been dumped into a four-square-mile artificial lake. In south-central China, rare earth miners have poisoned dozens of once-green valleys and left hillside stripped to barren red clay.

Achieving dominance in rare earths came with a heavy cost for China, which largely tolerated severe environmental damage for many years. The industrialized world, by contrast, had tighter regulations and stopped accepting even limited environmental harm from the industry as far back as the 1970s, when rare earth miners and processing centers closed elsewhere.

In China, the worst damage occurred in and around Baotou, a flat, industrial city of two million people in China's Inner Mongolia, on the southern edge of the Gobi Desert. Baotou calls itself the world capital of the rare earth industry, but the city and its people bear the scars from decades of poorly regulated rare earths production.

Honorable Mention

The New York Times

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Business Reporting (Global)

The New York Times

China and Rare Earths

Bloomberg

Bloomberg

Ex-Trader Turned Market Cop Halts Jane Street's India Bonanza

Jane Street's Secrets Spill Into the Spotlight

By Chiranjivi Chakraborty and Ambereen Choudhury
July 28, 2025 at 7:30 AM GMT+8

Save Translate

Takeaways by Bloomberg AI

- Ananth Narayan, a former trader and current market regulator, led an investigation into Jane Street Group LLC, resulting in accusations of market manipulation against the firm.
- The investigation, which involved hundreds of pages of documents, alleged that Jane Street made "illegal gains" of 48.4 billion rupees between August 2023 and May 2025.
- Jane Street has disputed the allegations, calling them "erroneous or unsupported assertions," and has deposited the alleged ill-gotten gains into an escrow account, with plans to fight the charges.

Ananth Narayan paced his office in Mumbai as the clock ticked toward a revelation that would shock the global financial industry.

Reuters

A REUTERS SPECIAL REPORT

How China's new auto giants left GM, VW and Tesla in the dust

Workers inspect Zouli 500 electric cars at the automaker's factory in Ningbo, China. Zouli engineers in China pass work at the end of each day to colleagues at its design center in Sweden, enabling up to 20 uninterrupted hours of development. REUTERS/Nick Carey

China's emerging dominance owes largely to a singular manufacturing achievement: slashing vehicle-development time by more than half.

By Nick Carey and Norihiko Shirouzu
July 3, 2025 5:00 PM GMT+8 · updated July 25, 2025

SHENZHEN - In October 2023, Chinese automaker Chery ordered engineers and suppliers to travel on short notice to proving grounds in Zibo, Shandong Province.

Over a weekend, they planned an overhaul of the suspension and steering on the Chinese version of Chery's Omada 5 SUV for Europe, a key market in its global expansion. The problem: The car had been designed for China's smooth streets and slower speeds. Now, it had to withstand Europe's winding, bumpy roads.

Just six weeks later, Chery started shipping the European-spec Omada 5 to dealers, complete with new steering, traction control, brakes, vibration dampers and tires.

"You can forget doing something that fast with a European automaker," said Riccardo Tonelli, Chery's senior vehicle-dynamics expert, who led the overhaul. "It's impossible."

Tonelli, who previously worked at an Italian carmaker and a Korean tire maker, estimated Western manufacturers would take well over a year to push similar improvements through their comparatively bureaucratic organizations.

The New York Times

China Has Paid a High Price for Its Dominance in Rare Earths

Dust and ground-water contaminated with heavy metals and radioactive chemicals pose a health threat that the authorities have been trying to address for years.

An artificial lake of sludge, partly covered with water, was created in Baotou, China, from the waste from rare earths and iron ore processing. It has built without a barrier to contain toxic sewage into groundwater. The New York Times

By Keith Bradsher
Keith Bradsher, who has covered the rare earths industry in China since 2006, reported from Baotou and Langping in China.
Published Aug 3, 2025 · Updated July 21, 2025

Chinese mines and refineries produce most of the world's rare earth metals and practically all of a few crucial kinds of rare earths. This has given China's government near complete control over a critical choke point in global trade.

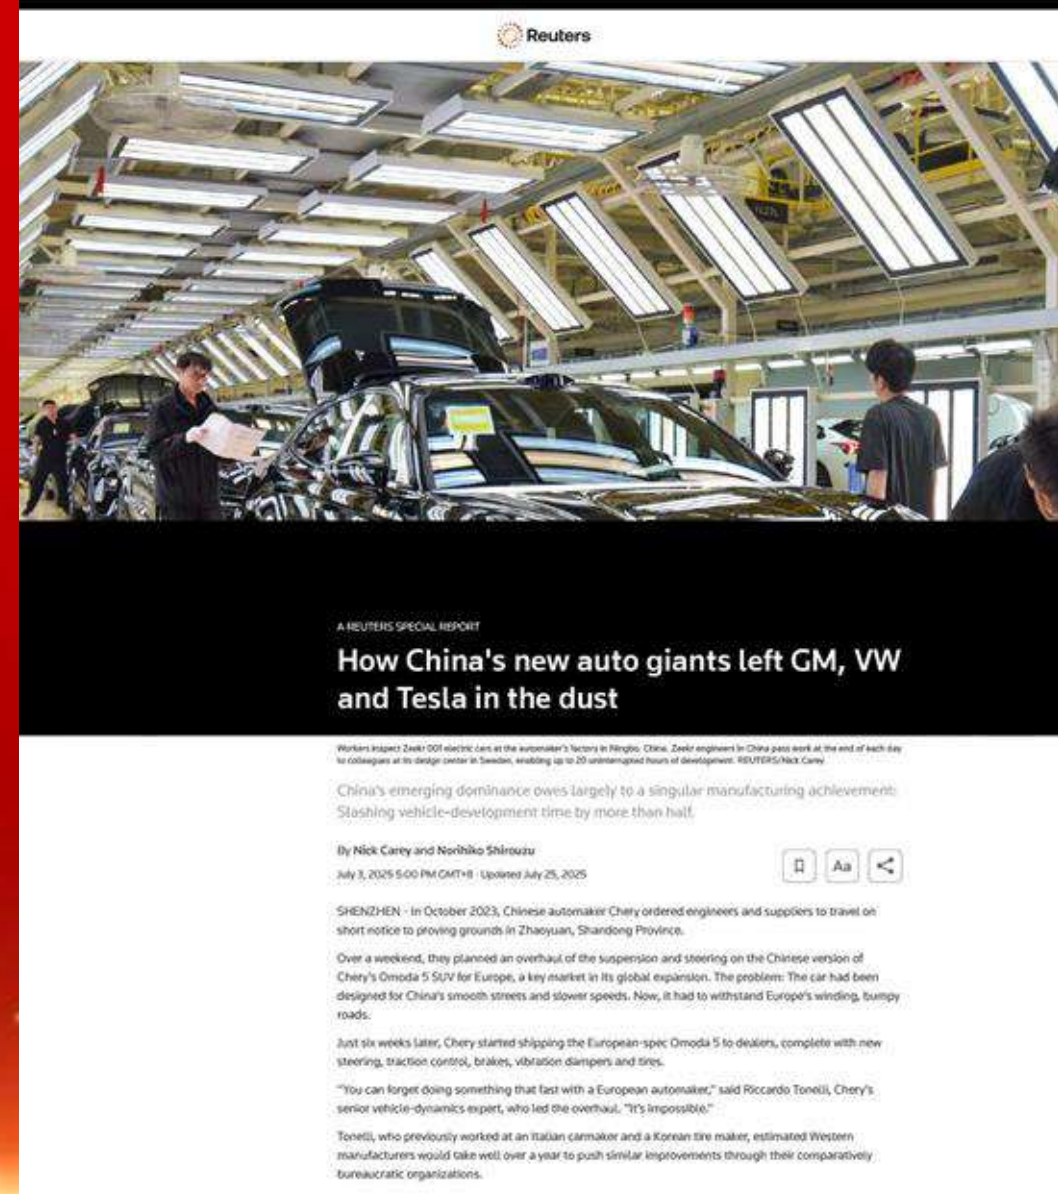

But for decades in northern China, toxic sludge from rare earth processing has been dumped into a four-square-mile artificial lake. In south-central China, rare earth miners have poisoned dozens of once-green valleys and left hillsides stripped to barren red clay.

Achieving dominance in rare earths came with a heavy cost for China, which largely tolerated severe environmental damage for many years. The industrialized world, by contrast, had tighter regulations and stopped accepting even limited environmental harm from the industry as far back as the 1970s, when rare earth miners and processing centers closed elsewhere.

In China, the worst damage occurred in and around Baotou, a flat, industrial city of two million people in China's Inner Mongolia, on the southern edge of the Gobi Desert. Baotou calls itself the world capital of the rare earth industry, but the city and its people bear the scars from decades of poorly regulated rare earths production.

Award for Excellence

Reuters

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Business Reporting (Global)

Reuters

Fast lane

Excellence in Infographics 卓越數據圖像獎

Honoring entries that demonstrate high standards in presenting information in graphical form.

Presenter:
James Wilson
Financial Times,
Co-Chair of SOPA's Editorial Committee

Honorable Mention

The Reporter
報導者

報導者 THE REPORTER

Data Reporter

全台圓環大體檢 (上)：哪些圓環頻傳傷亡事故？癥結怎解？

(攝影/謝佩琪；設計/江世民)

社會

交通

刊例日期 2025/10/24

文字/林尚佑

攝影/謝佩琪 電子圖

設計/江世民

工程/黃曉峰

資料整理/黃曉峰、林尚佑；採訪/張

子午；費也編輯/張子嘉

#新聞

#台灣

#大數據

#科學

#交通

#安全

#公共衛生

#數據故事

#Data Reporter

相對於一般正交路口，圓環具有減少衝突點、強制減速、降低嚴重車禍等優點，歐洲在半世紀前開始廣泛設置圓環，美國和日本也在近20年內開始制定規則設置圓環。今年（2025）9月，台北市公館圓環拆路改成正交路口的爭議延燒，民間激進要求圓環還是實正交、是否保留公車專用地下道的論爭，也凸顯台灣對於圓環的設計與維護仍缺乏認識。

《報導者》盤點全國119個不同類型圓環，將警政署A1、A2傷亡事故數據清洗整理後，轉成全國圓環傷亡事故互動地圖。我們發現，台灣車流量較大的圓環有車種實施分離、標誌浮標、出入車道數不平衡，以及圓環少見的「倒兩力圓環」等問題，這些設計比正常的圓環增加更多事故風險，而台灣錯誤的設計方式更是讓圓環的交通事故未被對症下藥。

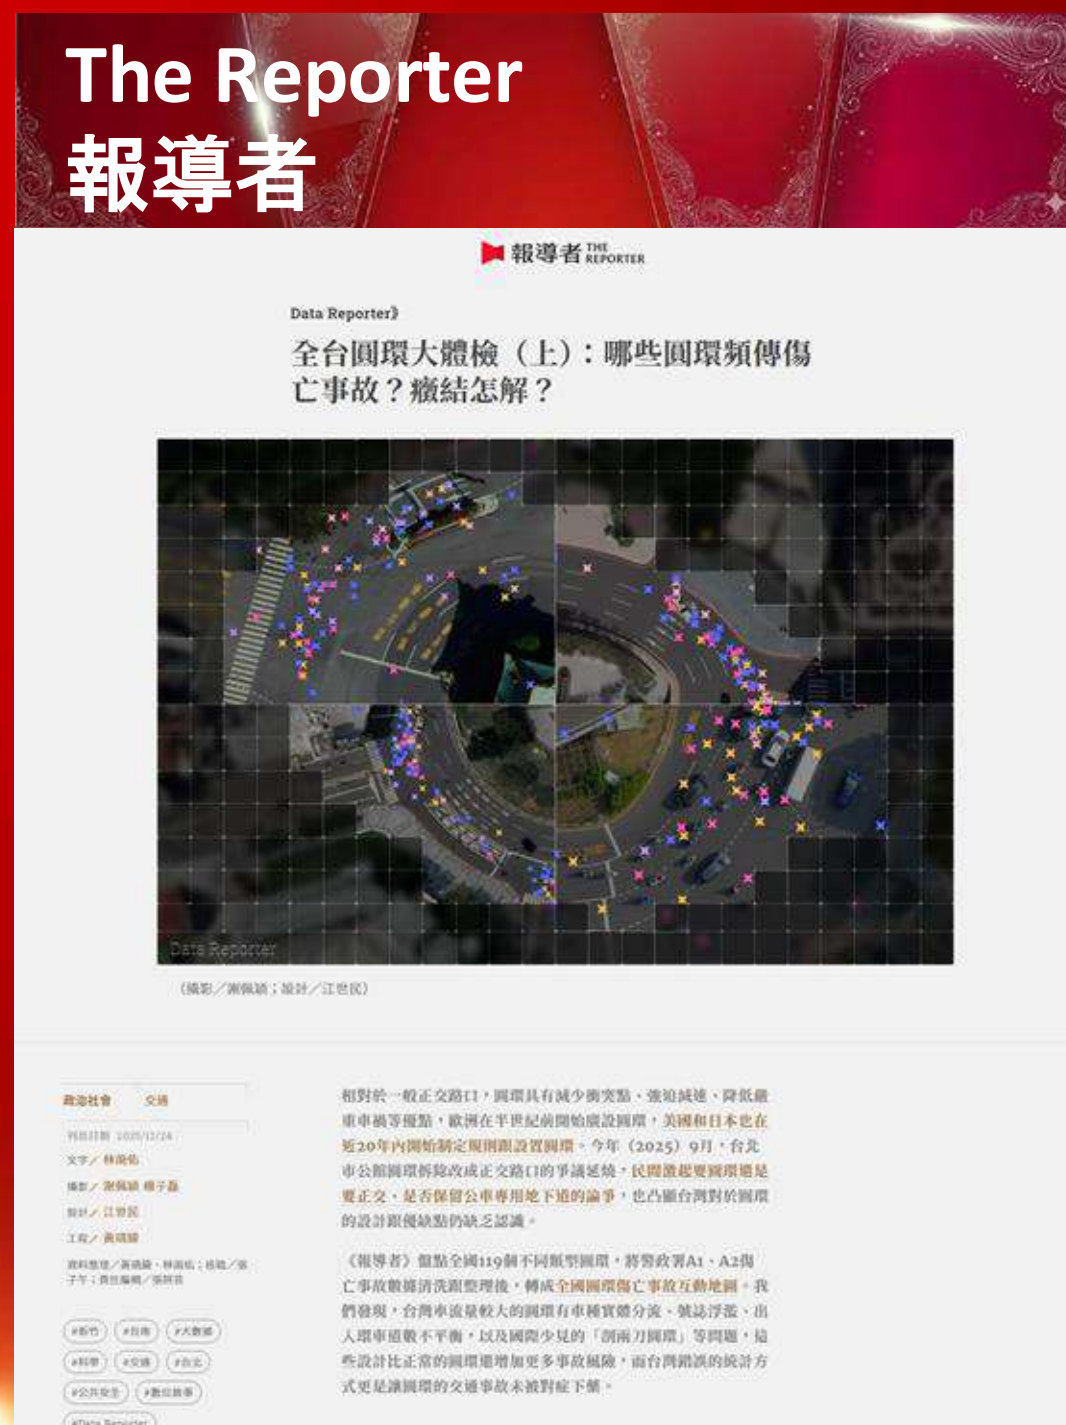

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Infographics (Chinese)

The Reporter 報導者

從數據找病灶，用設計改風險：盤點台灣119座道路圓環問題

Excellence in Infographics (Chinese) 卓越數據圖像獎

Award for Excellence

CommonWealth Magazine
天下雜誌

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Infographics (Chinese)

CommonWealth Magazine 天下雜誌

馬太鞍溪堰塞湖 致災關鍵事件簿

Reuters

32 seconds to disaster

From lift-off to impact: What happened on Air India flight 171 in the final seconds before its crash in western India

By Vijdan Mohammad Kawoosa, Adolfo Arranz, Arathy J Atulack and Han Huang
Published July 14, 2025 下午09:00 [GMT+8]

A preliminary investigation report into the Air India crash on June 12 has revealed what happened on the Boeing Dreamliner during its final moments — a 32-second journey from lift-off to its crash into hospital buildings near the airport.

The crash near Ahmedabad airport killed 241 people on board and 19 on ground. Just one passenger survived.

The report focused on the moments after the takeoff, showing the aircraft's two fuel control switches moved to the 'cutoff' position in quick succession. This action cut off fuel supply to the engines, immediately causing the aircraft to lose all thrust.

Reuters

SCHEMATIC, 2024

AFTER SEVERAL HOURS IN THE AIR, A COMMERCIAL FLIGHT FROM ISTANBUL APPROACHED BANGKOK, THAILAND.

ON BOARD WAS ONLY A 30-YEAR-OLD EAST AFRICAN IT CONSULTANT HE WAS THERE TO MEET A FRIEND AND WOULD SPEND FIVE NIGHTS IN THE CITY.

SCAMMED INTO SCAMMING

ACROSS SOUTHEAST ASIA, A MULTIBILLION-DOLLAR FRAUD INDUSTRY HAS BECAME WIDESPREAD IN PART BY VICTIMS OF TRAFFICANTS.

IN LAWLESS REGIONS OF THE ANNIHILATED BORDER, COMPROMISED BY CORRUPT CRIMINALS, THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE FORGOT TO HOLD EXISTENCE CLOSE ON THE BRINK. THAILAND HAS BECOME A KEY TRAVEL HUB FOR TRAFFICANTS' VICTIMS, REUTERS FOUND.

By Katya Brown, Reporter/Photo, Bangkok, Thailand, and New York
Published July 14, 2025 1:01 AM GMT+8 10:00 AM GMT+8

The New York Times

How the Fire in Hong Kong Became So Deadly

By Paul Holes, Lily Han, Phil Lin, Wren Jones, Chen July 13, 2025

Investigators say the fire most likely began when plastic netting like this, used to prevent construction materials from falling to the ground, caught fire.

Plastic foam panels that contractors had fixed to the outside of residential windows, to protect the glass, turned out to be highly flammable.

Honorable Mention

Reuters

32 seconds to disaster

From lift-off to impact: What happened on Air India flight 171 in the final seconds before its crash in western India

By Vijdan Mohammad Kawoosa, Adolfo Arranz, Arathy J Aluckal and Han Huang
Published July 14, 2025 7:09:00 [GMT+8]

A preliminary investigation report into the Air India crash on June 12 has revealed what happened on the Boeing Dreamliner during its final moments – a 32-second journey from lift-off to its crash into hospital buildings near the airport.

The crash near Ahmedabad airport killed 241 people on board and 19 on ground. Just one passenger survived.

The report focused on the moments after the takeoff, showing the aircraft's two fuel control switches moved to the 'cutoff' position in quick succession. This action cut off fuel supply to the engines, immediately causing the aircraft to lose all thrust.

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Infographics (Global & Regional)

Reuters

Air India crash

Reuters

32 seconds to disaster

From lift-off to impact: What happened on Air India flight 171 in the final seconds before its crash in western India

By Vijdan Mohammad Kawoosa, Adolfo Arranz, Arathy J Atulack and Han Huang
Published July 14, 2025 下午09:00 [GMT+8]

A preliminary investigation report into the Air India crash on June 12 has revealed what happened on the Boeing Dreamliner during its final moments – a 32-second journey from lift-off to its crash into hospital buildings near the airport.

The crash near Ahmedabad airport killed 241 people on board and 19 on ground. Just one passenger survived.

The report focused on the moments after the takeoff, showing the aircraft's two fuel control switches moved to the 'cutoff' position in quick succession. This action cut off fuel supply to the engines, immediately causing the aircraft to lose all thrust.

Reuters

SCHEMATIC, 2024

AFTER SEVERAL HOURS IN THE AIR, A COMMERCIAL FLIGHT FROM BANGKOK APPROACHED BANGKOK, THAILAND.

ON BOARD WAS ONLY A 30-YEAR-OLD EAST AFRICAN IT CONSULTANT HE WAS THERE TO MEET A FRIEND AND WOULD SPEND FIVE NIGHTS IN THE CITY.

SCAMMED INTO SCAMMING

ACROSS SOUTHEAST ASIA, A MULTIBILLION-DOLLAR FRAUD INDUSTRY HAS BECAME WIDESPREAD IN PART BY VICTIMS OF TRAFFICANTS.

IN LAWLESS REGIONS OF THE ANNIHILATED BORDER, COMPROMISED BY CORRUPT CRIMINALS, THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE FORGOT TO HOLD BANGKOK COURSE ON THIS BRITISH ISLAND. THAILAND HAS BECOME A KEY TRAVEL HUB FOR TRAFFICANTS' VICTIMS, REUTERS FOUND.

By Katya Brown, Robert Pappas, David Johnston and Tom Young
Published July 14, 2025 1:01 PM GMT+8

The New York Times

How the Fire in Hong Kong Became So Deadly

By Paul Holes, Lily Han, Phil Lin, Wren Jones, Chen July 14, 2025

Investigators say the fire most likely began when plastic netting like this, used to prevent construction materials from falling to the ground, caught fire.

Plastic foam panels that contractors had fixed to the outside of residential windows, to protect the glass, turned out to be highly flammable.

Award for Excellence

Reuters

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Infographics (Global & Regional)

Reuters

Scammed into scamming

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News 卓越突發新聞獎

Honoring the work that demonstrates high standards of reporting breaking news under deadline pressure.

Presenter:
James Wilson
Financial Times,
Co-Chair of SOPA's Editorial Committee

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Chinese) 卓越突發新聞獎

Honorable Mention

Initium Media
端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

萬大能源壩壩潰堤事件 公共政策 綠能政策

強颱樺加沙引發花蓮馬太鞍溪堰塞湖溢流，光復市區淹水一層樓高 | Whatsnew

截至24日下午22時，樺加沙颱風造成全台共14人死亡、受傷32人，46人失聯，傷亡主要集中在花蓮縣。花蓮馬太鞍溪上游堰塞湖發生溢流，造成光復鄉市中心嚴重水患。

2025年9月24日，花蓮光復鄉。攝：顏坤輝/端傳媒

端傳媒記者 許怡庭 發自台北
刊載於：2025-09-24

9月23日下午2時50分，位於台灣花蓮縣光復鄉及萬榮鄉交界的馬太鞍溪上游堰塞湖發生溢流，大量洪水夾帶土石沖向下游，造成光復鄉市中心嚴重水患。

此次災害的直接原因為強颱「樺加沙」帶來的致災性豪雨。受到颱風外圍環流與台灣地形的劇烈交互作用，花蓮地區降下了致災性的超大豪雨。根據中央氣象署及林業保育署的觀測資料，截至9月23日，光復鄉馬太鞍溪上游堰塞湖集水區的24小時累計雨量已達到355毫米。

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Chinese)

Initium Media 端傳媒

馬太鞍堰塞湖潰壩事件

HK01
香港01

香港01

宏福苑五級火，實時更新 | 起火至搜救總覽 最終確認168人死亡

2025年11月26日，大埔宏福苑五級大火死傷枕藉。消防處於當日下午2時51分接報，宏昌閣一、二樓位置的竹棚最先起火，並迅速蔓延至一共七幢大廈，僅宏志閣未受波及。大火歷時逾43小時，於11月28日上午10時18分被救熄。消防、警方災難遇害者辨認組連日救援及搜索工作，以及進行DNA科學鑑證工作後，2026年1月15日已確定有168人身亡，包括一名消防隊員何偉豪。行政長官李家超已委任法官陸敬擔任「獨立委員會」主席，兩成員包括陳健波、歐陽伯權，委員會工作包括調查起火及火勢迅速蔓延的成因，檢視大型樓宇維修工程的安排，檢視現行法律規管及懲罰是否足夠，並向政府提出建議，需在九個月內完成報告。

【大埔宏福苑火災·專頁】

宏福苑大火01追蹤·紀錄長片 | 我們錯過了多少次挽救悲劇的機會

大埔宏福苑五級火災 《香港01》各時段直播整合

Initium Media
端傳媒

端傳媒 Initium Media

馬太強風導致沙塵暴 公共政策 報導天災

強颶樺加沙引發花蓮馬太鞍溪堰塞湖溢流，光復市區淹水一層樓高 |
Whatsnew

截至24日下午22時，增加沙塵暴造成全台共14人死亡、受傷32人，46人失聯，傷亡主要集中在花蓮縣。花蓮馬太鞍溪上游堰塞湖發生溢流，造成光復都市中心嚴重水患。

2025年9月24日，花蓮光復鄉。攝：陳時輝/端傳媒

端傳媒記者 許怡敏 發自台北

刊登於：2025-09-24

9月23日下午2時50分，位於台灣花蓮縣光復鄉及萬榮鄉交界的馬太鞍溪上游堰塞湖發生溢流，大量洪水夾帶土石沖向下游，造成光復鄉市中心嚴重水患。

此次災害的直接原因為強颶「樺加沙」帶來的致災性豪雨。受到颱風外圍環流與台灣地形的劇烈交互作用，花蓮地區降下了災災性的超大豪雨。根據中央氣象署及林業保育署的觀測資料，截至9月23日，光復鄉馬太鞍溪上游堰塞湖集水區的24小時累計雨量已達到355毫米。

Sin Chew Daily
星洲日報

SIN CHEW DAILY

星洲日報

災區災民重建動靜
本報記者 吳曉敏 報導
「這是我住了3個月的家，現在卻變成了一片廢墟。」在星洲北區，一場氣爆毀了家園，身心靈重創。3個月了，災民們依然住在臨時安置處，看著廢墟，心裡充滿了無奈和痛苦。重建工作進展緩慢，災民們對未來的生活充滿了不確定感。

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Chinese) 卓越突發新聞獎

Award for Excellence

HK01
香港01

香港01

宏福苑五級火·實時更新 | 起火至投救總覽 最終確認168人死亡

大埔宏福苑五級火 最新消息 持續更新

2025年11月26日，大埔宏福苑五級大火死傷枕藉，消防處於當日下午2時51分接報，宏昌閣一、二樓位置的竹棚最先起火，並迅速蔓延至一共七幢大廈，僅宏志閣未受波及。大火歷時逾43小時，於11月28日上午10時18分被救熄。消防、警方災難調查組連日救援及搜索工作，以及進行DNA科學鑑證工作後，2026年1月15日已確定有168人身亡，包括一名消防隊員何偉豪。

行政長官李家超已委任法官陸啟康任「獨立委員會」主席，兩成員包括陳健波、歐陽伯權，委員會工作包括調查起火及火勢迅速蔓延的成因、檢視大型樓宇維修工程的安排、檢視現行法律規管及懲罰是否足夠，並向政府提出建議，需在九個月內完成報告。

【大埔宏福苑火災·專頁】

宏福苑大火01追蹤·紀錄長片 | 我們錯過了多少次挽救悲劇的機會

大埔宏福苑五級火災 《香港01》各時段直播整合

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Chinese)

HK01 香港01

香港大埔宏福苑大火

Agence France-Presse

MYANMAR EARTHQUAKE 'THIS IS A MASS CASUALTY AREA'

A rescue worker attempts to extract a mother and her child from a collapsed building in Naypyidaw. SAI ALUNG MAIN / AFP

LINES OF WOUNDED AT MYANMAR HOSPITAL AFTER POWERFUL QUAKE

Naypyidaw - 28 March 2025

Text by Joe Stenson and Chayanit Itthipongmaetee

Photos by Sai Aung Main

Video by Joe Stenson, Hla-Hla Htay

CNN International

May 7, 2025 India launches attacks on Pakistan after Kashmir massacre

By Pines Mogul, Sophia Raft, Anshwya S. Iyer, Aditi Sangal, Elise Harmons, Teri B. Powell, Jessie Young, Lea Harvey and Antonella Radford, CNN

Updated 11:05 PM EDT, Wed May 7, 2025

What we covered here

- Major escalation: India and Pakistan are on the brink of a wider conflict after India launched strikes on both Pakistan and Pakistan-administered Kashmir. India said it targeted "terrorist infrastructure" in the wake of a tourist massacre in India-controlled Kashmir last month.

- Deadly attacks: Pakistan's military said 31 people were killed in India's attacks. According to a senior Indian defense source, shelling by Pakistan killed at least 12 people on the Indian side of the de facto border that divides Kashmir.

- Pakistan pledges retaliation: Defence Minister Khawaja Asif said Pakistan will only hit military targets in India. Earlier, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif claimed Pakistan destroyed Indian fighter jets in an hour-long air battle.

- About the Kashmir dispute: Hindu-majority India and Muslim-majority Pakistan each control parts of Kashmir but claim it in full and have fought three wars over the territory.

Why tensions in Kashmir are sparking fears of war

All Catch Up Reactions

86 Posts

11:00 AM (GMT+5), May 8, 2025

Our live coverage of the conflict between India and Pakistan has moved here.

10:35 AM (GMT+5), May 8, 2025

Analysis: What happens now between India and Pakistan depends on Islamabad's next move

Analysis from CNN's Aditi Sangal

Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif delivers a statement during the COP29 Climate Conference in Baku, Azerbaijan, on November 13, 2024.

The Wall Street Journal

The First—and Final—Seconds of Air India Flight 171

By Raj Chetty, covering 24 years, 17 months and 10 days

AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE CRASH OF AIR INDIA FLIGHT 171 IN 2018 REVEALED THAT THE AIRCRAFT WAS HIT BY A MISSILE FROM A PAKISTAN AIR FORCE F-7P JET.

On Feb. 15, 2018, Air India Flight 171, a Boeing 747-400, was en route from London to New Delhi. It was 15 minutes from landing when it was struck by a missile from a Pakistani F-7P jet. The aircraft crashed into the Arabian Sea, 15 minutes from its destination.

While records of the crash, it was clear that Air India Flight 171 was in trouble. The Boeing 747-400, which had 283 people on board, started to roll in the heavy rain. It barely cleared the runway of the residential neighborhood and burst the runway in the process before crashing into the sea.

A rescue effort was launched, but there was no response to emergency calls from air traffic control according to India's civil aviation regulator.

Shortly after taking off around 10 p.m. local time, Flight 171 started to roll. It did not reach the runway in time. There were reports of smoke and fire. The jet was seen to be in a steep climb before it crashed into the sea.

An investigation into the crash is under way. The public is still waiting for answers.

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Global & Regional)

Honorable Mention

The Wall Street Journal

Honorable Mention

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Global & Regional)

The Wall Street Journal

The Disaster of Air India Flight 171

Agence France-Presse

MYANMAR EARTHQUAKE 'THIS IS A MASS CASUALTY AREA'

A rescue worker attempts to extract a mother and her child from a collapsed building in Naypyidaw. SAI ALUNG MAIN / AFP

LINES OF WOUNDED AT MYANMAR HOSPITAL AFTER POWERFUL QUAKE

Naypyidaw - 28 March 2025

Text by Joe Stenson and Chayanit Itthipongmaetee

Photos by Sai Aung Main

Video by Joe Stenson, Hla-Hla Htay

CNN International

May 7, 2025 India launches attacks on Pakistan after Kashmir massacre

By Pines Mogul, Sophia Raft, Anshwya S. Iyer, Aditi Sangal, Elise Harmons, Teri B. Posak, Jessie Young, Lea Harvey and Antonella Radford, CNN

Updated 11:05 PM EDT, Wed May 7, 2025

What we covered here

- Major escalation: India and Pakistan are on the brink of a wider conflict after India launched strikes on both Pakistan and Pakistan-administered Kashmir. India said it targeted "terrorist infrastructure" in the wake of a tourist massacre in India-controlled Kashmir last month.

- Deadly attacks: Pakistan's military said 31 people were killed in India's attacks. According to a senior Indian defense source, shelling by Pakistan killed at least 12 people on the Indian side of the de facto border that divides Kashmir.

- Pakistan pledges retaliation: Defence Minister Khawaja Asif said Pakistan will only hit military targets in India. Earlier, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif claimed Pakistan destroyed Indian fighter jets in an hour-long air battle.

- About the Kashmir dispute: Hindu-majority India and Muslim-majority Pakistan each control parts of Kashmir but claim it in full and have fought three wars over the territory.

All Catch Up Reactions

86 Posts

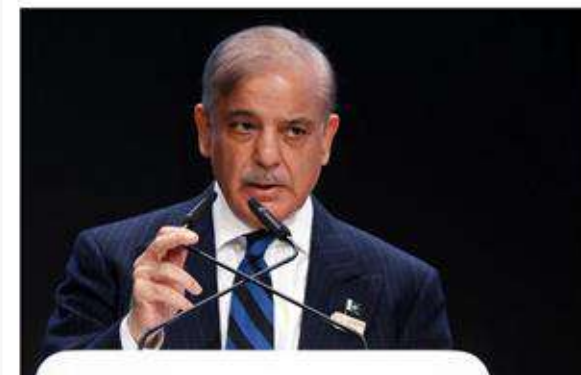

11:00 AM (GMT+5), May 8, 2025

Our live coverage of the conflict between India and Pakistan has moved here.

10:35 AM (GMT+5), May 8, 2025

Analysis: What happens now between India and Pakistan depends on Islamabad's next move

Analysis from CNN's Aditi Sangal

Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif delivers a statement during the COP29 Climate Conference in Baku, Azerbaijan, on November 13, 2024.

The Wall Street Journal

The First—and Final—Seconds of Air India Flight 171

By Rajiv Chhabra, covering 242 people, 17 aircraft and the recovery and repatriation of their remains

AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE CRASH OF AIR INDIA FLIGHT 171 IS UNDERWAY. THE AIRCRAFT WAS ON A ROUTE FROM DELHI TO AMSTERDAM VIA CHENNAI AND COCHIN.

On Tuesday, the wreckage of the Boeing 777-300ER was found in a field near the village of Kallan, about 100 miles from the crash site.

While details of what happened are still unclear, it is believed that the plane was in trouble during its final descent. The Boeing 777-300ER is the world's largest passenger jet, and its crash is a major aviation disaster.

A rescue effort is underway to recover the wreckage and the remains of the passengers and crew. The crash site is located in a remote area, and the weather is poor.

Officials are working to identify the victims and their families. The crash has caused a major disruption to the airline's schedule.

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Global & Regional)

Award for Excellence

CNN International

May 7, 2025 India launches attacks on Pakistan after Kashmir massacre

By Pinesha Mogul, Soghia Sadi, Ashwarysi S. Iyer, Aditi Sangal, Elise Hammond, Tom B. Powell, Jesse Young, Lisa Hanary and Antonella Ruffalo, CNN

Updated 11:00 PM EDT, Wed May 7, 2025

Why tensions in Kashmir are sparking fears of war

What we covered here

- Major escalation: India and Pakistan are on the brink of a wider conflict after India launched strikes on both Pakistan and Pakistan-administered Kashmir. India said it targeted "terrorist infrastructure" in the wake of a tourist massacre in India-controlled Kashmir last month.
- Deadly attacks: Pakistan's military said 31 people were killed in India's attacks. According to a senior Indian defense source, shelling by Pakistan killed at least 12 people on the Indian side of the de facto border that divides Kashmir.
- Pakistan pledges retaliation: Defense Minister Khawaja Asif said Pakistan will only hit military targets in India. Earlier, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif claimed Pakistan destroyed Indian fighter jets in an hour-long air battle.
- About the Kashmir dispute: Hindu-majority India and Muslim-majority Pakistan each control parts of Kashmir but claim it in full and have fought three wars over the territory.

All Catch Up Reactions

66 Posts

11:00 a.m. (GMT+05), May 8, 2025

Our live coverage of the conflict between India and Pakistan has moved here.

10:15 a.m. (GMT+05), May 8, 2025

Analysis: What happens now between India and Pakistan depends on Islamabad's next move

Analysis from CNN's Aditi Sangal

Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif delivers a statement during the COP29 Climate Conference in Baku, Azerbaijan, on November 13, 2024.

Award for Excellence

Excellence in Reporting Breaking News (Global & Regional)

CNN International

CNN coverage of the India-Pakistan war